LONDON, May 12.—A special despatch from Pretoria, dated May 10 says: "It is announced that a British relief force of 3000 is advancing along the Bechuana railway by forced marches night and day. It reached Vryburg yesterday."

The Lourenzo Marques correspondent of the Daily Mail in a despatch dated Friday, May 11, says: "The Boer papers report severe fighting on the western border. The facts are very much confused, but there is enough to show that the Boers admit a British occupation of Taungs."

A special from Christiani (Transvaal) published Wednesday by the Standard and Diggers' News, says: "Six hundred British cavalry crossed the Vaal river Friday and Kalmberg, about 18 miles below Fourteen Stream and went to Taungs, followed by commandoes. A second detachment of the British crossed at the same place Sunday. The Griquatanders after being reinforced Thursday repulsed the British and drove them back in the direction of Taungs. Gen. Asawogen of the Griquatanders, was killed. The other Boer casualties were seven wounded. The British loss was heavy. Taungs is occupied by about 3000 British.

A telegram from Pretoria dated Tuesday in the Standard and Diggers News, says: "The British in their passage along the Stella land border toward Mafeking, were engaged by Commandant Bieset near Taungs, with great success. Hundreds of British troopers met a watery grave, while attempting to cross the Vaal.

A second advance was made upon Taungs Sunday morning by 1500 British troops and six guns. Comunication with Taungs was cut Sunday afternoon.

"My headquarters, with Pole-Carew's division, marched 20 miles today and are now at Geneva Siding, 14 miles from Kroonstad and about six miles from Boschrand, where the Boers are holding entrenched positions. Gordon's brigade is in touch with them; Tucker's division is a short distance southeast and Hamilton's force is still further east.

"French with Porter's and Dickson's brigades and Hutton's mounted infantry, is some distance due north of this place.

"We have taken nearly 100 prisoners during the last two days. All the Free Staters who could give a good account of themselves have been disarmed and allowed to return to their farms.

"The nights are getting colder."

GEN. FRENCH LEADING BRITISH

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GENEVA SIDING, Friday, May 11—Morning—The British forces have arrived here, marching splendidly. General French in the advance. Firing was heard yesterday in the direction of his force. Some of the Inniskilling had approached a kraal, where a force of Boers were concealed.

It is expected that the railway to the Zand river will be completed tonight. The line was almost entirely destroyed north of the river, but beyond, where the British are, the Boers retreated from their positions too hastily to do much damage. The Boers are reported to be entrenching themselves around Kroonstad, twenty miles off.

HEARING RETURNS

The Sun Megaphoned the Complete Returns

TO A VAST CROWD ON SQUARE

And as Usual Distanced all Others

Over 5000 people crowded Merrimack square in front of The Sun building and in the adjoining streets last evening and listened to the complete returns of the big fight as megaphoned ahead of all the other local papers by The Sun's megaphone artist, Master H. McDermott, the boy with the orator's voice.

The crowd came early and with it came Lieut. Bronson, Sergt. Connors and a detail of patrolmen to assist Officer Bart Ryan of the square beat in maintaining order. Although the officers were kept busy throughout the night in keeping the sidewalk and crossings clear to the pedestrians, the crowd nevertheless was very orderly and two arrests made were occasioned by the boisterous conduct of a couple of jags which came around late.

Shortly after 6 o'clock the crowd began to gather and at 8 o'clock it was with greatest difficulty that the cars got hrough the square without knocking down some of the interested ones, who forgot everything but the news of the big bout.

As the evening grew into the night the crowd instead of diminishing, increased, the bar room crowds augmenting it at 11 o'clock when The Sun made the first announcement of the final rounds, some three rounds ahead of its contemporary, the crowd was the largest of the night.

Although Jeffries was the favorite in the betting among sporting men, The Sun's great crowd in Merrimack square was decidedly a Corbett gathering and every successful move of the ex-champion from the time he entered the ring until he went down and out in the fatal 23d round, was widely cheered upon its announcement. Numerous small bets were made in the crowd, most on even money, while many bet that Corbett would go the limit. Like the good game crowd that it was it accorded a big cheer to Jeffries when The Sun announced that he had won.

The Sun's wire and megaphone service was the quickest and best ever given in Lowell and gave its contemporaries a striking object lesson.

The Sun kept several rounds ahead of its nearest competitor. The report given to the people last night appears on Page Three.

WALKED IN SLEEP

Chas. Heslin Dropped Four Stories to Sidewalk

AT MAHONEY'S BOARDING HOUSE THISMORNING

Chances for His Recovery are Doubtful

Another probably fatal accident, the result of somnambulism, occurred at Mahoney's boarding house in Colburn street about 4 o'clock this morning, when Charles Heslin, aged about 40 years, walked out of a two-story window while asleep.

Heslin occupied a front room in the building and retired to his bed at his accustomed hour.

About 4 o'clock, while the corporation officer was going his rounds, he found Heslin lying unconscious on the sidewalk, badly bruised, while an open window, directly above him told the story.

The ambulance was quickly summoned and the injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where it was found that he was badly bruised about the head and had sustained a fractured leg. His chances for recovery are doubtful.

FREIGHT WRECK

In Which Seven Persons Were Killed

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PHILADELPHIA, May 12—Seven persons were killed in a disastrous freight train wreck, which occurred early today in the tunnel of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad under Twenty-fifth street, just outside of Fairmount park.

Fire followed the wreck and while extinguishing the flames more than a dozen firemen were injured or overcome by smoke.

Traffic is completely at a standstill and the wreckage is still a mass of flames.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.

About one o'clock this morning, while a number of the people who had been waiting for the returns of the fight, were going up Moody street, they saw a horse attached to a light buggy coming down the street at a rapid gait. When the horse turned the corner into Central street, he came in contact with a stone post badly damaging the buggy. It is thought that the horse was hitched to a post on New Moody street in Pawtucketville, and had broken loose, for when he was caught there was a hitch rope tied around his neck. The police took charge of the horse and restored it to its owner.

Mojicas had brass cannon and plenty of ammunition but after three hours of fighting, the insurgents fled. Their loss is not known. The Americans lost two killed and 11 wounded. They destroyed the enemy's rifles, powder and stores.

MR. TOWNE

SKETCH OF HIS CAREER IN POLITICS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

DULUTH, Minn., May 11.—Charles A. Towne, who was nominated yesterday for the vice president by the populist convention, was born near Lansing, Mich., 41 years ago. He attended Ann Arbor university and graduated. He then went to Marquette, Mich., where he practised law for three years. He then moved to Chicago, and to Duluth in 1890. Until the free silver agitation in 1896 he was a staunch republican. Mr. Towne was elected to congress in 1893 from Duluth. In the summer of 1896 he declared himself in favor of free silver, and walked out of the republican national convention, with Senators Teller, Dubois, Pettigrew and others. In the fall he was nominated by the fusionists for congress, but was defeated by Page Morris by nearly 2000 votes. In 1898 he was again nominated and once more defeated by Morris although he carried Duluth, the home town of both candidates. In 1898 he was national chairman of the silver republicans.

All Run Down

Large Demands Upon the Physical Strength

Many Miserable People Who Exist But Do Not Live.

Run down men and women are to be found on every hand. They have overdrawn their account with the bank of vitality. They exist, but do not really live. With them, everything is uninteresting and monotonous and life is a blank. Such people need building up—body, brain and nerves. This must be done by toning the stomach and digestive organs and enriching and vitalizing the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great building up medicine. It creates a good appetite, gives digestive power, makes the blood rich, pure and nourishing and restores the exhausted physical system to vigor and vitality. It is just what you need when you feel weak, tired and "run down."

Today President Tim received a reply from the embassy at Shanghai, saying his message was stopped as it was considered dangerous to the security of the country.

CONTROLS MILK PRODUCT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Charles R. Flint is to control the milk trade of the metropolis according to rumor. Not only will he take charge of the wholesale trade but he will buy up and establish retail milk routes. The deal by which the milk supply of the city passes into the hands of the man who is practically the rubber combine, was made by the Five States Milk Producers' Union which controls 20,000 of the 30,000 cans that make up New York's daily milk supply. The union will sell all its milk to Charles R. Flint & Co., for five years. The contract has just gone into effect. The price to be paid the farmers for their milk will average two and a half cents a quart, which is about half a cent more than they have received in recent years.

HE SMOKED CIGARETTES.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WEST POINT, N. Y., May 11.—Cadet George F. Bronsinger of New Jersey has just been tried for the offence of smoking five cigarettes. The rules of the United States Military Academy forbid smoking, and as Bronsinger was charged with having broken the rules five times, a court martial was convened to weigh his crime and fix the punishments. It is almost certain that the cadet will be found guilty. He probably will be punished by being deprived of all the privileges of "cadet limits," and being compelled to do sentinel duty during all his spare time for months.

SPIRITED DEBATE

ON THE WOMAN DELEGATE QUESTION.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Anticipation of a spirited debate on the woman delegate question brought out the largest crowd today that has yet attended the Methodist general conference. The veterans who oppose the admission of women to the annual conference on Scriptural grounds, were ready for further aggressive warfare, as were also the champions of the woman delegate.

In accordance with a resolution recently adopted, the conference hall was draped in the national colors today. After the official journal had been approved, a delegate from India called attention to the fact that all of the members were not Americans citizens and asked to have the Union Jack displayed on the platform with the Stars and Stripes. The suggestion was greeted with shouts of disapproval, and Bishop Fowler prevented trouble by ruling it out of order.

After quiet was restored, consideration of the report of admitting women as delegates to the general conference was taken up as the special order of the day.

NORTH ADAMS, May 11.—Probably the most interesting autopsy performed in this section in many years was that upon the body of Abraham Parsons, known as "the Bunter" at Williamstown yesterday. The autopsy was performed by Dr. James E. Hall of Williamstown, assisted by Drs. F. W. Olds of Williamstown and Bushnell and M. M. Brown of this city, and the object was to determine the cause of death, upon which Dr. Hall, the attending physician, was not able to satisfy himself.

The greatest interest was in the head of the old negro. The skull was opened to learn if there was any disease of the brain, which it was suspected might have resulted from the hard knocks to which it had been subjected and it was found that a tumor about as large as a walnut had formed and was growing with rapidity at the base of the skull.

The whole skull was very thick, being more than once and a half as heavy as the skull of an ordinary human being, and the front where there was a slight elevation, was at least three-fourths of an inch in thickness.

That the tumor was not the cause of death was the opinion of the medical men, but its origin was a matter of interest to them. They believe that there is a strong possibility that it was caused by the concussions which his head underwent in his hunting days, and though yet small, that it would soon have caused death.

Two other tumors were found, one in the left kidney and the other in the duodenum. There was some uncertainty about the effect that these tumors had upon the old negro, and the physicians arrived at the decision that the cause of his death was old age.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist church this afternoon, the Rev. E. C. Farwell officiating. The remains will be interred in East Lawn cemetery and if any claimants appear, they will have to be exhumed.

BOMBARDED

Gunboat Helena Fired on Insurgent Trenches

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, May 11.—The islanders of Mushete received Colonel Hardin's expedition differently from those of Marinduque where he left one company of the 29th regiment. On approaching the principal town, Patanoc, the insurgent trenches appeared to be occupied and the gunboat Helena bombarded them vigorously, after which three companies were landed and took the trenches with little resistance. One Filipino was killed. Two or three hundred insurgents hold the neighboring towns and the natives appear unfriendly.

As previously cabled to the Associated Press, but few armed insurgents were found at Marinduque.

BOER DELEGATES

SEND A MESSAGE TO AMERICANS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, May 11.—W. T. Stead, who was the last man in Europe to bid farewell to the Boer delegates, obtained from Abraham Fischer (a member of the Orange Free State executive council and one of the delegates) a message to the American people which is practically in the same words as the message previously sent through the Associated Press. Mr. Fischer, however, added:

"The governments of the old world appear paralyzed. We hope to find a different state of things in the new world. As you obtained arbitration for Venezuela after England had declared it was impossible, so we hope the free and enlightened opinion of the American republic will succeed in inducing the power attacking our very existence to stay her hand and submit the question of the future government of these regions to the free judgment of an impartial tribunal."

LYMAN METCALF

BACK FROM HIS SOJOURN IN SUNNY FLORIDA.

Mr. W. Lyman Metcalf, the well known printer, has returned from a protracted visit to St. Augustine, Fla., where he has been stopping at the Ponce de Leon hotel. Mr. Metcalf is looking remarkably fine after his six months' stay in the palmetto state. He reports that when he left there last Tuesday the thermometer was 86 degrees in the shade. The cold weather of the past few days in Lowell has made Mr. Metcalf long for the sunny clime again. He brought back with him myriads of shells of every description, also alligators and rattlesnake skins. He killed the "rattlers" himself. He has now quite a "curio" at his home. He also reports that oranges which sell for 35 cents per dozen here command the exorbitant price of $1 in Florida, owing to the fact that they ship everything north.

PRES. McKINLEY

RECEIVES INVITATION TO ATTEND OTIS BANQUET.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Representative O'Grady introduced to the president today a number of prominent citizens of Rochester, N. Y., who came to invite him to attend the reception and banquet to be given to General Otis on his return from the Philippines on June 15. The president spoke of General Otis in terms of high praise and said he would esteem it a privilege to join in doing him honor. He questioned, however, the propriety of his doing so. No one, in his judgment, should be present, who by reason of his superior rank, would necessarily share the honors which were intended for General Otis alone. He would however, talk the matter over with Secretary Root and if any of the regular army would be represented by such troops as were available.

AMOSKEAG VETERANS PARADE.

H., came to this city today and were the guests of the Fusilier Veteran association of Boston this afternoon. The visitors were met at the northern union station at 12.45 o'clock by the Fusiliers, headed by the Salem cadet band.

The Amoskeag veterans brought along the First regimental band, and the two bodies paraded along Washington, School and other streets. Mayor Hart received them at city hall. The New Hampshire men were escorted to Fusiliers' armory and later in the day a banquet was held. Major J. Adonza Greene was in command of the Amoskeag veterans.

Affection

Exhales from children as fragrance from flowers. The little lips are always puckered to give or take a kiss. In homes where there are children, love reaches its fairest and sweetest proportions. In childless homes the kiss of wife and husband grows formal, and presently is neglected; the springs of love in the heart become choked for want of use and exercise. Childlessness is a great sorrow to many women. It is like a curse from Nature, who bids all creatures to be fruitful. It is not a curse but a misfortune. Often the conditions which cause childlessness are removable. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has brought joy to many a woman by giving her the happiness of motherhood. It gives to the womanly organs vigor and vitality, removes local obstructions, and practically does away with the pains and pangs of maternity.

There is no alcohol or narcotic in "Favorite Prescription."

"I have never written you how grateful I am to you for your help in securing good health and one of the sweetest, dearest, thirteen pound girls that ever came into a home," writes Mrs. M. Vatlue, of 647 South Liberty St., Galesburg, Ill. "I took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, four of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of 'Pleasant Pellets.' Before I had taken four bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I was a new woman. I cannot make pen describe my heart-felt gratitude."

To keep the bowels regular use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

SULTAN'S DELAY

OTHER SCHEMES TO GAIN TIME

Alleged Assurances Given at Washington

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Thursday, May 10.—The matter of the settlement of the indemnity claims is temporarily delayed. Well-informed circles say that the Turkish minister in Washington has given assurances of the settlement of the claims, but asks for a short delay, which is granted.

Ahmed Pasha has left Constantinople. He is going to the United States with proposals, the object of which is the settlement of the claims in an indirect manner. In the event of the failure of Ahmed's proposals, the United States government will resume negotiations with the Porte. The impression here is that Ahmed will not succeed.

The Porte has presented a new note to the embassies announcing its intention to introduce control in Gallipolis. The object of this movement, it is believed, is to establish a precedent for the subsequent imposition of like duties in other towns. It is expected that the embassies will again refuse to assent, as the measure is contrary to the treaty.

JEFFRIES' VICTORY

Won After He Was Hammered by Corbett

CHAMPION JEFFRIES.

The Ex-Champion Put up a Wonderful Fight and Restored Himself in the Esteem of the Sporting World

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 12.—James J. Jeffries is still champion.

He retained his title last night by defeating James J. Corbett at the Seaside athletic club, Coney Island, in the 23d round.

It was one of the greatest glove fights ever seen in this country. Up to the very time the knockout blow was landed it was any one's fight. Then in the 23d round, as they came to a clinch, Jeffries sent in a left-hand swing that landed just under the jaw. More than 100 times he had tried and missed with this same blow.

It resembled a fight between a greyhound and a mastiff. The mastiff would rush and scrap, but the greyhound would trip and run, and so it was until finally the mastiff seized his enemy and it was all over.

So with the two men. Jeffries missed again and again, swinging his great arms with a force that seemed great enough to break iron. Corbett hit him at will and landed four times to Jeffries' once. His cleverness amazed every one.

It was a fair fight, the men breaking clean, and there were really no clinches When the end came the men were in the corner, and Corbett fell with his head upon the lower rope where he rested as Referee Charley White counted him out.

George Considine, as Corbett went down, rushed along the outside of the ring to throw water upon him. Jeffries rushed to the side and thrust him away. Corbett was carried to his corner.

He soon revived, and, resting upon Considine's shoulder, staggered across the ring and shook hands with Jeffries. Jeffries patted him on the shoulder and he returned the caress. Then Brady, Corbett's old manager shook hands with him, and congratulated him on his great fight.

Corbett took his defeat good naturedly, and although he smiled, it was a tearful smile, and his eyes were damp with tears hard held.

A FAST FIGHT.

SEASIDE CLUB, Coney Island, May 12.—In the fastest, prettiest and closest heavyweight ring battle ever fought in New York, James J. Jeffries has reaffirmed his right to the championship. In the arena at the Seaside athletic club, last night, he decisively defeated Jim Corbett, once champion of the world himself after 22 rounds of scientific fighting.

It was a clean knockout, and it came so quickly that it dazed the thousands of keen, alert, intent spectators and left them in doubt as to just how the winning blow was delivered.

It was avowed that it was a left-hand jolt to the jaw, but Jeffries himself and Referee Charley White, who stood at his side, say it was a right-hand swing.

There is credit for the victor and credit for the vanquished in this cleverest of ring battles. Jeffries must be awarded the laurels of victory, yet his opponent is entitled to all honor for his most wonderful fight. That feature stands out in relief as the most striking one of the contest.

Corbett emerged from a year's retirement from the ring rejuvenated and fresh. He was as fast and clever as back in the days when people marveled at his skill. His foot work was wonderful and his defense perfect.

He outboxed his man at both long and short range and if he had had the strength necessary would have claimed and early victory. A hundred times he ducked under left swings that would have ended him just as did the punch that finally did.

At times he made the massive Jeffries look like a beginner in the art of offense and defense with the hands. His strategy was to jab and get away and when Jeffries stood over his quivering form his face showed marks of the punishment that he had inflicted.

Corbett went down to defeat that was regretted by a vast majority of the men who filled the hall. The money was against him, but he had a wealth of sympathy. It was probably his natural heritage as the short ender, but after the battle had begun, he won more support by his display of speed and skill.

Jeffries won with his strength, both that strength that lies in the power of massive muscle and that strength which is the essence of vitality. He made the pace for the most of the distance and at the end was still strong and effective.

At first glance the battle may seem to detract a trifle from his reputation for it showed that a fast man can reach him and get away without a return.

It is improbable that there was ever a more orderly affair under the Horton law. There was little betting on the outcome of the battle. There had been so much delay and interference in the earlier stages of the negotiations for the fight and so much doubt created by the former showing of the men, that the betting was killed. In the small sums placed Jeffries was a clear favorite at odds of 2 to 1. Those odds veered at different times at different places during the evening, but 5 to 2 was probably the highest and 5 to 2 the lowest offered. A favorite bet offered was that Corbett would last 10 rounds. There was more Jeffries than Corbett money offered, but there never was at any time any activity in the betting.

Despite the long delay that intervened between the arrival of the men and their entrance into the ring, the crowd was scarcely restless. It was made up of representative elements of the business, professional, theatrical and sporting world. It was only when the battle itself began that hoarse yells came to tell of enthusiasm for a favorite or hope as to money wagered. The reception of the men at the ringside was warm, but not demonstrative.

Jeffries looked rugged, brown and strong. Corbett was clean-looking, white and trim. He said he weighed more than on the day when he defeated Sullivan but he did not look it. He seemed to be in splendid condition.

The crowd showed its first enthusiasm over the announcement that Charley White would referee the fight. There was a roar of applause when he entered the ring. There was a brief wrangle over the bandages on Corbett's hands but he was finally allowed to wear them. The gong soon clanged, and as the men sprang forward there was a silence broken only by the clatter of the telegraph instruments.

In the preliminary sparring Corbett showed to wonderous advantage. He was pantherlike on his feet and parted in and out with confusing speed. He whipped his left into Jeffries' face and was either inside or away from the punch. Jeffries kept going in, but he seemed awkward. The pace made by the champion was fast, and there was a yell of satisfaction from the spectators when the round ended.

Jeffries kept on making the pace when they were at it again, but Corbett slipped away from him, Jeffries would try his left in a rush, but Corbett was almost invariably away from it.

There were murmurs of approval that at times broadened into cheers; Corbett was outboxing his man and outpointing him with his lefts to the face. They were both fighting carefully, for while Corbett had the speed and cleverness he found Jeffries hard to get to.

Jeffries fought in his crouching attitude. He quickly began to use his strength and in the clinches threw a little of his strength on to his opponent. Corbett showed surprising ability against him, and it was long before the strength of the champion began to tell.

When Corbett saved the 10-round money, there was a strong chance in sentiment toward him. Jeffries' supporters began to be dubious. Jeffries was grim and resolute and kept at his man relentlessly. Corbett kept his wit and strength and avoided him. It was youth and strength with a fair measure of skill pitted against the master of the sport. The exhibition was a fine one and the pace and one that would have told against any man not perfectly prepared.

By the 17th round, Jeffries maddened by the danger of marring his reputation, began a series of desperate rushes in which he mixed it up fiercely with Corbett. He seemed angered by the jabbing at his face and wanted to end it with a swing from left or right. Corbett had begun to show the pace, but while his punches lacked force, he was still speedy on his feet. He contented himself with avoiding punishment. It became simply a question of how long that sort of game could be kept up.

At the 20th round, it looked as if Corbett would stay the limit and popular judgment awarded him victory. He had so far avoided any serious punishment. His defense was still perfect, and he was smiling and confident. He either side-stepped from Jeffries' terrible rushes or ducked into clinches. Jeffries was hammering away, however, and was strong and game.

The end came with the suddenness of a shock. The men had had two fierce rallies, followed each time by long-range sparring, and were in together again. They were both fighting fast and hard. Suddenly there was a report of a sharp blow, and Corbett dropped. It needed no count to tell that Corbett's hopes of the championship again were vain.

The excited spectators sprang to their feet and for a moment there were roars and calls. The confusion was but momentary, however, and in a silence that was most remarkable Corbett was carried to his corner.

Some one called for cheers for Jeffries but the crowd refused to give them. Within a moment later a friend of Corbett put the question 1000 throats echoed a kindly response. It was in the corner of the defeated man, too, that the crowd gathered and there were more solicitous offers of aid for him than there were congratulations for the victor.

STORY OF THE FIGHT.

Round 4.—They rushed to a clinch, after which Jeff hooked a left to the head. Corbett tried a right to the body, but fell short. Jeff sent his right over to the head. They sparred for a spell with Corbett breaking ground, and then Jeff forced Corbett to the ropes, sending his left to the body. A moment later he repeated this blow and Corbett looked worried. At close quarters, Jeff put his right to the head and as they broke he came back quickly with right to body. Then a right and left from Jeff to the head jarred Corbett. Jeff followed up with another terrific left on the neck and Corbett was very tired when the bell rang.

Round 5—Corbett resumed the contest with evident relish, but he was very anxious meanwhile. Jeff got to him at close quarters with light left to body, and Corbett failed to reply. Corbett feinted with his right, but Jeff called the bluff and hooked his left to the body. Corbett sparred cleverly, sending left to body and after a little shifty work hooked left twice to head. Jeff attempted a left hook for the jaw, but Corbett ducked and sent another left to the jaw. Jeff then crowded in and rushed Jim to the ropes, putting left hard to the body. Jeff forced the fighting and sent left to face and body with telling effect just before the bell sounded.

Round 6—Corbett sprang to the center of the ring, but Jeff was ready for him. "Don't let him get set," said George Considine. "Watch him, Jim. He can't hit you in a week." A second later Jeff made a straight left to the face. Corbett made an ineffectual try for the head. Three clinches followed with the honors in Jeff's favor, and Corbett was compelled to shift continually to avoid the champion's leads. Corbett used his legs for safety to the end of the round without having scored a semblance to a blow.

Round 8—Corbett rushed in with a left to the body, which was blocked, and Jeff forced him to the ropes with a right smash to the chest. Corbett hooked left to head and Jeff countered to stomach. Corbett hooked left to head and got away clean. Jeff made a bull rush, sending his left to wind without a return. Jeff kept on forcing, but was very wild in his delivery, as he missed three left hooks for the head. Corbett dodged all three in the smartest manner. Jeff kept on forcing the pace and landed left on the neck. Corbett countering with the right hook to the head. Corbett stepped in and got in a cracking good right to the ribs and ducked Jeff's counter. The bell found them sparring.

Round 9.—Each led lefts to head and clinched. Then Corbett hooked left to the head and swung right to jaw, staggering Jeff. Corbett followed up with another right swing to the jaw, but it was not so hard as the previous one. Jeff came in with a left to body, and in the breakaway Corbett swung a terrific right to the jaw, which made Jeff look very groggy. Corbett seeing his advantage put his left and right quickly to the head and hooked another hard left to the jaw. Jeff sent back a hard left swing to the head. Corbett was the cleverer in the exchange which followed, and he landed his left with provoking regularity on Jeff's face, much to the latter's detriment. This was certainly Corbett's round and the best round of the fight thus far.

Round 10.—Corbett opened with a left to the head and ducked the return. Again he hooked left to the ear, blocking Jeff's attempt for the body. Jeff then was on the aggressive, but Corbet, quick as lightning, sent left and right to the face, and had the big fellow guessing before he knew where he was at. Corbett kept forcing, and with another left to the nose made the boiler-maker's nasal organ bleed profusely. Jeff was very wild, swinging at random, while Corbett kept landing left-hand jabs on neck and face. Jeff made several rushes, but to no purpose, and Corbett's stock went booming. Corbett was loudly cheered at the end of the round.

Round 11—Corbett opened with left to the body and Jeff rushed him to the corner, but failed to land effectively. He tried a left swing for Corbett's head, but Corbett dodged it and sent right and left to the body. Corbett sent two left jabs to Jeff's mouth, bringing the blood from the champion's lips. Jeff seems to be rattled at this stage, and Corbett found no difficulty in getting his left to the face. Jeff tried several left swings, but Corbett got under them and hooked his right hard over to the body twice. Jeff jabbed Corbett in the face under the jaw. Corbett did not seem phased by these blows, and walked to his corner smiling.

Round 13.—Both were careful. Jeff tried left half a dozen times, but Corbett got out of range. Jeff tried right again to head, but Corbett shifted inside of the lead and clinched. Jeff hooked left to neck and rushed Corbett to the ropes. Corbett came back quickly and they clinched twice without doing any injury to each other. Jeff made a bull-dog rush, sending left to body and right to the head, putting Corbett to the ropes, staggering him. Jeff crowded in and forced the pace which was evidently too hot for Corbett, and the bell sounded none too soon.

Round 14—Both were fast in answering the gong, each leading left, but they failed to land and a clinch followed. In a breakaway, Corbett tried to send his right over, but Jeff dodged it. Then Corbett sent two straight lefts to the mouth and Jeff responded with hard left to body. Jaff sent a back hand left smash on Corbett's face and Corbett retaliated with a straight left to the nose. Jeff bled copiously from the nose and Corbett sent two more lefts to that organ. Corbett had the call at the end of the round.

Round 17.—Corbett ran into a left smash on the face but countered with hard left on the ear. Jeff looked desperate and rushed at Corbett like a wild man. Corbett met his rushes with left jabs to face and the best that Jeff sent back was a right to the ribs. Coming to close quarters Corbett drove right to body and hooked left to the face. Jeff landed left to body and then drove his right hard for the chest, but Corbett blocked the blow. A hard left on the body from Jeff almost took Corbett off his feet, but Corbett held on pluckily and skipped around out of danger when it looked as if he was bound to lose. This was Jeff's round.

Round 19.—Jeff tried two lefts for the body, but they were blocked. Then Jeff hooked left to head and Corbett sent back a left swing to the jaw. Jeff rushed and forced Corbett to the ropes, sending left to body and right to neck. Jeff knocked Corbett to the floor with a right smash to the ear. Corbett got up like a flash, as if the fall had not taken the steam out of him. Jeff kept crowding in, using his left to the ribs and neck. Corbett countered with straight left jabs to the face. In a clinch Jeff sent his right twice to the kidneys and had all the better of the round at the close.

Round 20—Jeff rushed at his man like a mad bull, but Corbett side-stepped and sprinted out of harm's way, sending a straight left to the ribs as he went. Jeff rushed again, but Corbett got inside his head and fooled him. He threw his body against the champions chest and blocked every blow. Corbett stepped to either side every time Jeff tried to land and judged two hard left swings. Jeff succeeded in landing left on the neck. Corbett countered on the ribs. Corbett's foot work was extremely clever in this round and he surprised everybody who watched him. Jeff seemed disgruntled at not being able to land a telling blow.

Round 21—Corbett opened with left on the face. Jeff rushed him into a corner, where Corbett slipped quickly and evaded a right swing for the head. Jeff kept boring in, but Corbett met him at every turn, blocking cleverly. Corbett hooked right to the stomach, and Jeff sent two lefts to head. Jeff jabbed left hard on the chest and hooked to the face. Corbett countering with his right to the ear. At close quarters Jeff hooked right to head and in the clinch which followed leg heavily over his opponent. In the breakaway Corbett landed light right on the head and sprinted to the ropes, where another clinch occurred without any more harm being done.

THROUGH A GLASS.

IVORY SOAP is a skin soap. On one square inch of your hand there are 2,800 pores. On the whole body you have 2,381,284 of these little cavities to look after. Every one of these openings must be kept clear, or the impurities of the body can not pass out. Now, to cleanse the pores, you need a fine, pure soap. Scientists who speak not from opinion, but from scientific analyses, urge the use of Ivory Soap. 99 44/100 per cent. pure.

STRIKES THE SOURCE

A Pile Cure That Goes to the Root of the Disease.

There are lots of lotions, oils and salves that will, through their soothing influence, relieve temporarily the pain incident to piles. But is that all the sufferer requires? Isn't it a horrible thought to realize that the case is only temporary and that the disease goes on under the surface without a moment's interruption?

Wouldn't it be wiser to select a remedy that seeks the source and regulates those deep-seated disorders which induce the disease? Pyramid Pile Cure not only relieves the pain at once, but effects a permanent cure of the worst form of piles. You don't have to go through a tedious course of dieting while using it either.

It strikes through those delicate membranes and tissues and sets the blood in healthful circulation, reducing at once the painful inflammation and congested tumors.

This remedy is not a haphazard combination of drugs but it is a remedy invented by specialists who have treated piles and blood disorders successfully for years. Almost any first class druggist has it on sale at 50 cents per package. Don't treat this disease with every lotion and salve that comes along. Remember the parts affected are among the most delicate in the human body. This remedy is absolutely safe and no one need fear to apply it freely on the most inflamed parts. The speed with which it allays the pain is an agreeable surprise to the sufferer.

CHEATED

The merchant who pays for advertising and doesn't get it, cries out that advertising doesn't pay. He is wrong. Advertising pays if you get it. If you pay for any commodity that is never delivered, you lose money on it, just the same as you lose on advertising that you pay for but never get.

When merchants learn to buy their advertising space in the newspapers as they buy their merchandise—by measure and weight, it will pay them. Buy space by the inch per thousand of circulation and see that you get what you pay for. Then you will never be cheated in advertising and it will pay you. The Sun will give you more advertising for your money than any other paper in Lowell. It is

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

LOWELL'S POPULATION 100 YEARS HENCE.

Taking the population of Lowell in 1826 as 2,720, the figures obtained from the records unearthed from the First Baptist church foundation, there is room for a nice little problem in arithmetic to approximate the population of this city at the end of the next century providing the annual rate of increase be the same.

The population in 1826 was 2720 and in 1900 it is 90,000, a difference of 87,280, which is the increase for 74 years. This shows an average increase of 1,179 per year. Multiply this number by 100 on the assumption that we shall have an equal increase every year for the next century and the total increase in our population by the end of the century would be 117,900 which added to our present population would make 207,000. Of course, if our citizens manage to keep the tax rate as high as at present and if the mills through the hold which the Locks and Canals have on the water power, keep out all other industries, the rate of increase may not be as great as it was in the past 74 years. With a view to gathering in a population of this size, the city should adopt some system of laying out our streets so that they may not resemble those of Boston in angularity and width. At the present time the owner of a piece of land has but to lay it out in streets to suit his convenience without regard to their relation to other streets, their direction or width. Thus the streets of the city run in all possible directions without any sign of system or order. It is time the street department should plan for the convenience of the 207,000 people who will reside here in the year 2000, so that it will not be necessary to widen the streets or run elevated cars or construct subways under the business portion of the city.

MacQUEEN ON THE WAR.

Rev. Peter MacQueen, writing from South Africa, states that even the Englishmen who reside there assert that Africa should be left to the Africanders and that in time there will be a union of South African states similar to the union of states in North America. He describes in a graphic style the hatred which the Boers entertain for English rule and asserts that this feeling is not confined entirely to the Boers, but is shared by Germans, Frenchmen and others of European nationality who have gone there to escape the tyranny of European governments. He says that the Boer women have organized companies of crack shots to take the places of their husbands and brothers if the latter fall in battle or are disabled by sickness. He also states that if eventually the English capture Pretoria, the Boers will trek northward and occupy the hills of Zoutpansburg, where they could hold out long enough for England to get into other difficulties either in South Africa or elsewhere.

The republicans all over the country are turning up their noses at the decision of Judge Lochren of Minnesota that Porto Rico is under the constitution. But in the end the highest tribunals in the land may be forced to concur in Lochran's views on this important question.

Corbett made the best fight of his life despite his defeat. Jeffries' superior weight and strength alone saved him from going down before Corbett's scientific tactics, his repeated blows on the face and his agility in warding off and ducking blows. Jeffries can knock out any man with one blow if he succeeds in landing squarely. In this he succeeded in the 23d round and Corbett was floored by a blow that would have felled even a fresher and a stronger man.

The enormous crowd that thronged Merrimack square last night to listen to the report of the fight from The Sun megaphone was probably the largest ever seen there on any occasion. The Sun's report of the fight was taken direct from the wire and was given with marvellous promptness and precision. At no time was the report more than five minutes behind the time of the actual occurrences in the ring. The crowd that gathered around the different newspaper offices that gave out the report represented their comparative circulations.

The Boers retire before Roberts' force only to escape being surrounded. Recent dispatches told that the Boers had a fighting front of 20 miles width, but that the British front was necessarily wider. An army almost as large as the entire Boer force, is detailed to try a flank movement on either side of the Boer front and thus to escape being surrounded the Boers have to fall back. This will continue until the Boers get to the hills in the Transvaal, where such tactics by the British will be impracticable.

Notice how quickly Gen. Roberts reduced Kitchener to comparative obscurity and subserviency—the man who requested only the permission from Her Britannic Majesty to chop off a head wherever he saw fit. That high dignitary, the butcher of Khartoum, is no longer the co-partner with Roberts in conducting the war, but a subordinate of the most ordinary type.

The state machine which has ruled republicans of Connecticut for years, has won another victory over the Fessenden faction which tried to smash it and hence boss rule will continue in that state for some time. This should pave the way for democratic victory next fall.

So the Duke of Marlborough is to return home. The feather-bed soldiers soon succumb to the hardships of the field, even though they are permitted to skulk in the rear.

The suburban electrics are taking the profits from the poultry raisers about Tewksbury. It is an unexplained trait of the suburban hen to try to see how close she can run to the car without being hit, and nearly every flock will leave off scratching by the roadside at the approach of a car, and do a stunt in front of it, running along the track till the vehicle almost strikes them, and then fluttering to safety at the worry she has caused the motorman. You ask any of the men who run the suburban lines if it is not a fact that four hens out of five will do just this way.

Some people like to read about other peoples' troubles in police court, but dislike very much to figure themselves in the newspapers. Now, as a friend remarked today, if a man gets into court and the airing of his private affairs becomes of public interest, he can be reckoned as nothing but unreasonable if he finds fault with the newspapers which prints the court proceedings in relation to his case. And yet how many people there are who, getting into the newspapers after that manner, berate the newspapers and their editors outright. If people desire to be kept out of the newspapers in that respect, they must keep out of courts. If they get into court or politics, they might as well make up their minds beforehand that not all the newspapers published will look upon them in just the light which they think they should. They must expect that things will be said about them which are not pleasant to their ears. If they are honest men they will accept that condition of affairs as a matter of course; but if they are narrow and weak mentally they will rave and make pitiable spectacles of themselves because newspapers refuse to make these particular persons exceptions to the rule that would lay all such matters fairly before the public.

As down the street in glad array
Fair Doris lightly trips,
A vison rare
From ankle neat to
Dainty finger tips;
And there,
Hosts of others—all most
Gleefully parade;
With some in stripe
And some in plaid and some
In checks arrayed;
And some are silken, some
Are wool, some linen,
Some pique,
And e'en the flannel and

In the array;
And some do blaze like
Coals of fire, while some are
Verdant quite,
And every shade of yellow, blue,
Red, green is in sight,
And thus when warming zephyrs
Kiss the early leafing tree,
The streets

Of femininity;
And marvel of all marvels, each
Bright damsel feels that she
Doth wear by far the

And laddies love to love the maids,
Who love this loving, too!

C. F. KEYES, - - Auctioneer

Office, Old Boston & Maine Station, Green St., Lowell, Mass.

THIS AFTERNOON at 3 O'clock p. m.

A cottage house and 9049 square feet of land, also six house lots on West Forest, Clifford and Royalston streets and Rose avenue.

I have made up my mind to sell on the day advertised, regardless of weather or price, the above described property, and if you call and examine the same, I am sure you will agree with me that this is a golden opportunity for a man of moderate means to secure a nice cottage with 9049 square feet of land, being a corner lot. The six lots that are to be sold are level and dry. They will average about 5350 square feet each. You will find the air as good in this location as you would if you were ten miles in the country. Remember the day and date of sale.

The cottage house consists of seven rooms, bath, pantry, an extra good cellar, and every room is conveniently laid out. The house is in good repair inside and out, and there is every improvement that can be desired in a cottage house. The lot has a frontage on West Forest street of 50 feet; 100 feet on Clifford street and 100 on Royalston street, and contains about 9049 square feet. It is all sodded, has a number of fruit trees and shade trees, and the fact of its being a corner lot with so much frontage on three streets is certainly something which should be appreciated. There is plenty of room for a nice garden and it will certainly make a convenient and profitable home for some one.

Stop paying rent, make a start for yourself. This is your opportunity to buy.

Lot No. 1 has a frontage on West Forest street of 50 feet and 107 feet on Rose avenue, making an area of 5353 square feet. This is also a corner lot and would make an excellent place to build.

Lots Nos. 2, 3 and 4 have a frontage of 50 feet each on West Forest street and run about 100 feet in depth, and contain about 5,300 square feet each. They are very high and dry and with the progress that end of the city has been making, they will certainly prove a grand investment to some one.

Lot No. 5 has a frontage on Royalston street of 50 feet, and is about 100 feet deep, making an area of 5000 square feet.

Lot No. 6 has a frontage on Rose avenue of 50 feet, is also 100 feet deep and contains about 5,000 square feet.

The location of this property is certainly a good one. It is but a short distance to the electric cars on Chelmsford street, and within a few minutes' walk to schools. West Forest street is opposite Forest street from Stevens street. Take the Chelmsford street car to Forest street; this property is next to the beautiful residence of Harry C. Greene.

TERMS: $200 to be deposited with the auctioneer on cottage house at time and place of sale. The same to be done with $50 on each lot. By order of MRS. FLORENCE A. NICHOLS.

AT 4 O'CLOCK.

2½ STORY HOUSE AND ABOUT 8,000 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, ON CHELMSFORD STREET, CHELMSFORD, MASS., KNOWN AS THE INGHAM PROPERTY.

On day above advertised, I have decided to sell my house and 8,000 square feet of land with same, regardless of weather or price. Now, if you are in the market for a country home, on the electric line, call and examine this place. The house consists of eight rooms, bath and pantry. Parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, pantry, on first floor; four chambers, unfinished attic, extra good dry cellar. It is all piped for gas. First class wind mill, house has been built for three years, was built by the day, and is thoroughly constructed in every respect.

The lot has a frontage of 80 feet on Chelmsford street and 100 feet on the avenue, making an area of 8000 square feet. This is a corner lot, which certainly adds to its advantage. There is plenty of spare land and it undoubtedly would make a fine country home.

The property is just across the line on Chelmsford street; the electrics pass the door.

Remember I am bound to sell on the day advertised for just what you will give, and some one is sure to get a bargain.

TERMS: $250 at time and place of sale; other terms at sale. By order of CHARLOTTE INGHAM, Chelmsford, Mass.

Inquiries to be made at the office of the auctioneer.

AT 5 O'CLOCK.

THE HENRY CASTLES PROPERTY. TWO BLOCKS OF 8 TENEMENTS AND ABOUT 4,300 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, NO. 107 ADAMS STREET.

As I am far advanced in years and my health is very poor, I have made up my mind to dispose of this property on the premises the day above advertised for just what it will bring, regardless of the weather. If you are looking for a speculation, one that will pay you a big percentage from the start, give this sale your attention. Remember the date is May 12th and the hour is 5 o'clock.

The property consists of two blocks, numbering 6, 7, 8 and 9 in the rear of 107 Adams street. There are four tenements in each block with an average of 4 and 5 rooms to each tenement. Outside of painting, the house is in good condition. It is all rented with the best of tenants, who will be pleased to remain, and brings in $60 a month, or $720 a year, and if it were not for my health, I would not think of disposing of it. Any young man who could buy this property and give it a little care and attention, I am sure it would prove a grand investment to him.

The lot has a frontage of about 46 feet on Adams street, with an area of about 4300 square feet, and as I am determined to sell, you should attend this sale if you are looking for an investment.

LOCATION.—This property is very centrally located. It is within one minute's walk of Franklin Square, within five minutes' walk of several large industries, such as mills, foundries, machine shops, etc. It is very handy to schools and churches, and is in a section of the city where tenements always rent well, and at no time during the past five years has a tenement been idle more than a few days at a time. When you take into consideration the many advantages of this property and that it must be sold for the highest bid, some one is sure to get a bargain.

TERMS: $500 to be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms at sale. For full particulars call at the office of the auctioneer. By order of

A BIG SWINDLE

Unearthed by the Special Treasury Agents

100 SACKS OF WOOL WERE SEIZED

Said to Have Been Smuggled Into This Country

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 11.—Special treasury agents, under the direction of Agent Converse J. Smith of this city have just unearthed what they allege to be one of the biggest and most barefaced swindling schemes ever attempted at this port.

The records of the custom house show that special employe Bunn has seized 100 sacks of wool, valued at $6000 in this city, Lawrence, Mass., and Bristol, R. I. It is said the wool was shipped from Canada through St. John, N. B., to Grand Manan island off Eastport. There it was taken by English vessels out to sea and reloaded into American vessels, then taken to American territory and loaded on cars in the same manner as wool brought into port by coastwise vessels on which no duty is demanded.

The special agents says that as near as they can estimate fully $40,00 worth of wool has been smuggled into this country through the port of Boston during the past year.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Neeley will, of course, have to answer at the hearing which takes place here next Thursday, before United States Commissioner Shields. The two $10,000 United States treasury notes furnished by Neeley as cash bail, were put up by the Seventh National bank of this city. The exact amount of cash found upon Neeley was $3502. There were also found two gold watches, two diamond rings worth at least $400 each and $500 worth of shares of various stocks."

ANOTHER STRIKE

MAY BE ORDERED IN KANSAS CITY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 11.—Walter Holmes, president of the Metropolitan Street Railway company, today refused to grant the demands of the conductors, motormen and gripmen for recognition of their union and a uniform scale of wages, and a strike on all the lines in Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kansas, will likely be ordered late this afternoon.

FAREWELL TO CANADIANS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, May 11.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian high commissioner, bade farewell today to the contingent of Canadians belonging to Strathcona's Horse, which landed yesterday at Liverpool, and which sailed for South Africa today on board the British transport Assaye from this city. $5,000 HIDDEN IN CHAIR.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SOMERVILLE, Mass., May 11.—Interested persons who were examining the effects of Mrs. Annie Clarke, who died here April 13, of pneumonia and who was thought to be in destitute circumstances, have found bank books representing deposits of money close on to $5,000 secreted in an old chair. Several rings were found in an old pin cushion.

LOUD EXPLOSION

GUNCOTTON PLACED ON THE CAR TRACKS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ST. LOUIS, May 11.—While a car on the Lindell line was going west at Garrison and Washington avenue this morning a man placed a white object on the rail. The motorman paid no attention to it and did not check his car. When the wheels struck the object there was a deafening report and the car was surrounded with smoke.

Passengers were terrified, but no injury was done to the car and no one was hurt. The substance placed on the track is supposed to have been guncotton. There is no clue to the identity of the man who deposited the explosive on the track.

Before leaving for Jefferson City, Governor Stephens said: "I do not think the situation has reached a stage where it is expedient or necessary to call on the militia. When I am satisfied that the police authorities cannot cope with the situation, I shall not hesitate to call out the military arm of the state."

While there is no immediate necessity for a sheriff's posse, Sheriff Dohlman has been asked by the police officials to be in readiness to furnish men if called upon to do so.

According to President Krein of the Central Trades and Labor Union, the strike may assume vast proportions if not soon settled.

"It is a fight of unionism for its very existence," he says, "and must be won if it takes every union man in St. Louis to do it. Members of the leading labor unions in St. Louis have assured me that their members are willing to go out on a sympathetic strike and only await the word of their officers."

Arrangements are being made for a mass meeting of union labor Sunday when the question of a sympathetic strike will be discussed.

In east St. Louis where all the employes of the East St. Louis Electric Railway company were ordered to strike yesterday, in order to enforce the demands for the re-instatement of discharged men and a re-adjustment of wages and hours, most of the lines are running today. The crews of only ten cars are out. No trouble there is anticipated.

The latter was stabbed and died subsequently of the wound.

ENGLAND WILL DEMAND PAYMENT OF IT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, May 11.—Replying in the house of commons to a question today, relative to the claim of Daniel Keating for maintenance and money advanced to the shipwrecked Americans of the Gloucester, Mass., schooner, Ethel B. Jacobs, on the coast of Kerry, in 1899, the parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, Mr. William St. John Broderick, said the Keating claim was made at the end 1899 and that the British ambassador at Washington, Lord Pauncefote, had been instructed to bring it forthwith to the notice of the United States government with the view of obtaining payment. No response, he added, had yet been received and Lord Pauncefote's attention has recently been recalled to the matter.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 11.—As the result of an order by Mayor Edgar R. Champlin to Chief of Police Cloyes, the curfew will be rung in this city tonight. Although the curfew ordinance was passed here about two years ago, it has not been enforced and so flagrant have been the violations of its provisions that the mayor has decided that the ordinance shall be lived up to. PRIVATE PENSIONS

WERE CONSIDERED BY THE HOUSE TODAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—This was private pension day under the rules. Some of the preliminary routine business was transacted before the regular business was demanded. Mr. Escher (Wis.) called up a bill to amend the law to provide for the commutation of travel and subsistence allowances of discharged officers and soldiers. He explained that the bill proposed to allow a uniform rate of four cents per mile for officers and enlisted men. The bill was passed.

While this bill was considered, Governor Roosevelt of New York came into the hall. He was warmly greeted and held quite a levee in the republican cloak room. Later he ascended the speaker's rostrum and attracted much attention as he talked with Speaker Henderson. The regular order was then demanded and the house went into committee of the whole to consider private pension bills.

FREE STATERS HAVE LARGE FORCE

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MASERU, Basutoland, Thursday, May 10.—The Free Staters are concentrating strongly in good positions on the Korannaberg hills, lying eastward of the direct line from Thabanchu to Winburg. President Steyn was with them yesterday but is believed to have gone northward after inspiring the burghers with stories of approaching Boer successes through the assistance of thousands of foreigners, who, he said, were pouring into Delagoa Bay.

General Rundle's division camped yesterday evening on the banks of the Little Leeuw river between Thabanchu and Ladybrand.

YALE LOSES A COACH.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., May 11.—One of Yale's best known coaches and athletes James Otis Rodgers, '98, will no longer be available to coach crews and football teams. He has just left the Harvard law school to go into business in the west. He was captain of the Yale football eleven in his senior year, rowed on the 'varsity crew at Henley, had been coach of freshmen crews for two years, and was head coach of the football eleven last fall.

ICE BOUND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

KINEO, Moosehead Lake, Me., May 11.—The steamer Katahdin made an attempt to get through the ice from Moosehead to Greenville Wednesday afternoon. Up to a late hour last night she had not been heard from, and she was not in sight from either Greenville or Moosehead. She probably lies icebound somewhere between the two points and has been so for 36 hours.

Such an occurrence has no parallel in the history of the lake. The steamer Louisa made an attempt to get up the lake from Greenville yesterday, but was forced to turn back. The steamer Kineo made another unsuccessful attempt to reach the northeast carry yesterday. The weather is holding cold, and the wind is in an unfavorable quarter. The ice remains practically as it was three days ago.

COL. BURTON'S REPORT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Colonel G. H. Burton of the inspector general's department, who conducted the investigation in the administration of the postal service in Cuba, arrived here today and had a conference with Secretary Root before the latter's departure for the cabinet meeting. Colonel Burton turned over to the secretary several documents showing the principal facts developed by his investigation. Secretary Root took these papers to the White House.

THE CUBAN TEACHERS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WHITMAN, Mass., May 11.—Supt. of Schools Hobbs of this place, who recently wrote to A. E. Frye, superintendent of schools in Cuba, expressing interest in the project to bring Cuban teachers to the Harvard summer school this year and a desire to have the Whitman teachers meet the visitors, has received a very cordial reply from Mr. Frye. The letter from the superintendent in Cuba says in part:

"The attitude of the American teachers toward the Cuban teachers moves me deeply, as it is moving the people of this entire island. There is no doubt that the expressions of good will arising out of the plan of carrying the Cuban teachers to Harvard have done more to establish confidence in the minds of the Cuban people than all the other acts of the American government together. From one end of Cuba to the other, not only teachers but the people at large are wildly enthusiastic over the proposed trip."

CUTTER DAMAGED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GLASGOW, May 11.—The racing 65-footer Isolde, now owned by F. M. Hoyt of New York, had a narrow escape off the Cumbraes yesterday. As she was working her way out of the Clyde she ran into the steamer Tartar, striking the latter's port bow, and it is simply a piece of the greatest luck that the yacht was not sunk. Her rail was smashed and she received other slight damages, and put back for repairs.

The 65-footer Astrild, owned by J. H. Harman of New York, started with the Isolde, and it was believed the pair would have an ocean race under short canvas. The Astrild, however, kept on, with Capt. Hamilton, who had charge of the Shamrock, as navigator, on board.

Sir Thomas Lipton will receive the Glasgow exhibition committee tomorrow in regard to their request for him race his yacht during the Glasgow exhibition next year, instead of going across for the America's cup.

MALDEN PIGEONS FOUND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 11.—The carrier pigeon found at Deer Island yesterday afternoon belonged to George Horsman of Malden, as did also a bird captured in Provincetown yesterday. These are two of the 15 birds liberated from a French liner 360 miles at sea last Friday. Fifteen more birds will be liberated today from an outgoing French liner, and 10 more which were carried to France will be liberated from a return steamer due in New York Saturday, and are expected in Malden Friday afternoon.

The owners of these pigeons are having hard luck. There has been a heavy off-shore breeze blowing for a month, and out of some 15 birds liberated only one has reached the home loft in Malden with a message. The steamship company has been making similar experiments on the French side, but has had much better luck on account of more favorable conditions.

POPULISTS' OFFICIALS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 11.—The national committee of the populist party held a meeting here today to effect organization and elect officers. There was a lively contest over the chairmanship between the friends of the former chairman, Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina, and George F. Edmiston, chairman of the Nebraska state committee. The contest also extended to other national offices with the exception of the treasurer, for which position George F. Washburn of Massachusetts, was apparently the chief candidate.

FAIR SIZED INCREASE.

Boston & Maine gross and net earnings for the first quarter of the current calendar year shows a fair-sized increase, and the surplus for the quarter amounts to $24,151, against a deficit last year of $20,687 for the corresponding three months. This gives an increase of $57,677 on the surplus account, due partly to a decrease of $10,529 in charges. On the whole, therefore, the statement is a gratifying exhibit for the stockholders to peruse, especially in view of the fact that expenses were not met in a parsimonious manner but actually increased by upwards of $382,000 for the period under review.

BORROWED $15,000,000.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 11.—It is reported in Wall street that the Pennsylvania has borrowed $15,000,000 in the local market for one year at 4 per cent. with privilege of renewal. A part of the borrowed money is supposed to be used for paying for the stock of the Long Island railroad company.

RESPIRO

has a standing, as a POSITIVE CURE for ASTHMA, which few remedies can boast; for it has stood the greatest of all tests—the test of time. The effected upon persons of all ages, with no return of ASTHMA after 6 to 10 years, are convincing evidence.

CURES

No wonder that RESPIRO has so many friends among those who once suffered from ASTHMA.

Three preparations do the work: RESPIRO LIQUID, RESPIRO POWDER and RESPIRO GRANULES. These are sold by all druggists.

A sample of RESPIRO POWDER will be mailed FREE to any asthmatic upon request.

$1000 DAMAGES

BOY GETS VERDICT FOR BEING KICKED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 11.—One thousand dollars was the price which a Middlesex county jury fixed yesterday for a kick administered to a boy. Ex-Alderman Peter F. Rourke of Cambridge was the defendant in a suit brought by Leo F. Martin, a boy of 10 years, for injuries received at the hands, or rather feet, of the defendant. Conkley & Conkley appeared for the plaintiff, and H. H. Winslow for the defendant.

Rourke testified that Martin was one of a crowd of boys who had done great damage to his tenement property on many occasions and on May 22, 1899, finding the youngster on his premises, he pushed him away. He had been annoyed for some time, and when he saw a group of boys looking at a shattered window of his house, which had been repaired only the day before, Rourke kicked the Martin boy, who was not able to get away.

Young Martin told the story in a somewhat different way. He denied complicity in the mischievous damage. He said he was walking along Webster avenue, Cambridge, with a couple of playmates when Rourke jumped from his carriage and kicked him, felling him to the ground.

He was corroborated by his playmates. After arguments of counsel, the jury retired and returned a verdict within an hour of $1000 for the plaintiff.

HO! FOR BOSTON

New Electric Car Line Opened Today

CARS CAME THROUGH THIS MORNING

Fifteen Minute Time to Billerica Centre

The first cars of the new Boston, Lexington & Lowell street railroad came into Merrimack Square shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. The first car was in charge of Motorman Hickey of the Broadway line of this city and Conductor Frank Rourke of the Gorham street line.

Three closed cars followed each other along and their appearance here announced the opening of the new trolley line which promises to excel any electric car in the state for convenience and beauty of scenery.

The last spikes were driven at Billerica Centre last night and at daybreak all was in readiness for the opening of the new line which connects Lowell with the Hub, making the Spindle City the second greatest electric railroad center in New England.

The cars which first came up were eight-wheelers with two trolleys closed and vestibuled. They are longer and wider than the Lawrence and Nashua cars and might well be termed the Pullmans of the electric cars. The seats are arranged as on a steam car, and the vestibules are an innovation, the motorman being partitioned off from the standing room on the platforms, so that passengers will not interfere with him in his work at the brakes.

The cars are operated by air brakes, a wheel taking the place of the old-fashioned brake handle. The open cars which came up later are even bigger than the vestibule cars, being 18 inches wider. The vestibule cars cost $7000 each.

The first regular car today left Merrimack Square at 12.15 with a number of curious passengers on board. After that, they are running every half hour and the last car will leave the square at 10.15 o'clock tonight. Thus it remained for the street railroad to enable visitors to Lowell from Boston to remain here in the evening. It has often been complained by Bostonians visiting here that they could not get back to the Hub at night without starting almost immediately after supper. The electrics partially remedy this inconvenience by sending two cars to Boston after the last train has gone at 9.25 o'clock. All cars on this line connect for or go through to Boston. The change of cars is made at Arlington Heights, where the cars of the West End street railroad are taken. The fare from Lowell to Arlington Heights is 25 cents and from Arlington Heights to Boston is 5 cents additional, the through fare thus being 30 cents. The time for a through trip at present is 2 hours and 45 minutes, though it is believed that this will be cut down considerably when the road gets in working order. The regular schedule starts tomorrow when the first car leaves the square at 6.15 o'clock and every half hour after until 10.15 p. m.

On the first car in this morning were Supt. William H. Greene of the Lexington & Boston road and Supt. Morris Nash of the Lowell & Suburban. Supt. Greene is well known to Lowell and drove a horse car here some years ago. He is now superintendent of one of the most promising roads in New England.

The people of Billerica are highly pleased with the new road, for it means 15-minute time to Billerica Centre henceforth. The Lynn cars leave Merrimack Square on the even half hours while on the Lexington line they leave on the even quarters. As both lines go through the Centre there is 15 minute time to that pretty suburb.

If the companies will only make the fare to the Centre 5 cents and the trip to Boston 25 cents, the public will be well satisfied.

MISS M. F. SWIFT

Dropped the Servian Prince for Another

NOW ENGAGED TO CLARENCE MOORE

Her Father Wanted no Beggared Prince in His Family

Miss Mabelle Florence Swift, the only daughter of E. C. Swift, has become engaged to Clarence Moore of Washington, D. C. Early in the fall the engagement of Miss Swift to Prince Alexis Karageorgevitch, the pretender to the Servian throne was the talk of Newport and Pride's Crossing, where the Swifts have a magnificent home and are social leaders. Prince Alexis met Miss Swift in Paris at the home of Miss Fanny Reed, sister of the late Mrs. Paran Stevens and followed her to America. He became the house guest of the Swifts and was the lion of all functions until a premature publication of his engagement to Miss Swift aroused the ire of her father. When the prince laid the matter before Mr. Swift and asked his consent, he was told that if Miss Swift married him, she would be disinherited. The prince departed on the next steamer for Paris, where he is now a frequent guest at the home of Miss Reed and an ardent admirer of American heiresses with more tractable fathers.

Friends of Miss Swift in Washington find in this announcement a welcome assurance that the young beauty is free from the entanglements of a foreign fortune hunter.

Miss Swift has frequently visited

MISS MABELLE FLORENCE SWIFT, ENGAGED.

Washington, where she has many friends and relatives. Her fiance, Clarence Moore, is a popular member of resident society. He is master of hounds and secretary of the Chevy Chase club. He is also a member of the Metropolitan and the Alibi clubs. Mr. Moore has a large private fortune, but he is not so well provided financially as Miss Swift, who is the millionaire's heiress. Miss Swift is well known in Lowell, but resides mostly in Boston and Newport, R. I. She is heiress to $30,000,000. The story of her betrothal to the Prince Karageorevitch was published in The Sun last September and caused quite a sensation, but the affair was brought to a speedy termination by Mr. Swift's announcement that if she married the European adventurer she would be disinherited. The fortune-hunter departed as soon as he found that the intended father-in-law refused to sacrifice his daughter and her fortune as well.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. DYING MAN

RE-UNITED BY MARRIAGE WITH HIS SECOND WIFE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BALTIMORE May 12.—The reuniting of a divorced couple by a marriage ceremony at the death bed of the husband, an octogenarian, occurred at midnight last night in Woodberry, a suburb of this city.

For many years James Brown and his wife lived happily together. He was a widower at the time of his marriage and 25 years older than his wife. Ten years ago disagreements arose between them which led to a divorce.

After the separation Mrs. Brown went to New York to live, and Mr. Brown spent several years in Texas, returning to Woodberry two years ago.

When taken ill several months ago Mr. Brown yearned for the forgiveness of his wife. He wished, he said, that he might again call her his wife, before he died, and finally communicated with her in New York. He learned that she as well he wanted the trouble of former times obliterated and was willing to again become his wife.

Mrs. Brown came on from New York last night and the marriage took place immediately, Rev. W. A. Koontz of the Methodist church officiating.

The dying man smiled feebly as his wife bent over and kissed him and then fainted. His death is momentarily expected. The wife has not left his bedside since the marriage. She is 50 years old. He is 84.

STRIKE ORDERED

Street Railway Employes Called From Work

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12.—The union of the street railway employes voted early this morning to order a strike on all the lines of the Metropolitan street railway. Not enough men responded to the order to tie up any of the main lines and at 8:30 o'clock it was evident that unless there is a great change in the attitude of the men, the company can run cars continuously.

There was no serious trouble at the starting of any of the lines.

We can live way beyond a century, sure—The invention will startle the scientific world—A discovery in chemical science makes it possible to create and apply animal life from natural means and prevent failure from age and wear out—Fatal diseases can be prevented—Women made strong and vigorous by natural means—Treatment a luxury.

First. In aid of the invention I shall surround myself with a staff of physical examiners whose skill will leave the smallest possible chance for mistakes.

Second. I shall undertake to get a solid foundation of health in my people and then maintain it, adding the forces of animal life sufficiently to prevent the nervous system from losing. By such means I shall endeavor to prevent people from growing old, and see to it that they have a well guarded, enjoyable existence, warding off fatal diseases by close watch and the best skilful attention procurable. We shall watch the heart, lungs, kidneys and nervous system, weekly, monthly or quarterly, as conditions may require, keeping a numbered private record. From new discoveries, we shall be able to reduce the attacks of epidemics to a minimum. We even abort smallpox without vaccination. We can prevent the ill effects from changes of temperature, at the time of exposure.

Third. I shall make a specialty of nervous diseases and breakdown, from any cause, the results of high living and dissipated habits, insanity, (remarkable cases in this city already, we cannot give names). Paralysis, from exhaustion.

Fourth. We have many cases of old paralysis already recovered years ago, who remain in good physical condition.

Fifth. Our invariable rule of treatment, is all applications of the vitalizer must be made upon an empty stomach, 3½ hours after eating or drinking. Food may be taken an hour later. We shall reserve the right to return the money paid and refuse further treatment to patients who abuse themselves and refuse to follow directions that will be no hardship to them. I believe we can make a healthy man live 120 years.

TERMS.

Consultations and prescriptions same price as other physicians.

AT COLLINSVILLE

Notes Gathered by a Sun Reporter

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE MILL

The Churches, Post Office And School

The village of Collinsville, during late years, has grown from a mere settlement to one of the thriftiest villages in the whole of New England. It has grown from a small farming district into a large business center, the population of the village now being about 2600 inhabitants. The Collins mills, now known as the Beaver Brook mills, and the electric cars that run through that village, are the two main causes for the big advancement in this little village.

Some few years before 1851, a small wooden mill, being 60 feet long, 40 feet wide and four stories high was built. This was erected for the manufacture of cotton and the first cotton thread that was made in the United States was made in this little mill. The first cotton duck or canvas ever made in the United States was also made at this mill. The property was then owned by a John H. Piereeson of Boston and was run and managed by his agent, Mr. Peter Lawson, who was afterwards succeeded by his son, George Lawson. Geo. Lawson afterwards became agent of the mill and changed the product to what was known as blue drilling and sheeting.

The same year the original building was raised and two stories of stone were added and it was continued as a cotton mill until about 1862. The following year the plant was bought by a company composed of John A. Smith of Lowell, Edward Barrows of Dedham, and one Hastings of Boston. This company removed the cotton machinery and replaced it with woolen machinery taken from the mill at Dracut, which was also bought and started to manufacture cassimeres. This concern ran the mill for about ten years and after the place had been idle for about three years the mill was leased to Michael Collins in 1876. About the time that Mr. Collins bought the mill, the village proper contained a dozen houses including a large boarding house. Mr. Collins ran the place for about three years when he purchased it. Up to this time, the village had been known as Dracut, but after Mr. Collins bought the mills and started to improve the village it was named Collinsville after that gentleman.

The mill at that time contained six sets of cards and twenty-two looms. Additions were made at various times until the mill contained seven sets of cards and thirty-nine looms.

In the spring of 1864, ground was first broken by Mr. Collins for the new plant, which consisted of a three-story main mill 212 feet by 58 feet and another building for weaving, 165 feet by 70 feet. The first fire was started in the boilers in the new mill October 2, 1884. Most of the machinery was moved from the old mill into the new one and it started to run in 1865. The plant at this time contained 72 looms and 10 sets of cards.

In the year 1893, three stories were added to the main mill, making the structure six stories in height. After building the addition, thirty-two new looms were put in and 9 sets of cards, making a total of 104 looms and 10 sets of cards. In 1895 a new weave shed 128 feet by 34 feet, a boiler room and dye house were added to the plant. In addition to the big extensions that Mr. Collins had been making at the mill he had about fifty tenements erected during his proprietorship.

In May, 1898, the property was sold to the American Woolen company, which has made extensive improvements and more than doubled the capacity of the mill until today it is one of the largest woolen mills in the country. At the present time it contains 29 sets of cards; 16,518 spindles; 168 looms and the corporation owns 82 tenements. There has been no material change in the product of the mills since Mr. Collins first started as it has consisted chiefly of weaves and kerseys.

There are 620 operatives employed in the Beaver Brook mills at the present time, the majority of them residing in Collinsville. The present superintendent of the mills is Mr. John Allen, who was formerly connected with the Washington mills in Lawrence.

It will be remembered that on the 18th of April of this year, the mill on the opposite side of the road from the new one, and which was used as a storehouse was destroyed by fire, the loss amounting to about $50,000. Men are now at work clearing away the debris and a new storehouse is to be built on the site of the old one. It is not known yet whether it will be built of stone or brick.

A great many houses have been built in this village during the late years. A short time ago the corporation built about twenty double tenement houses and they are now at work building twelve more of these houses.

Besides the mill, the other buildings of interest that the village can boast of are two churches and a school house. The Catholic church, which is situated on the left side of the road before reaching the mills immediately attracts the attention of a visitor to this village. The church is a small one-story wooden structure and has a slanting roof with a small wooden spire. It is painted red, and one would think that it had been recently erected; but it is about fifteen years old. It was built in the early part of 1885 by Mr. Collins for the Catholic people of the village, so that they would not have to travel to Lowell to attend church, and it was dedicated August 15, 1886. At the dedicatory services Rev. Martin O'Brien, now deceased, was the celebrant of the mass and the sermon was delivered by Rev. M. T. McManus, who is now at St. Mary's church in Brookline, Mass. This church belongs to St. Michael's parish in this city and the priests of that parish hold services at the little church at 8.30 every Sunday morning.

Of late years a Protestant church has been erected near the suburbs of the village known as the Mission Chapel, and it is presided over by a local clergyman. The schoolhouse is on the cross roads above the mill and the primary and grammar studies are taught in this place. Miss Vina Newman is the principal. Scholars after graduating from this school attend the Lowell High school.

The postmaster of the village is Mr. Michael Collins and is in the provision and grocery store of Charles E. McCarthy. Two mails are received daily and two are sent into this city. The mail is brought back and forth on the electric cars and persons wanting mail have to call at the post office for it.

The water supply at the present time is from wells, but water pipes are to be laid in a very short time and the village is to receive their water from Long Pond. The water pipes have been delivered and it is expected that the ground will be broken and pipes laid at once.

The electric cars have made travel very easy to and from this city, and it is a ride of but thirty minutes from this city to Collinsville.

The cars run every half hour at this time of the year, but oftener during the warm weather.

BASE BALL

Think of Jessie Burkett, Jack O'Connor and Mugsey McGraw in one team.

Allentown has three Delehantys on the team, brothers of the famous Philadelphia player of that name.

Horace Keith of Brockton would like to buy the New York club from the present owners.

Dalrymple, the old Chicago player, who first came to the front in 1878, is now playing center for the Pueblo, Col., team.

Kitson is not holding his end up with Brooklyn and Rowell will take his regular turn at the slab hereafter.

Mike Tiernan, the old New York player, has signed with Jerry Denny's Derby, Conn., team.

The Cincinnati Enquirer figures out that the general average speed of the left-handed batsmen in covering the 90 feet from the plate to first was 19.38 feet per second. The right-handers, penalized by having to first cross the plate, averaged 18.22 feet per second. The difference in favor of the left-handed batsmen is .96 feet, or just eight inches more per second. Their positions on the near side of the plate, in other words, gives them the same advantage that would come to a longer stride. They gain eight inches in every second of running time over the right-handed players.

Charley Bennett was a much stronger catcher than Mike Kelley but not Kelley's equal as a ball player.

The Cincinnati commercial man is trying to make out that Williams of Pittsburg is superior to James Collins, both as a fielder and a hitter. The fact is that Williams is not as good a third baseman as Leach, Cross, Wallace and one or two more, while Collins has the bunch skinned a mile in the field, and not far from it with the stick, as the season will prove. Williams' wild throwing lets him out.

Manager Dooley of Montreal has released Clancy, pitcher, and Richter, utility infielder. The latter will go to Hartford. Cross, the pitcher of Indianapolis has been signed by Montreal.

David Murphy of Adams, who has been playing shortstop on the North Adams nine, has signed for the same position in the New London, Conn., league team.

Gene O'Connor will play centrefield for New Haven.

Shortstop Ely of the Pittsburgs is on the sick list.

Pitcher Hughes picks the Bostons to win the pennant.

Pitcher Joe Corbett is the father of a 12-pound daughter.

Heidrick is expected to be able to join St. Louis next week.

There are seven inclosed ball parks on the south side in Chicago.

Only two balls were used in the game in Pittsburg last Monday.

Frank Robison will scarcely give Lave Cross to New York as a gift.

The Chicagoes left eight men behind on the trip to Pittsburg.

Of the batsmen who have played in a dozen games or more, Lajoie leads the list.

One of the New Haven pitchers rejoices in the genuinely Teutonic name of Adolph Voilendorf.

Buck Freeman's stick work is so good that Duffy will have a hard time making good with the crowd if he displaces Buck and goes back to left field again himself.

Jimmy Cooney, formerly of Providence, is playing with the Bristol club of the Connecticut league.

Ewing says he would not be surprised if Rusie did not pitch at all this season on account of his marital troubles.

First Baseman Kelly of the Indianapolis club is financially interested in the Youngstown (O.) club with Mike Flint.

The Philadelphia club offered to take Robinson and McGraw off Frank Robinson's hands for $15,000, but the latter would not have it.

Montreal has released Clancy, pitcher, and Richter, utility infielder. The latter will go to Hartford.

Never in the history of the game have there been lost to any new team such a galaxy of pitchers as Brooklyn lost in Joe Corbett, Hughes and McJames.

The Newarks and Athletics played a game in 1h., 20m., Tuesday. Newark won, 3 to 0. Scranton lost its first game to Elmira on Tuesday, 8 to 2. Kennedy pitched for Scranton.

The make-up of the Attleboro nine is announced as follows: Maloney, catcher; Lloyd and Woodworth, pitchers, Lauder, shortstop, Crolius left field, Hazleton, first base, Fleming, second base, Hafford, third, Williams centre, Newman right.

Says Tom Loftus: "The Cincinnati boys are playing a hustling game at the present time. Manager Allen is always in an alert position on the line coaching, and everybody in the team is playing in a manner to give the happiest impression. President Soden says that games will be played on the South end grounds this season unless the weather conditions absolutely prevent them. No games will be called off on account of the small attendance. Ewing did not want to play on Tuesday because there were so few people on the ground, but the Boston management insisted on going on with the game.

Jim Hart has practically promised the Chicago players a new clubhouse, to be built within a year or two. It will be a fancy affair, with the showers in the basement, lockers on the first floor and living room of the ground keeper above. There are two houses out there now and they were originally built to accommodate the home and visiting teams. Now they are not large enough to accommodate one team.

RECEIVED MANY PRESENTS.

Rev. Bowley Green who is located in Portland, Me., since severing his connection with the Worthen street Baptist church, has received, with his family, many presents, including a purse of gold from the young people of the church, a Morris chair from the pastor's Bible class, and several pieces of silver and other articles from members of the church. From the Worthen street Methodist church, as evidence of good Christian fellowship, he has received Dr. Parker's People's Bible, in 27 volumes.

What People Say in Your Own State Ought to Have Weight.

SMITH'S GREEN MOUNTAIN RENOVATOR

Can give you all the proof you want right in your own state, county or city, as to its wonderful strength-giving and nerve-building power. Few medicines give permanent relief.

THE RENOVATOR CURES

and Cures Permanently, because it is made of medicinal plants found only in the Green Mountain Region, and is pure, simple and safe, but powerful in completely renovating the blood and building up the body, giving a natural strength and vitality.

What W. C. Day of Haverhill Has to Say:

"I am glad to tell you that I am still using your Renovator, and have gained in flesh so rapidly that I now want only six pounds more to be up to my old weight. In fact, for a man 57 years old, I am practically well, thanks to your great tonic and blood Renovator.

TAKE IT AND BE STRONG

A PRESENT TO WEAK MEN

I, Geo. S. Beck, sole owner of Wonder-Workers, am sixty-six years old today (May 12, 1900), and in honor of this anniversary I will put an extra full week's supply of Wonder-Workers as a present into every box of this remedy sold during this week to men who mention this paper when they order the medicine. Be certain to mention this paper when you order.

"An army of more than 100,000 men who were weak where jellies men are strong have been restored to perfect strength and manly vigor by the use of Wonder-Workers, and I defy any man on earth to show that he used this wonder among medicines according to the plain and simple directions without being permanently cured. They do not contain any of the minerals or poisons that make the vile nostrums sold by the frauds so dangerous, and it is perfectly safe to use them under any circumstances. Bear in mind that this greatest of all Nerve Foods cures all weaknesses of men at any age, no matter what caused the weakness. The reason they have the largest sale of any remedy of their class is because they are exactly what they purport to be—the Woman and Man's Best Friend, and the Greatest Remedy for Low Vitality made anywhere on earth.

A machinist in Wilmington, Del., writes: "May heaven bless you, Beck! Your Wonder-Workers have made a man of me."

A Lawyer in Ithaca, N.Y., writes: "God bless you! Wonder-Workers have given me new life and I am entirely well. Oh! how glad I am!"

"HEAVEN BLESS YOU BECK"
THE "WONDER-WORKER" MAN
Beware of WONDER-WORKERS of Inferior Merit
Beware of WONDER-WORKERS of Inferior Merit

A Merchant in Austin, Tex., says: "Thank God, two bottles of Wonder-Workers made me feel like a new man at 60 years than I was at 45 years."

A Workingman in Canton, Ohio, says: "God bless you, Mr. Beck! I answered your advertisement, used your medicine, and got well."

OLD MAN! Thousands of old men who thought their remaining days on earth would be few now bless Geo. S. Beck for the new manhood restored to them by the use of all pain killers and nerve stimulating builders, WONDER-WORKERS will bring about a degree of health and strength for you many beyond the average man of your years, and give you great power and comfort.

YOUNG MAN! Thousands of young and middle-aged men growing prematurely old because of the practice of vices or excesses have been restored to perfect strength and glorious manhood by the use of this wonderful remedy. Don't trifle with your health, friend, and if you use Wonder-Workers you will surprise yourself and your friends by becoming a strong, manly man.

TIRED MAN! If you are the unfortunate victim of lack of nerve you know it, and it would be useless to detail the symptoms to you. Wonder-Workers is that WONDER-WORKERS regenerate and build up the system of the tired man, and give the tired, functional motions to all the vital organs. Be the kind of a man you ought to be—yes, be a man!

Bear in mind that Wonder-Workers cured me when I, like you, lacked that vitality and strength without which a person is a man only in name. I am the only man in the world in the medicine business who has solemnly sworn that the medicine he sells cured himself, and that the names of all who buy will be held sacred forever. If you have been duped by any of the frauds, and have any doubt about my honesty, integrity or reliability, write to Mr. R. A. Cobaugh, Cashier of the First National Bank, of this city (the bank of which Ex-Governor Bushnell, of Ohio, is President), or to any of your friends who may be living here. I have lived here for years.

The price of Wonder-Workers is Only One Dollar per box, always cash with the order, by express at your expense. It will cost you 25 cents to lift it from your express office. If you send $5.25 I will send them by mail prepaid, thus saving you 50 cents. I do not send free samples, but give an extra week's supply as a present with every box ordered this week. Sincerely yours,

GEO. S. BECK, 420 So. Market St., SPRINGFIELD, OHIO.

GRANGE MEETING

Attended by Many Patrons in Tewksbury

VERY ENJOYABLE NIGHT FOR VISITORS

Magnificent Drill by Young Ladies

There was a very large attendance at the meeting of Tewksbury Grange last evening in Grange hall, Centre village. State Deputy J. E. Goodell of West Boylston was present as inspector of the degree work, the third and fourth degrees being conferred on Candidates Harold Patten and Charles A. Livingston. There were also many patrons present from Andover, Dracut and Billerica granges. Following the degree work, there was an entertainment which for uniqueness and originality is without precedent in grange entertainments, and the promotors are worthy of the greatest credit for carrying out the many details with such skill and ability. There was a drill given by sixteen ladies under the immediate supervision of Miss S. C. Whittemore, consisting of arches formed with wreaths and garlands and the scene presented was not only spectacular but beautiful to behold. A feature of the drill was a star within a handsome circle which was received with such enthusiasm that the rafters in the hall fairly shook. It was a pretty venture for the one in charge, and the ladies looked handsome performing the various evolutions, intricate in their make-up. The sixteen taking part in the drill were as follows: Miss Bertha Lee, Mrs. Marcellus A. Patten, Miss Lillian Carley, Miss Lottie Williams, Miss Edith Davis, Miss Theresa Small, Mrs. C. W. French, Miss Susie C. Whittemore, Miss Ida Johnson, Miss M. Nellie French, Miss Stella Merrill, Mrs. Mary Ruffel, Miss Mabelle Parsons, Miss Olive Haines, Miss A. Jeanette Carley, Miss Leona Fitzgerald. But the drill was not all the grangers enjoyed. There was a fine supper served at the close and it was one of those excellent menus such as the Tewksbury ladies know how to get up for visitors when they have the opportunity and the choice viands were relished by all. The ladies received the highest encomiums for the untiring labor spent in arranging for the entertainment and supper. The committee composed Mr. George D. Forristall, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Parsons, Mrs. Clara Fitzgerald. The visiting grangers left the scene of festivities at a late hour thoroughly refreshed with their evening's diversion, and it was said by many that the drill was such a success that it ought to be repeated at the presentation of the coming operetta, of "The Merry Milkmaids" when the public might be better allowed the privilege of enjoying it. The grange is in a fine condition for carrying out the work for which it was originally intended and the zealous members are feeling elated over the prospects of the coming season, when several entertainments for the members will be given and being planned by those in charge of this feature of sociability which has characterized all their progress since the grange was organized.

A WAY TO SOLVE A VEXING PROBLEM.

That ever difficult question, "Where to go for a vacation?" again confronts us, and a most perplexing problem it is. Northern New England, without a doubt, offers a greater variety of vacation places including lake, mountain and seashore resorts than any other section of the country.

The hotels of this region have no equal. The methods for amusement and recreation include everything that is desired and the easiness by which the tourist can reach his abiding place is a feature which alone speaks for itself.

A perusal of the "New Summer Resort & Tour Book" just issued by the Boston & Maine railroad will help amazingly in selecting your summer outing place. The book has a list of a thousand summer hotels and boarding houses, together with maps, routes, rates and stage connections and is sent to any address, free upon application to the General Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine railroad, Boston. Be sure you get it before you talk vacation.

NORMAL SCHOOL

EASILY DEFEATS ROGERS HALL BY A SCORE OF 4 TO 2.

In the Normal school gymnasium the Normal school basket ball team tried conclusions with an aggregation of basket ball tossers from the Rogers hall school yesterday afternoon. A good crowd was in attendance and the game resulted in a victory for the normal school team by a score of 9 to 1. The feature of the game was the exceptionally clever work of the Misses Crowley and Corkhill of the Normal school team.

YOUNG PEOPLE

OF FREE BAPTIST CHURCHES LISTEN TO ADDRESS.

At the Paige Street church last evening, Mr. Harry Myers, the field secretary of the Baptist Young People's societies addressed a good sized audience. His subject was the "Work of Young People's Societies." He showed in a very interesting way the progress made in the field of late years, and made some suggestions and predictions in regard to future labors. Mr. Myers' words showed what a vast amount of good is done by these societies and the young people connected with them and also how widespread the benefits are. His position as field secretary enables him to speak with certainty on the subject and his address showed that the societies are in a very encouraging and thriving condition.

The Young People's societies of the Mount Vernon, the Chelmsford Street and the Middlesex Village churches united with the Paige Street society at this meeting and were well represented.

After the address, a social time was in order and refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Leon Brown and Mrs. W. H. Upham.

MONTHLY MEETING

OF LOWELL MINISTERS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Lowell ministers held a monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. hall. A good attendance of the clergymen was present, Rev. C. W. Huntington presiding. The matter of the mass meeting to be held in aid of the sufferers from the India famine was discussed. There is much enthusiasm manifested in regard to the meeting, and without a doubt there will be a generous response to the appeals for assistance from the unfortunate natives of India.

Rev. George H. Clarke, the new pastor at the Centralville M. E. church, and Rev. Mr. Dexter of Middlesex village chapel, were introduced to the clergymen and received a cordial welcome.

The meeting adjourned to meet again the second Friday in September, as there will be no session during the summer months.

ENJOYABLE BOX PARTY.

In Pythian hall, last evening, a very enjoyable and largely attended box party was held under the auspices of the A. M. and D. L. club. A program was given including vocal solos, Mrs. Nettie Roberts and Gertrude Feleh; recitations, Bertha Bond, Faith Doty; violin and piano duet, Miss Loretta and Thomas Hannaford; cake walks, Misses Edith May Baldwin and Blanche Bates, Elsie Grant, and Daisy Morgan, and violin solos by Joseph F. Morrill. George L. Hubbard auctioned the boxes off. The affair was successful both pecuniarily and socially.

Immediately following the sale of the plant of the Atherton Machine company on Thursday afternoon the 17th day of May, 1900, the outlying lands belonging to the company will be sold without limit or reserve to the highest bidders, at absolute auction, as below.

AT 3.30 O'CLOCK.

The Red Village—In Three Lots.

First. The five most easterly houses and 6¾ acres of land, possessing a frontage of 197 feet on Rogers street. Of the five houses, two are double ones and face the street; three are two-tenement and extend in a northerly line in rear of the front houses.

Second. The middle row of five houses, and 2 acres of land, carrying a frontage of 86 feet on Rogers street. The large boarding house fronting on the street is in this lot, also four two-tenement houses stretched out in a line in the rear.

Third. The four most westerly houses and 2 2-3 acres of land, having a frontage of 160 feet on Rogers street and 1000 feet on Village street running at right angles from Rogers street. Each house has two tenements.

AT 4 O'CLOCK.

16 acres of land, between Village street and the Allen estate at the corner of Butman road, about equally divided into two lots. The first lot has a frontage of 196 feet on Rogers street; 1000 feet on Village street; is known as the "Base Ball Field," is level, dry, and as high any land in the neighborhood. It wont be long before it is needed for building lots. The second lot has a frontage of 153 feet on Rogers street, and is the nearest Lowell of the two lots. On the lot is an old barn and a large sand bank of the most merchantable sand.

AT 4.20 O'CLOCK.

The Dickey estate, partly in Lowell and partly in Tewksbury, divided into five lots, and sold as follows: The homestead at the corner of Rogers street and Phoenix avenues—Double house, stable and 1¼ acres of land; the land has a frontage of 120 feet on Rogers street and 288 feet on Phoenix avenue, and lays well; two lots of land on Rogers street, just west of the homestead, containing areas of about 1½ acres each, and frontages of 230 feet and 373 feet. Two large lots of land on Phoenix avenue, adjoining the corner lot, containing over 5 acres of land each and having frontages of over 300 feet each.

AT 5 O'CLOCK.

About 4½ acres of land not far beyond the Red Village, and adjoining the first house on the right.

The sale offers a large quantity of real estate to whomsoever will bid the most for it. It will all bear investigation. It is just such unnoticed opportunities as this sale affords that often prove very profitable. The Nesmith street line of electric cars take you within from 3 to 8 minutes' walk of the several premises. You can see a plan of the premises at the office of the auctioneers where all inquiries must be made.

The purchasers of each section of the Red Village must each deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $500 as soon as each section is struck off; the purchasers of each lot of land must each do the same with $250 as soon as each lot is struck off; and the purchaser of the Dickey homestead lot must do the same with $350, other terms at sale.

DANIEL M. RICHARDSON,
PRESCOTT KEYES,
Assignees in Insolvency.

The sale will take place rain or shine.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

TRUSTEES' SALE.

As trustees under the will of the late Sheriff Henry G. Cushing we have had issued to us a license by the probate court of the county of Middlesex to sell at public auction the herewith described real estate on Friday afternoon, the 18th day of May, 1900, regardless of weather, and without limit or reserve, to the highest bidders we shall in pursuance of the aforesaid license sell at absolute auction:

AT 3 O'CLOCK.

36 acres of land extending from Varnum avenue to the Merrimack river, less that which was taken for the state highway. The property is known as the Cushing Farm, adjoins land on the west belonging to the Phineas Whiting estate, and on the east land of Messrs. Howe, Caddell and Pinkham; or about 1-3 mile up Varnum avenue, beyond the point where the Boulevard comes out on same. It is little more than 1-3 of a mile up the state highway, beyond the end of the Boulevard.

On the land is a new and modern three-story stable; battees up for residence, granite for foundation of same, and excavation for cellar already begun. The land about the site for residence has been laid out by Tarbell, the landscape gardener, is down to an extensive lawn and surrounded by an extensive grove of attractive and thrifty trees from 20 to 30 years growth. Between Varnum avenue and the buildings the land is covered with a growth of pine, some of which is very heavy, has been partially trimmed and cleared up and was destined to make a beautiful wooded park. The land between the buildings and the state high way is cleared, is under a high state of cultivation, has an abundance of fruit trees, etc. Leading from the stable is a fine driveway with granite bank wall. The land as a whole is the most elevated in the immediate vicinity south of Varnum avenue, has long frontages on Varnum avenue, the state highway and the river, and the view from the premises is superb. Had the late Sheriff Cushing lived and carried to completion the improvement he designed for the premises he would have had one of the most delightful city-country residences in or about Lowell.

AT 5 O'CLOCK.

16,293 square feet of land on Hale street between numbers 26 and 40 or close to the corner of Hale and Thorndike streets. The land has a frontage of 100 feet on Hale street and extends back to Hale's brook, where the frontage is the same; it lies well for many improvements in a business way or for renting property; it is practically even width; adjoins land of the B. & M. R. R. There have been many tempting offer for it but until now it was not for sale; it can be purchased in one or two lots; it is very accessible, perfectly adapted to a coal business, and equally good for manufacturing industry or wholesale concern.

The purchaser of the "Cushing Farm" must deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $500 as soon as the property is struck off; the purchaser of the Hale street land must do the same with $300; other terms at sale.

You must make all inquiries relating to property or sale at the office of the auctioneers.

JOHN R. FAIRBAIRN,
WM. H. ANDERSON,
Trustees under the will of Henry G. Cushing.

THE FORESTERS

Preparing for the Annual State Convention

TO BE HELD IN THIS CITY

Opening Session Will be Held Tuesday

The annual state convention of the Foresters of America will be held in this city beginning on Tuesday next and judging from the demand already made for hotel accommodations the city will be crowded with strangers.

The visitors are expected here on Monday night.

The convention is scheduled to open at 9 o'clock but it is probable that it will be an hour later before all the delegates come together in Foresters' hall where the business of the convention will be transacted.

William A. Hogan, Esq., chairman of the convention committee will open the proceedings by introducing Mayor Crowley who will extend the freedom of the city to the delegates in a speech of welcome. His Honor's remarks will be responded to by Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger E. H. Flaherty of Fitchburg.

The business session will then be opened by Grand Chief Ranger Daniel F. Fitzgerald of Worcester. He will read his report, after which will be read the reports of the committees on credentials, order of business, law, state or orders, mileage and prediine, goods and effects, acts and decisions, appeals and grievances, orders, finance and resolutions. The report of the auditors, P. B. Ramayne of Worcester, John E. Maguire of Lowell and Patrick Delaney of Fall River will be read, also the reports of the grand treasurer, William H. Barrington of Lowell, the grand secretary, James J. Gallagher, also of Lowell, the grand recording secretary, J. S. Anderson of Fall River, and the report of the trustees. That will complete the business of the first day's session.

For Tuesday evening a grand ball has been arranged for new Huntington hall and it promises to be an elaborate affair. William A. Hogan, Esq., will be general manager and William E. Dwyer, floor director. Hibbard's orchestra will furnish music during the evening and among the features will be a grand march which promises to rival anything of its kind ever held in this city. The convention will close Wednesday and a banquet will be enjoyed that evening.

Found It Out

Many a Lowell Citizen is Finding it Out.

Had the backache a good many years.
And a little worse every year.
Finally could not work at all.
My back took up all my time.
(May sound strange, but it will do it.)
Found out it was kidney trouble talking.
Always talks through the back.
Found out that Doan's Kidney Pills was the remedy.
They always talk through their cures.
They tell Lowell people through Lowell people.
A backache always means kidney trouble.
The beginning is always backache.
The ending may be Bright's disease.
Read the following case of a Lowell citizen who found the remedy in time:

Mr. L. C. Hill of 246 Aiken avenue, says: "I suffered quite a little from pains in my back, aggravated, doubtless, by my work, that of delivery clerk for Mr. H. W. Lock, grocer. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store. Its use soon ended the pains, and I have had no return of them since. Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be of great value in my case."

Doan's Kidney Pills, 50 cents per box. For sale by all dealers. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

GIVEN RECEPTION

Molly Varnum Chapter, Daughters of Am. Revolution

AT HOME OF MRS. SOLON W. STEVENS

Out of Town Guests Also Received

Members of Molly Varnum Chapter, D. A. R., were delightfully entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Solon W. Stevens in Tyler Park. The reception was given by Mrs. Stevens in honor of her guests, Mrs. Grace LeBaron Upham of Boston, an honorary member of Molly Varnum, chapter, and Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, also of Boston. The officers of the chapter assisted in receiving, and the following ladies poured: Mrs. Thomas Nesmith, Mrs. E. M. Burke, Mrs. G. B. Ranlett, Mrs. Franklin Nourse. The young ladies who assisted in the dining room were the Misses Merrill, Miss Lancaster Miss Earle, Miss Lambert, and Miss Farrington. Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Day and Miss Mae Stevens served frappe.

The decoration of the dining room was a beautiful bit of brightness and artistic arrangement. In the centre of the table was a large dish of red and white carnations, heaped in mound-shape, giving the keynote of color. The candelabra were red, and on one side of the table, draped in the centre, was a silken flag, the blue field rising in pyramid shape above the table and giving just the right suggestion of patriotism. In the midst of the red and white table decorations. The effect was beautiful.

Among the invited guests were the officers of Old Middlesex Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution.

After greetings had been exchanged and all had partaken of refreshments, Mrs. Upham was introduced by the host, Mr. Solon W. Stevens, and made a brief address. Mrs. Upham was a Lowell girl, and she does her native city the honor to be proud of her birthplace. "I was born," she said, "in a little old-fashioned cottage in Wamesit street, and was christened in the old Unitarian church, while held in the arms of good old Dr. Miles. I did not stay long enough here to have any school companions, but I still consider myself a Lowell girl, because there is no home like that first home, our birthplace."

Mrs. Upham made reference, in her remarks, to her mother, who was at one time known as Lowell's poet, Mrs. Jane Ermina Locke. She had with her some clippings from the Vox Populi, printed in 1841. There were several poems written by Mrs. Locke for special occasions, and reference was made to a presentation of colors, on the Fourth of July, when Mrs. Locke made the presentation speech, to which Capt. J. M. Varnum responded. Mrs. Upham gracefully disclaimed the credit of the honor done to herself by the chapter, saying that she was honored because of the memory of her gifted and patriotic mother.

Mrs. Titus also addressed the guests briefly, referring to the work which has been taken up by patriotic women, of rebuilding the old frigate "Constitution." She said that the society has received great encouragement in the work. The public call for subscriptions has not yet been issued, but already over $10,000 has been pledged. Mrs. Titus also invited the members of the chapter to visit the old John Adams house in Quincy, which is in possession of the Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution.

Mrs. Upham, by special request, recity an original poem, entitled "Roses, Lillies and Forget-me-Nots." The poem was written on the subject of the Spanish war, and the names of the flowers are indicative of the national colors. One of the ladies present had a brother in the Spanish war, who has recently died. The poem was such a favorite with him that he recited it just before his death, and his sister, remembering that Mrs. Upham was the author, made the request that she should recite it. This touching little incident closed the very pleasant program.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Lowell Cooperative bank, held last night in the board of trade rooms, was a lengthy one, owing to a consideration, by sections, of the amended by-laws. The most important change was in an amendment giving the bank the right to loan money at five instead of six per cent. A large amount of money has been accumulating and the directors have found it a difficult matter to compete with other banks on the rate.

FELL FROM WHEEL

MARTIN CORBETT WAS BADLY HURT.

Martin Corbett, a lad residing at 20 North street, was thrown from his bicycle on Central street near the corner of Charles street last night about six o'clock and was rendered unconscious by the fall. He was picked up and carried into Watson's bakery on Charles street to await the arrival of the ambulance which removed him to St. John's hospital.

At the hospital he regained consciousness and it was found that his injuries consisted of a badly bruised face and the loss of four teeth.

LOWELL HIGH WON.

A close and interesting game of base ball was played in Andover yesterday afternoon between the Punchard High school team of that town and the High school team of this city. The Lowell boys came out victorious by a score of 5 to 1. For the Lowell team, Perry did fine work behind the bat, also leading his team at the bat, scoring four hits. Russell and Bean each gathered three hits and played their positions in good style. The score:

KILLED HIMSELF

Love Undid an 18-Year-Old Boy

FELL DEAD AT GIRL'S FEET

Committed Deed Without Any Warning

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON May 12.—With hope gone from his life and a dreary future stretching before his mental vision, Frank Foush, an 18-year-old boy, living at 17 Mansur street, Roxbury, put a pistol to his head and ended his life at his sweetheart's door in Chelsea last evening.

But little is known by the Chelsea police relative to the boy. At 9.50 last evening a telephone message was received by the police to the effect that a lad had shot himself on Carroll street and requesting that they come and make arrangements to care for the body. Two officers were sent to the scene and found the remains of young Foush lying outside the gate at No. 14. He was dead and the mark of a pistol bullet was to be seen in his left temple.

The story told the police was to the effect that during the early evening the young man had been walking with Miss Nellie Dunkirk of 14 Carroll street and Miss Julia Minnahan of 37 Carroll street. They had not noticed anything peculiar about the young fellow or his actions, and on returning to Miss Dunkirk's gate about 9.30, Miss Minnahan went to her home, leaving the other two talking at the gate. Miss Jennie Dunkirk, a sister of Nellie, and John Tatten came along at this time and all four stood talking at the gate.

Young Foush said he would have to leave them, and suddenly, without another word, so far as the police knew, he drew a pistol from his hip pocket and fired a shot into the fence and a second into his own forehead. He dropped dead where he had been standing.

The other young people were horrified at the act but Mr. Tatten stooped over the lad to see if he could render him any aid. He spoke to him but obtained no response, as the unfortunate young man had died instantly. This was certified to by a physician, who later viewed the remains.

The police took the body to the warerooms of an undertaker on Broadway, where it will be viewed by the medical examiner this morning, and will then be turned over to the relatives of the deceased.

The Dunkirk family declined to talk about the matter last evening, but from a friend of the young woman it was learned that Foush had been keeping company with her for some time. Recently she told him they were both too young to be going about together, and practically declined to receive his attentions any longer.

The girl in question is employed in Chelsea, and last evening when she left her work the young man was waiting for her near her place of business. He accompanied her home to her residence, but declined an invitation to supper on the ground that he was not hungry. He left her and later in the evening called for her to go walking.

Miss Dunkirk took with her for the walk her friend, Miss Minnahan, and they strolled about the pleasanter streets of the city till 9.30, when they arrived at her home, and Miss Minnahan left them standing at the gate.

Just what was said between the two young people before Nellie's sister and her escort come along is not known, but it is supposed it was regarding the words of the girl given to Foush previously.

The conversation after the arrival of the other two young people was general, and the desperate act of the young man was the first intimation the others had of anything unusual.

The scene of the shooting is very near the stables of the Boston elevated railway on Broadway, and it was from there that the call to the police for assistance came. The two pistol reports coming so close together attracted considerable attention, and a large crowd soon gathered and the affair created a good deal of excitement. The pistol used by young Foush was a very cheap weapon of 32 calibre.

FRIGHTENED WOMAN

CREATED A SENSATION IN BROADWAY LAST EVENING.

A large crowd was attracted on Broadway about 8 o'clock last evening by a woman running excitedly up that thoroughfare. Many followed after her and when she ran toward one of the canals they became certain that she was going to jump in, and held her until an officer arrived. She was sent to the police station, where she told Captain Kew that she had no intention of jumping into the canal, but had run from her house near Willie street, to escape from her husband with whom she had serious trouble. She was released after receiving some sound advice from Captain Kew.

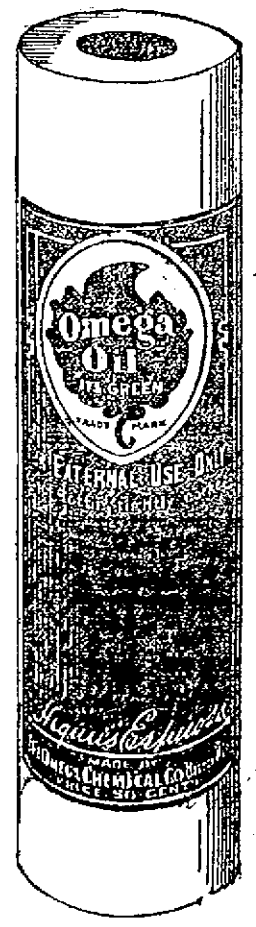
Omega Oil



What It Looks Like

Here is a picture that shows how Omega Oil looks in the drug store. The wrapper on the outside of the bottle is always printed in green ink. The trade mark is a leaf, as the picture shows, with these words upon it: "Omega Oil. It's Green." Down near the bottom is the written signature of Higinio Espinosa, which is a guarantee that the contents of the bottle are genuine. Never under any circumstances buy a liniment unless this trade mark and name are on the wrapper. Never patronize a druggist who tries to sell you something else when you ask for Omega Oil. Always trade at honest stores where they give you what you ask for. Omega Oil stops all pains in the back, shoulders, arms, elbows, wrists, legs, knees, ankles and feet. Rub it in good and hard, and the pains will go away quickly.

The Lourenzo Marques correspondent of the Daily Mail in a despatch dated Friday, May 11, says: "The Boer papers report severe fighting on the western border. The facts are very much confused, but there is enough to show that the Boers admit a British occupation of Taungs."

The Boers are reported to be entrenching themselves around Kroonstad, twenty miles off.

A SAD TRAGEDY

Mother and Child Found Lifeless

BOTH OF THEM HAD TAKEN POISON

Four Year Old Girl Tells the Story

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Mrs. Annie Gumbart was found dead on the floor of her dining room at 124 West 15th street yesterday. Her 5-year-old daughter, Annie, was discovered lifeless on a bed in an adjoining room.

The deaths were explained by a 4-year-old daughter, who was found sitting on the bed beside the body of her sister. The tot's name is Katie, and she said that her mother had given herself and her sister a dose of "medicine" while they were in bed.

"It tasted bad and I wouldn't swallow it," said Katie, and this explains why the child lived to tell the story of the tragedy.

The police are satisfied that Mrs. Gumbart gave poison to her children and then took some herself with suicidal intent.

According to statements made by relatives of the family, Mrs. Gumbart, who was a widow, was a consumptive. It is said that physicians had warned her that one of her lungs was entirely gone, and that it was only a question of time before she would lose the other. She had been much depressed the last few days before she went about her purpose of killing her children and taking her own life.

"I wouldn't mind dying myself," she said, on one occasion, "if I only knew what would become of my children."

Roland Mason discovered the bodies. He carried Katie from the chamber of death, and thence to the home of another Mrs. Gumbart, 453 West 22d street, who is a sister-in-law of the dead woman. Later the police took charge of the child.

Mrs. Patrick Ford, the janitress, said Mason had been known to her as Mrs. Gumbart's husband, as he had paid the rent and taken the receipts. Mason denied the story.

"How can a man who has been out of employment pay rent?" he asked. Mason declared he was only a boarder. He said there was another young man who boarded with Mrs. Gumbart, named Lee Vanwart. This man, however, could not be found by the police.

"I know what the poison is," said Dr. O'Hanlon, "but I will not tell its name until a chemical analysis has been made."

SECRETARY LONG

Will Not Attend the Philadelphia Convention

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 12.—A special from Washington says:

Secretary Long, whose attitude towards the vice-presidential nomination has been made unmistakable by his declaration that he regarded it as an "honor neither to be refused nor sought" will not attend the Philadelphia convention. He is adhering to his determination not to encourage or discourage any movement in his own interest. It is well known that he is receiving flattering letters from all parts of the country in relation to the second place on the ticket and many of his friends allude to the matter. To a representative who called his attention to a paragraph announcing that he had taken rooms at the Hotel Stenton, in Philadelphia, for his headquarters during the convention, Secretary Long said, with deliberate emphasis:

"I have not engaged any rooms in Philadelphia. I do not intend to go to Philadelphia. I would not go to the convention that if I knew by not going I should not receive the nomination for the vice-presidency. I might add that I have not spoken to any one on the subject of the vice-presidency who has not first broached it to me."

HEARING RETURNS

The Sun Megaphoned the Complete Returns

And as Usual Distanced all Others

Over 5000 people crowded Merrimack square in front of The Sun building and in the adjoining streets last evening and listened to the complete returns of the big fight as megaphoned ahead of all the other local papers by The Sun's megaphone artist, Master George H. McDermott, the boy with the orator's voice.

The crowd came early and with it came Lieut. Brosnahan, Sergt. Connors and a detail of patrolmen to assist Officer Bart Ryan of the square beat in maintaining order. Although the officers were kept busy throughout the night in keeping the sidewalk and crossings clear to the pedestrians, the crowd nevertheless was very orderly and two arrests made were occasioned by the boisterous conduct of a couple of jags which came around late.

Shortly after 6 o'clock the crowd began to gather and at 8 o'clock it was with greatest difficulty that the cars got through the square without knocking down some of the interested ones, who forgot everything but the news of the big bout.

As the evening grew into the night the crowd instead of diminishing, increased, the bar room crowds augmenting it at 11 o'clock when The Sun made the first announcement of the final rounds, some three rounds ahead of its contemporary, the crowd was the largest of the night.

Although Jeffries was the favorite in the betting among sporting men, The Sun's great crowd in Merrimack square was decidedly a Corbett gathering and every successful move of the ex-champion from the time he entered the ring until he went down and out in the fatal 23d round, was widely cheered upon its announcement. Numerous small bets were made in the crowd, most on even money, while many bet that Corbett would go the limit. Like the good game crowd that it was it recorded a big cheer to Jeffries when The Sun announced that he had won.

The Sun's wire and megaphone service was the quickest and best ever given in Lowell and gave its contemporaries a striking object lesson.

The Sun kept several rounds ahead of its nearest competitor. The report given to the people last night appears on Page Three.

In the case of John Leach and Maggie Donahue, charged with adultery, probable cause was found and they were ordered to recognize to the commonwealth in the sum of $500 each, to appear at the next session of the superior court.

BIG DEMAND

FOR TICKETS FOR THE "FALL OF SANTIAGO."

The sale of seats for Company M's spectacular production "Fall of Santiago," began at the box office of new Huntington hall this morning and the demand for them is very satisfactory. The performance portrays some of the most romantic incidents of the Cuban war with a great and well-trained cast. The cast includes Lieut. Joseph S. Gillow, George McKenna, William E. Chamberlin, Ralph Hill, Howard Caldwell, Ralph Black, Henry Forbush, James E. Ryan, John Payne, John Murray, Eben Crowell, Miss Lizzie Maguire, Miss Hattie King, Miss May Miller and some 75 others. The production is one of the most elaborate of its kind and judging from the fine work at rehearsal the company will do it full justice. The price of tickets is but 25 cents and those who attend will see Huntington hall transformed for the first time into a theatre with its elevated auditorium seats and its beautiful and complete scenery, settings and properties.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.

About one o'clock this morning, while a number of the people who had been waiting for the returns of the fight, were going up Moody street, they saw a horse attached to a light buggy coming down the street at a rapid gait. When the horse turned the corner into Central street, he came in contact with a stone post badly damaging the buggy. It is thought that the horse was hitched to a post on New Moody street in Pawtucketville and had broken loose, for when he was caught there was a hitch rope tied around his neck. The police took charge of the horse and restored it to its owner.

All Run Down

Large Demands Upon the Physical Strength

Many Miserable People Who Exist But Do Not Live.

Run down men and women are to be found on every hand. They have overdrawn their account with the bank of vitality. They exist, but do not really live. With them, everything is uninteresting and monotonous and life is a blank. Such people need building up — body, brain and nerves. This must be done by toning the stomach and digestive organs and enriching and vitalizing the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great building up medicine. It creates a good appetite, gives digestive power, makes the blood rich, pure and nourishing and restores the exhausted physical system to vigor and vitality. It is just what you need when you feel weak, tired and "run down."

NEELEY'S QUESTION

AS TO LEGALITY OF THE PROPOSED TRIAL.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MUNICE, Ind., May 12.—Charles F. W. Neeley, in an interview has denied the published statement that he was a personal friend and business associate of A. L. Lawshe of Wabash, who has been sent to Cuba, to investigate the alleged postal frauds. Mr. Neeley says he never met the man but once and that for a very brief period last year in Cuba. Neeley would not deny the report that it was his own money that was posted as his $250,000 bond, the amount being drawn from his account with the Union national bank in this city through the Seventh national of New York. Neeley would not say that he will not go back to Cuba for trial, but asks the question: "How can a United States citizen be tried there? How can he be tried here for a crime committed there?"

WALKED IN SLEEP

Chas. Heslin Dropped Two Stories to Sidewalk

AT MAHONEY'S BOARDING HOUSE THISMORNING

Chances for His Recovery are Doubtful

Another probably fatal accident, the result of somnambulism, occurred at Mahoney's boarding house in Colburn street about 4 o'clock this morning, when Charles Heslin, aged about 40 years, walked out of a two-story window while asleep.

Heslin occupied a front room in the building and retired to his bed at his accustomed hour.

About 4 o'clock, while the corporation officer was going his rounds, he found Heslin lying unconscious on the sidewalk, badly bruised, while an open window, directly above him told the story.

The ambulance was quietly summoned and the injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where it was found that he was badly bruised about the head and had sustained a fractured leg. His chances for recovery are doubtful.

CLEVER SWINDLE

Nipped in the Bud by Boston Detectives

INTENDED VICTIM A BANK MAN

"Little Henry" Captured by the Police

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 12.—A bunco game which had as its intended victim, Ira Hilands, a retired market man and bank director, was nipped in the bud yesterday by Chief Inspector Watts and Inspector Wolf and the steerer, who proved to be "Little Harry Witherell," alias John Gardner and Harry Little, was captured after the officers had been given a lively sprint. Early this morning Mr. Hilands was approached by a well-dressed young man on Tremont street, near his residence, who called him by name and represented himself to be a son of a Kansas city bank president named Knowles who had spent the summer with his wife at the White Mountains, where he met Mr. Hilands. He informed Mr. Hilands that he had won two valuable books in the morning and wanted to try to win two others. He said they were a history of the Boston markets and worth $500. Mr. Hilands was much interested and was induced to accompany the young man to the place where the books were to be gambled for. It was a nicely furnished front room on Dartmouth street. Spread out upon a table was a regular green bunco cloth, having the magic numbers upon it. The moment the "steerer" entered, the man behind the "green" remarked: "Oh you're the man who won the two books this morning."

"I know that, but I want two more," said the little man.

The little man won $20 at the game and then said: "Now, I'll lay down my $20 for you, and you play for an inning," Mr. Hilands."

Mr. Hilands played and the little man shouted: "Why, see, you've won $500."

"But just you wait a minute," said the man who operated the game. "I am not going to pay you until I see whether you could have paid me if you had lost. Have you got $500?"

"Yes, I have $500," said Mr. Hilands.

"Well, show your coin."

"I'll go to the bank and get it," replied Mr. Hilands.

Mr. Hilands then left the room and instead of going to the bank he went to Chief Watts' office, laid the case before him and a trap was laid for the bunco men. Mr. Hilands returned to the place with an envelope which was supposed to contain the money, while the officers secreted themselves. As he came near the house, Mr. Hilands was approached by "Little Harry," who after being assured by the former that he had the money, remarked: "Well, we will do these fellows up now. Wait here a minute," and he started towards the house. Mr. Hilands gave the prearranged signal and Chief Watts came into view. As soon as "Little Harry" caught sight of the chief he took to his heels and gave both officers a lively chase but was finally secured.

The party then returned to the room where the lay out was, but the other bunco man had been there and cleaned out everything. In the prisoner's pocket was an excellent "bunco roll" of greenbacks, bound by tape, such as is used in banks and marked $1690. It consisted of two ten dollar bills, one on the top and one on the bottom, with smaller bills scattered through, making a total of $160. But in between the bills were nicely cut slips of green paper which gave the wad the appearance of being a genuine $1000 bundle.

"Little Harry" will be charged with attempting to obtain $960 by trickery.

SECOND ANNUAL

Banquet of Co. C Porto Rican Veterans

HELD AT THE ROCKINGHAM HOTEL

Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year

At the Rockingham hotel last evening the second anniversary of the mustering into the United States service of Company C, Sixth regiment, was fittingly observed with a banquet. The Porto Rican veterans were out in force, the guests including Lieutenant-colonel Butler Ames and Arthur F. Salmon.

An elaborate menu was served early in the evening, after which interesting postprandial exercises were held. Lieutenant Colby T. Kittredge serving as toastmaster. In the way of speech-making, Lieutenant Kittredge made feeling reference to the comrades now fighting in the Philippines and at his suggestion a standing toast was drunk in their behalf. It was then voted that the clerk be instructed to write letters to each of them that they might know that they had not been forgotten by their comrades of the Porto Rican campaign.

Lieutenant Frank G. Rose paid a glowing tribute to the comrades who shed their life's blood in their country's service and at his suggestion a standing toast was then drunk in their memory. Arthur F. Salmon paid an eloquent tribute to Old Glory in stanza and "Break the News to Mother," and other selections were given masterly renditions by Alexander D. Mitchell and Otis Demarais. Russell S. Going presiding at the piano.

Lieutenant-colonel Butler Ames spoke in a reminiscent and facetious vein, of his recollection of experiences in Porto Rico. At the close of the banquet a business meeting was held for the purpose of organizing under the name of Company C, U. S. V. The following officers were elected: Commander, Fisher H. Pearson; vice commander, Lieut. Kittredge; treasurer, John Kelsey; clerk, Leslie Wisner. Rep. Ames was elected an honorary member.

The festivities were prolonged till nearly midnight when an adjournment of one year was taken.

CHAS. MUSSEY

IT IS SAID WILL TURN STATE'S EVIDENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

RUTLAND, Vt., May 12.—Many rumors have been prevalent here for several days to the effect that Charles Mussey, the former cashier of the wrecked Merchants' National bank of Rutland, who is under arrest charged with embezzlement, will turn state's evidence and make a full explanation as to the disappearance of $145,000 or more of the bank's funds. His case will come up before the May term of the United States court which is to open at Windsor next Tuesday afternoon. The rumors have not been verified but there is a general belief that Mussey will plead guilty to charges of embezzlement and misappropriation, and throw himself upon the mercy of the court. It is considered possible that Mussey may not be asked to plead at Windsor, where the grand jury will submit a list of indictments, but that Judge Wheeler will adjourn court to Rutland, and hear the bank case on May 22. The attorneys for Marvin McClure, the local music dealer, who is under arrest on charges connected with the wrecking of the Merchants' bank, expect that his case will go over to another term.

Mussey was recently taken from the house of correction, where he is confined, to the bank, and a conference was held with Bank Examiner Muir and Government Attorney Moore of Washington. He was at the bank two hours, but the exact nature of the conference has not been made public.

JEFFRIES' VICTORY

Won After He Was Hammered by Corbett

CHAMPION JEFFRIES.

The Ex-Champion Put up a Wonderful Fight and Restored Himself in the Esteem of the Sporting World

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 12.—James J. Jeffries is still champion.

He retained his title last night by defeating James J. Corbett at the Seaside athletic club, Coney Island, in the 23d round.

It was one of the greatest glove fights ever seen in this country. Up to the very time the knockout blow was landed it was any one's fight. Then in the 23d round, as they came to a clinch, Jeffries sent in a left-hand swing that landed just under the jaw. More than 100 times he had tried and missed with this same blow.

It resembled a fight between a greyhound and a mastiff. The mastiff would rush and scrap, but the greyhound would trip and run, and so it was until finally the mastiff seized his enemy and it was all over.

So with the two men. Jeffries missed again and again, swinging his great arms with a force that seemed great enough to break iron. Corbett hit him at will and landed four times to Jeffries' once. His cleverness amazed every one.

It was a fair fight, the men breaking clean, and there were really no clinches. When the end came the men were in the corner, and Corbett fell with his head upon the lower rope where he rested as Referee Charley White counted him out.

George Considine, as Corbett went down, rushed along the outside of the ring to throw water upon him. Jeffries rushed to the side and thrust him away. Corbett was carried to his corner.

He soon revived, and, resting upon Considine's shoulder, staggered across the ring and shook hands with Jeffries. Jeffries patted him on the shoulder and he returned the caress. Then Bonner, Corbett's old manager shook hands with him, and congratulated him on his great fight.

Corbett took his defeat good naturedly, and although he smiled, it was a tearful smile, and his eyes were damp with tears hard held.

A FAST FIGHT.

SEASIDE CLUB, Coney Island, May 12.—In the fastest, prettiest and closest heavyweight ring battle ever fought in New York, James J. Jeffries has reaffirmed his right to the championship. In the arena at the Seaside athletic club, last night, he decisively defeated Jim Corbett, once champion of the world himself after 22 rounds of scientific fighting.

It was a clean knockout, and it came so quickly that it dazed the thousands of keen, alert, intent spectators and left them in doubt as to just how the winning blow was delivered.

It was avowed that it was a left-hand jolt to the jaw, but Jeffries himself and Referee Charley White, who stood at his side, say it was a right-hand swing.

There is credit for the victor and credit for the vanquished in this cleverest of ring battles. Jeffries must be awarded the laurels of victory, yet his opponent is entitled to all honor for his most wonderful fight. That feature stands out in relief as the most striking one of the contest.

Corbett emerged from a year's retirement from the ring rejuvenated and fresh. He was as fast and clever as back in the days when people marveled at his skill. His foot work was wonderful and his defense perfect.

He outboxed his man at both long and short range and if he had had the strength necessary would have claimed and early victory. A hundred times he ducked under left swings that would have ended him just as did the punch that finally did.

At times he made the massive Jeffries look like a beginner in the art of offense and defense with the hands. His strategy was to jab and get away and when Jeffries stood over his quivering form his face showed marks of the punishment that he had inflicted.

Corbett went down to defeat that was regretted by a vast majority of the men who filled the hall. The money was against him, but he had a wealth of sympathy. It was probably his natural heritage as the short ender, but after the battle had begun, he won more support by his display of speed and skill.

Jeffries won with his strength, both that strength that lies in the power of massive muscle and that strength which is the essence of vitality. He made the pace for the most of the distance and at the end was still strong and effective.

At first glance the battle may seem to detract a trifle from his reputation for it showed that a fast man can reach him and get away without a return.

It is improbable that there was ever a more orderly affair under the Horton law. There was little betting on the outcome of the battle. There had been so much delay and interference in the earlier stages of the negotiations for the fight and so much doubt created by the former showing of the men, that the betting was killed. In the small sums placed Jeffries was a clear favorite at odds of 2 to 1. Those odds veered at different times at different places during the evening, but 5 to 2 was probably the highest and 5 to 3 the lowest offered. A favorite bet offered was that Corbett would last 10 rounds. There was more Jeffries than Corbett money offered, but there never was at any time any activity in the betting.

Despite the long delay that intervened between the arrival of the men and their entrance into the ring, the crowd was scarcely restless. It was made up of representative elements of the business, professional, theatrical and sporting world. It was only when the battle itself began that hoarse yells came to tell of enthusiasm for a favorite or hope as to money wagered. The reception of the men at the ringside was warm, but not demonstrative.

Jeffries looked rugged, brown and strong. Corbett was clean-looking, white and trim. He said he weighed more than on the day when he defeated Sullivan but he did not look it. He seemed to be in splendid condition.

The crowd showed its first enthusiasm over the announcement that Charley White would referee the fight. There was a roar of applause when he entered the ring. There was a brief wrangle over the bandages on Corbett's hands but he was finally allowed to wear them. The gong soon clanged, and as the men sprang forward there was a silence broken only by the clatter of the telegraph instruments.

In the preliminary sparring Corbett showed to wonderous advantage. He was pantherlike on his feet and darted in and out with confusing speed. He whipped his left into Jeffries' face and was either inside or away from the punch. Jeffries kept going in, but he seemed awkward The pace made by the champion was fast, and there was a yell of satisfaction from the spectators when the round ended.

Jeffries kept on making the pace when they were at it again, but Corbett slipped away from him. Jeffries would try his left in a rush, but Corbett was almost invariably away from it.

There were murmurs of approval that at times broadened into cheers: Corbett was outboxing his man and outpointing him with his lefts to the face. They were both fighting carefully, for while Corbett had the speed and cleverness he found Jeffries hard to get to.

Jeffries fought in his crouching attitude. He quickly began to use his strength and in the clinches threw a little of his strength on to his opponent. Corbett showed surprising ability against him, and it was long before the strength of the champion began to tell.

When Corbett saved the 10-round money, there was a strong chance in sentiment toward him. Jeffries' supporters began to be dubious. Jeffries was grim and resolute and kept at his man relentlessly. Corbett kept his wit and strength and avoided him. It was youth and strength with a fair measure of skill pitted against the master of the sport. The exhibition was a fine one and the pace and one that would have told against any man not perfectly prepared.

By the 17th round, Jeffries maddened by the danger of marring his reputation, began a series of desperate rushes in which he mixed it up fiercely with Corbett. He seemed angered by the jabbing at his face and wanted to end it with a swing from left or right. Corbett had begun to show the pace, but while his punches lacked force, he was still speedy on his feet. He contented himself with avoiding punishment. It became simply a question of how long that sort of game could be kept up.

At the 20th round, it looked as if Corbett would stay the limit and popular judgment awarded him victory. He had so far avoided any serious punishment. His defense was still perfect, and he was smiling and confident. He either side-stepped from Jeffries' terrible rushes or ducked into clinches. Jeffries was hammering away, however, and was strong and game.

The end came with the suddenness of a shock. The men had had two fierce rallies, followed each time by long-range sparring, and were in together again. They were both fighting fast and hard. Suddenly there was a report of a sharp blow, and Corbett dropped. It needed no count to tell that Corbett's hopes of the championship again were vain.

The excited spectators sprang to their feet and for a moment there were cheers and calls. The confusion was but momentary, however, and in a silence that was most remarkable Corbett was carried to his corner.

Some one called for cheers for Jeffries but the crowd refused to give them. When a moment later a friend of Corbett put the question 1000 throats echoed a kindly response. It was in the corner of the defeated man, too, that the crowd gathered and there were more solicitous offers of aid for him than there were congratulations for the victor.

STORY OF THE FIGHT.

The fight by rounds:

Round 1—Jeffries forced Jim, with Corbett breaking ground and sprinting. He forced Corbett to ropes landing right to the body. Corbett sent hard left to face and Jeff landed light left. Corbett still shifty and breaking ground and hooked left to nose. He kept up his sprinting and sent another left to Jeff's head. Jeff tried left and right, but Corbett blocked cleverly and hooked another left to face. Corbett backed away and tantalized his opponent by his clever movements. Corbett banked left to face. Jeff then sent right to the body and Corbett countered with left on head. This was Corbett's round on points.

Round 4.—They rushed to a clinch, after which Jeff hooked a left to the head. Corbett tried a right to the body, but fell short. Jeff sent his right over to the head. They sparred for a spell with Corbett breaking ground, and then Jeff forced Corbett to the ropes, sending his left to the body. A moment later he repeated this blow and Corbett looked worried. At close quarters, Jeff put his right to the head and as they broke he came back quickly with right to body. Then a right and left from Jeff to the head jarred Corbett. Jeff followed up with another terrific left on the neck and Corbett was very tired when the bell rang.

Round 5—Corbett resumed the contest with evident relish, but he was very anxious meanwhile. Jeff got to him at close quarters with light left to body, and Corbett failed to reply. Corbett feinted with his right, but Jeff called the bluff and hooked his left to the body. Corbett sparred cleverly, sending left to body and after a little shifty work hooked left twice to head. Jeff attempted a left hook for the jaw, but Corbett ducked and sent another left to the jaw. Jeff then crowded in and rushed Jim to the ropes, putting left hard to the body. Jeff forced the fighting and sent left to face and body with telling effect just before the bell sounded.

Round 6—Corbett sprang to the center of the ring, but Jeff was ready for him. "Don't let him get set," said George Considine. "Watch him, Jim. He can't hit you in a week." A second later Jeff made a straight left to the face. Corbett made an ineffectual try for the head. Three clinches followed with the honors in Jeff's favor, and Corbett was compelled to shift continually to avoid the champion's leads. Corbett used his legs for safety to the end of the round without having scored a semblance to a blow.

Round 8—Corbett rushed in with a left to the body, which was blocked, and Jeff forced him to the ropes with a right smash to the chest. Corbett hooked left to head and Jeff countered to stomach. Corbett hooked left to head and got away clean. Jeff made a bull rush, sending his left to wind without a return. Jeff kept on forcing, but was very wild in his delivery, as he missed three left hooks for the head. Corbett dodged all three in the smartest manner. Jeff kept on forcing the pace and landed left on the neck, Corbett countering with the right hook to the head. Corbett stepped in and got in a corking good right to the ribs and ducked Jeff's counter. The bell found them sparring.

Round 9.—Both led lefts to head and clinched. Then Corbett hooked left to the head and swung right to jaw, staggering Jeff. Corbett followed up with another right swing to the jaw, but it was not so hard as the previous one. Jeff came in with a left to body, and in the breakaway Corbett swung a terrific right to the jaw, which made Jeff look very groggy. Corbett seeing his advantage put his left and right quickly to the head and hooked another hard left to the jaw. Jeff sent back a hard left swing to the head. Corbett was the cleverer in the exchange which followed, and he landed his left with provoking regularity on Jeff's face, much to the latter's detriment. This was certainly Corbett's round and the best round of the fight thus far.

Round 10.—Corbett opened with a left to the head and ducked the return. Again he hooked left to the ear, blocking Jeff's attempt for the body. Jeff then was on the aggressive, but Corbet, quick as lightning, sent left and right to the face, and had the big fellow guessing before he knew where he was at. Corbett kept foreing, and with another left to the nose made the boiler-maker's nasal organ bleed profusely. Jeff was very wild, swinging at random, while Corbett kept landing left-hand jabs on neck and face. Jeff made several rushes, but to no purpose, and Corbett's stock went booming. Corbett was loudly cheered at the end of the round.

Round 11—Corbett opened with left to the body and Jeff rushed him to the corner, but failed to land effectively. He tried a left swing for Corbett's head, but Corbett dodged it and sent right and left to the body. Corbett sent two left jabs to Jeff's mouth, bringing the blood from the champion's lips. Jeff seems to be rattled at this stage, and Corbett found no difficulty in getting his left to the face. Jeff tried several left swings, but Corbett got under them and hooked his right hard over to the body twice. Jeff jabbed Corbett in the face under the jaw. Corbett did not seem phased by these blows, and walked to his corner smiling.

Round 13.—Both were careful. Jeff tried left half a dozen times, but Corbett got out of range. Jeff tried right again to head, but Corbett shifted inside of the lead and clinched. Jeff hooked left to neck and rushed Corbett to the ropes. Corbett came back quickly and they clinched twice without doing any injury to each other. Jeff made a bull-dog rush, sending left to body and right to the head, putting Corbett to the ropes, staggering him. Jeff crowded in and forced the pace which was evidently too hot for Corbett, and the bell sounded none too soon.

Round 17—Corbett ran into a left smash on the face but countered with hard left on the ear. Jeff looked desperate and rushed at Corbett like a wild man. Corbett met his rushes with left jabs to face and the best that Jeff sent back was a right to the ribs. Coming to close quarters Corbett drove right to body and hooked left to the face. Jeff landed left to body and then drove his right hard for the chest, but Corbett blocked the blow. A hard left on the body from Jeff almost took Corbett off his feet, but Corbett held on pluckily and skipped around out of danger when it looked as if he was bound to lose. This was Jeff's round.

Round 19—Jeff tried two lefts for the body, but they were blocked. Then Jeff hooked left to head and Corbett sent back a left swing to the jaw. Jeff rushed and forced Corbett to the ropes, sending left to body and right to neck. Jeff knocked Corbett to the floor with a right smash to the ear. Corbett got up like a flash as if the fall had not taken the steam out of him. Jeff kept crowding in, using his left to the ribs and neck. Corbett countered with straight left jabs to the face. In a clinch Jeff sent his right twice to the kidneys and had all the better of the round at the close.

Round 20—Jeff rushed at his man like a mad bull, but Corbett side-stepped and sprinted out of harm's way, sending a straight left to the ribs as he went. Jeff rushed again, but Corbett got inside his lead and fouled him. He threw his body against the champion's chest and blocked every blow. Corbett stepped to either side every time Jeff tried to land and shipped two hard left swings. Jeff succeeded in landing left on the neck. Corbett countered on the ribs. Corbett's foot work was extremely clever in this round and he surprised everybody who watched him. Jeff seemed disappointed at not being able to land a telling blow.

Round 21—Corbett opened with left on the face. Jeff rushed him into a corner, where Corbett slipped quickly and evaded a right swing for the head. Jeff kept boring in, but Corbett met him at every turn, blocking cleverly. Corbett hooked right to the stomach, and Jeff sent two lefts to head. Jeff jabbed left hard on the chest and hooked to the face. Corbett countering with his right to the ear. At close quarters Jeff hooked right to head and in the clinch which followed lay heavily over his opponent. In the breakaway Corbett landed light right on the head and sprinted to the ropes, where another clinch occurred without any more harm being done.

IVORY SOAP is a skin soap. On one square inch of your hand there are 2,800 pores. On the whole body you have 2,381,284 of these little cavities to look after. Every one of these openings must be kept clear, or the impurities of the body can not pass out. Now, to cleanse the pores, you need a fine, pure soap. Scientists who speak not from opinion, but from scientific analyses, urge the use of Ivory Soap. 99 44/100 per cent. pure.

CHEATED

The merchant who pays for advertising and doesn't get it, cries out that advertising doesn't pay. He is wrong. Advertising pays if you get it. If you pay for any commodity that is never delivered, you lose money on it, just the same as you lose on advertising that you pay for but never get.

When merchants learn to buy their advertising space in the newspapers as they buy their merchandise—by measure and weight, it will pay them. Buy space by the inch per thousand of circulation and see that you get what you pay for. Then you will never be cheated in advertising and it will pay you. The Sun will give you more advertising for your money than any other paper in Lowell. It is

LOWELL'S POPULATION 100 YEARS HENCE.

Taking the population of Lowell in 1826 as 2,720, the figures obtained from the records unearthed from the First Baptist church foundation, there is room for a nice little problem in arithmetic to approximate the population of this city at the end of the next century providing the annual rate of increase be the same.

The population in 1826 was 2720 and in 1900 it is 90,000, a difference of 87,280, which is the increase for 74 years. This shows an average increase of 1,179 per year. Multiply this number by 100 on the assumption that we shall have an equal increase every year for the next century and the total increase in our population by the end of the century would be 117,900 which added to our present population would make 207,000. Of course, if our citizens manage to keep the tax rate as high as at present and if the mills through the hold which the Locks and Canals have on the water power, keep out all other industries, the rate of increase may not be as great as it was in the past 74 years. With a view to gathering in a population of this size, the city should adopt some system of laying out our streets so that they may not resemble those of Boston in angularity and width. At the present time the owner of a piece of land has but to lay it out in streets to suit his convenience without regard to their relation to other streets, their direction or width. Thus the streets of the city run in all possible directions without any sign of system or order. It is time the street department should plan for the convenience of the 207,000 people who will reside here in the year 2000, so that it will not be necessary to widen the streets or run elevated cars or construct subways under the business portion of the city.

MacQUEEN ON THE WAR.

Rev. Peter MacQueen, writing from South Africa, states that even the Englishmen who reside there assert that Africa should be left to the Africanders and that in time there will be a union of South African states similar to the union of states in North America. He describes in a graphic style the hatred which the Boers entertain for English rule and asserts that this feeling is not confined entirely to the Boers, but is shared by Germans, Frenchmen and others of European nationality who have gone there to escape the tyranny of European governments. He says that the Boer women have organized companies of crack shots to take the places of their husbands and brothers if the latter fall in battle or are disabled by sickness. He also states that if eventually the English capture Pretoria, the Boers will trek northward and occupy the hills of Zoutpansburg, where they could hold out long enough for England to get into other difficulties either in South Africa or elsewhere.

The republicans all over the country are turning up their noses at the decision of Judge Lochren of Minnesota that Porto Rico is under the constitution. But in the end the highest tribunals in the land may be forced to concur in Lochran's views on this important question.

Corbett made the best fight of his life despite his defeat. Jeffries' superior weight and strength alone saved him from going down before Corbett's scientific tactics, his repeated blows on the face and his agility in warding off and ducking blows. Jeffries can knock out any man with one blow if he succeeds in landing squarely. In this he succeeded in the 23d round and Corbett was floored by a blow that would have felled even a fresher and a stronger man.

The enormous crowd that thronged Merrimack square last night to listen to the report of the fight from The Sun megaphone was probably the largest ever seen there on any occasion. The Sun's report of the fight was taken direct from the wire and was given with marvellous promptness and precision. At no time was the report more than five minutes behind the time of the actual occurrences in the ring. The crowd that gathered around the different newspaper offices that gave out the report represented their comparative circulations.

The Boers retire before Roberts' force only to escape being surrounded. Recent dispatches told that the Boers had a fighting front of 20 miles width, but that the British front was necessarily wider. An army almost as large as the entire Boer force, is detailed to try a flank movement on either side of the Boer front and thus to escape being surrounded the Boers have to fall back. This will continue until the Boers get to the hills in the Transvaal, where such tactics by the British will be impracticable.

Notice how quickly Gen. Roberts reduced Kitchener to comparative obscurity and subserviency—the man who requested only the permission from Her Britannic Majesty to chop off a head wherever he saw fit. That high dignitary, the butcher of Khartoum, is no longer the co-partner with Roberts in conducting the war, but a subordinate of the most ordinary type.

The state machine which has ruled republicans of Connecticut for years, has won another victory over the Pessenden faction which tried to smash it and hence boss rule will continue in that state for some time. This should pave the way for democratic victory next fall.

So the Duke of Marlborough is to return home. The feather-bed soldiers soon succumb to the hardships of the field, even though they are permitted to skulk in the rear.

Some people like to read about other peoples' troubles in police court, but dislike very much to figure themselves in the newspapers. Now, as a friend remarked today, if a man gets into court and the airing of his private affairs becomes of public interest, he can be reckoned as nothing but unreasonable if he finds fault with the newspapers which prints the court proceedings in relation to his case. And yet how many people there are who, getting into the newspapers after that manner, berate the newspapers and their editors outright. If people desire to be kept out of the newspapers in that respect, they must keep out of courts. If they get into court or politics, they might as well make up their minds beforehand that not all the newspapers published will look upon them in just the light which they think they should. They must expect that things will be said about them which are not pleasant to their ears. If they are honest men they will accept that condition of affairs as a matter of course; but if they are narrow and weak mentally they will rave and make pitiable spectacles of themselves because newspapers refuse to make these particular persons exceptions to the rule that would lay all such matters fairly before the public.

From ankle neat to
Dainty finger tips;
And there,
Hosts of others—all most
Gleefully parade;
With some in stripe
And some in plaid and some
In checks arrayed;
And some are silken, some
Are wool, some linen,
Some pique,
And e'en the flannel and
Nearsilk are seen
In the array;
And some do blaze like
Coals of fire, while some are
Verdant quite,
And every shade of yellow, blue,
Red, green is in sight;
And thus when warbling zephyrs
Kiss the early leafing tree,
The streets
Become kaleidoscopes
Of femininity;
And marvel of all marvels, each
Bright damsel feels that she
Doth wear by far the Sweetest waist
Of all
That company.
All maidens love the
Summer waist, the waist of
Giddy hue,
And laddies love to love the maids,
Who love this loving, too!
So here's a toast, a merry toast,
To maidens sweet, encased
Within the
Gay, alluring, neat and giddy
Summer Waist.

A BIG SWINDLE

Unearthed by the Special Treasury Agents

100 SACKS OF WOOL WERE SEIZED

Said to Have Been Smuggled Into This Country

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 11.—Special treasury agents, under the direction of Agent Converse J. Smith of this city have just unearthed what they allege to be one of the biggest and most barefaced swindling schemes ever attempted at this port.

The records of the custom house show that special employe Dunn has seized 101 sacks of wool, valued at $5000 in this city, Lawrence, Mass., and Bristol, R. I. It is said the wool was shipped from Canada through St. John, N. B., to Grand Manan Island off Eastport. There it was taken by English vessels out to sea and reloaded into American vessels, then taken to American territory and loaded on cars in the same manner as wool brought into port by coastwise vessels on which no duty is demanded.

The special agents says that as near as they can estimate fully $10,00 worth of wool has been smuggled into this country through the port of Boston during the past year.

$5,000 HIDDEN IN CHAIR.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SOMERVILLE, Mass., May 11.—Interested persons who were examining the effects of Mrs Annie Clarke, who died here April 13, of pneumonia and who was thought to be in destitute circumstances, have found bank books representing deposits of money close on to $5,000 secreted in an old chair. LOUD EXPLOSION

GUNCOTTON PLACED ON THE CAR TRACKS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ST. LOUIS, May 11.—While a car on the Lindell line was going west at Garrison and Washington avenue this morning a man placed a white object on the rail. The motorman paid no attention to it and did not check his car. When the wheels struck the object there was a deafening report and the car was surrounded with smoke.

Passengers were terrified, but no injury was done to the car and no one was hurt. The substance placed on the track is supposed to have been guncotton. There is no clue to the identity of the man who deposited the explosive on the track.

Before leaving for Jefferson City, Governor Stephens said: "I do not think the situation has reached a stage where it is expedient or necessary to call on the militia. When I am satisfied that the police authorities cannot cope with the situation, I shall not hesitate to call out the military arm of the state."

While there is no immediate necessity for a sheriff's posse, Sheriff Pohlman has been asked by the police officials to be in readiness to furnish men if called upon to do so.

According to President Krelin of the Central Trades and Labor Union, the strike may assume vast proportions if not soon settled.

"It is a fight of unionism for its very existence," he says, "and must be won if it takes every union man in St. Louis to do it. Members of the leading labor unions in St. Louis have assured me that their members are willing to go out on a sympathetic strike and only await the word of their officers."

Arrangements are being made for a mass meeting of union labor Sunday when the question of a sympathetic strike will be discussed.

In east St. Louis where all the employes of the East St. Louis Electric Railway company were ordered to strike yesterday, in order to enforce the demands for the re-instatement of discharged men and a re-adjustment of wages and hours, most of the lines are running today. The crews of only ten cars are out. No trouble there is anticipated.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am sixteen years old and am troubled with my monthly sickness. It is very irregular, occurring only once in two or three months, and also very painful. I also suffer with cramps and once in a while pain strikes me in the heart and I have drowsy headaches. If there is anything you can do for me, I will gladly follow your advice."—MISS MARY GOMES, Aptos, Cal., July 31, 1899.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—After receiving your letter I began the use of your remedies, taking both Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am now regular every month and suffer no pain. Your medicine is the best that any suffering girl can take."—MISS MARY GOMES, Aptos, Cal., July 6, 1899.

Nervous and Dizzy

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my thanks to you for the great benefit I have received from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered constantly from terrible sideache, had chills, was nervous and dizzy. I had tried different kinds of medicine but they all failed entirely. After taking three bottles of Vegetable Compound and three of Blood Purifier I am all right. I cannot thank you enough for what your remedies have done for me."—MISS MATILDA JENSEN, Box 18, Ogdensburg, Wis., June 10, 1899.

THE CURFEW

WILL RING IN CAMBRIDGE TONIGHT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 11.—As the result of an order by Mayor Edgar B. Champlin to Chief of Police Cloyes, the curfew will be rung in this city tonight. Although the curfew ordinance was passed here about two years ago, it has not been enforced and so flagrant have been the violations of its provisions that the mayor has decided that the ordinance shall be lived up to. All children under 16 years of age who are unaccompanied by persons older than themselves or who are without a written permission from their parents or guardians, must not remain on the street after 9.30 o'clock or they will be arrested.

AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPION.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, May 11.— H. H. Hilton, of the Royal Liverpool Golf club is the amateur gold champion of the year having defeated Robb by 3 and 7 today in the final round of championship tournament which began at Sandwich Tuesday last. Hilton has three times and Robb has once previously contested in a final tie without success.

The condition today were excellent. Hilton finished the first round of 18 holes with 2 up. His score was 79, while the total of Robb, who represented the St. Andrews' club was 83.

MILITARY ACADEMY BILL.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The military academy appropriation bill was completed today by the house committee on military affairs, the total amount allowed being $646,935, a slight increase over last year.

PRIVATE PENSIONS

WERE CONSIDERED BY THE HOUSE TODAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—This was private pension day under the rules. Some of the preliminary routine business was transacted before the regular business was demanded. Mr. Escher (Wis.) called up a bill to amend the law to provide for the commutation of travel and subsistence allowances of discharged officers and soldiers. He explained that the bill proposed to allow a uniform rate of four cents per mile for officers and enlisted men. The bill was passed.

While this bill was considered, Governor Roosevelt of New York came into the hall. He was warmly greeted and held quite a levee in the republican cloak room. Later he ascended the speaker's rostrum and attracted much attention as he talked with Speaker Henderson. The regular order was then demanded and the house went into committee of the whole to consider private pension bills.

FREE STATERS HAVE LARGE FORCE

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MASERU, Basutoland, Thursday, May 10.—The Free Staters are concentrating strongly in good positions on the Koranaberg hills, lying eastward of the direct line from Thabanchu to Winburg. President Steyn was with them yesterday but is believed to have gone northward after inspiring the burghers with stories of approaching Boer successes through the assistance of thousands of foreigners, who, he said, were pouring into Delagoa Bay.

General Rundle's division camped yesterday evening on the banks of the Little Leeuw river between Thabanchu and Ladybrand.

YALE LOSES A COACH.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., May 11.—One of Yale's best known coaches and athletes James Otis Rodgers, '98, will no longer be available to coach crews and football teams. He has just left the Harvard law school to go into business in the west. He was captain of the Yale football eleven in his senior year, rowed on the 'varsity crew at Henley, had been coach of freshmen crews for two years, and was head coach of the football eleven last fall.

ICE BOUND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

KINEO, Moosehead Lake, Me., May 11.—The steamer Katahdin made an attempt to get through the ice from Moosehead to Greenville Wednesday afternoon. Up to a late hour last night she had not been heard from, and she was not in sight from either Greenville or Moosehead. She probably lies icebound somewhere between the two points and has been so for 36 hours.

Such an occurrence has no parallel in the history of the lake. The steamer Louisa made an attempt to get up the lake from Greenville yesterday, but was forced to turn back. The steamer Kineo made another unsuccessful attempt to reach the northern; carry yesterday. The weather is holding cold, and the wind is in an unfavorable quarter. The ice remains practically as it was three days ago.

COL. BURTON'S REPORT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Colonel C. H. Burton of the inspector general's department, who conducted the investigation in the administration of the postal service in Cuba, arrived here today and had a conference with Secretary Root before the latter's departure for the cabinet meeting. Colonel Burton turned over to the secretary several documents showing the principal facts developed by his investigation. Secretary Root took these papers to the White House.

THE CUBAN TEACHERS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WHITMAN, Mass., May 11.—Supt. of Schools Hobbs of this place, who recently wrote to A. E. Frye, superintendent of schools in Cuba, expressing interest in the project to bring Cuban teachers to the Harvard summer school this year and a desire to have the Whitman teachers meet the visitors, has received a very cordial reply from Mr. Frye. The letter from the superintendent in Cuba says in part:

"The attitude of the American teachers toward the Cuban teachers moves me deeply, as it is moving the people of this entire island. There is no doubt that the expressions of good will arising out of the plan of carrying the Cuban teachers to Harvard have done more to establish confidence in the minds of the Cuban people than all the other acts of the American government together. From one end of Cuba to the other, not only teachers but the people at large are wildly enthusiastic over the proposed trip."

CUTTER DAMAGED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GLASGOW, May 11.—The racing 65-footer Isolde, now owned by F. M. Hoyt of New York, had a narrow escape off the Cumbraes yesterday. As she was working her way out of the Clyde she ran into the steamer Tartar, striking the latter's port bow, and it is simply a piece of the greatest luck that the yacht was not sunk. Her rail was smashed and she received other slight damages, and put back for repairs.

The 65-footer Astrild, owned by J. H. Harman of New York, started with the Isolde, and it was believed the pair would have an ocean race under short canvas. The Astrild, however, kept on, with Capt. Hamilton, who had charge of the Shamrock, as navigator, on board.

Sir Thomas Lipton will receive the Glasgow exhibition committee tomorrow in regard to their request for him race his yacht during the Glasgow exhibition next year, instead of going across for the America's cup.

MALDEN PIGEONS FOUND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 11.—The carrier pigeon found at Deer Island yesterday afternoon belonged to George Horsman of Malden, as did also a bird captured in Provincetown yesterday. These are two of the 15 birds liberated from a French liner 300 miles at sea last Friday. Fifteen more birds will be liberated today from an outgoing French liner, and 10 more which were carried to France will be liberated from a return steamer due in New York Saturday, and are expected in Malden Friday afternoon.

The owners of these pigeons are having hard luck. There has been a heavy off-shore breeze blowing for a month, and out of some 15 birds liberated only one has reached the home loft in Malden with a message. The steamship company has been making similar experiments on the French side, but has had much better luck on account of more favorable conditions.

POPULISTS' OFFICIALS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 11.—The national committee of the populist party held a meeting here today to effect organization and elect officers. There was a lively contest over the chairmanship between the friends of the former chairman, Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina, and George F. Edmiston, chairman of the Nebraska state committee. The contest also extended to other national offices with the exception of the treasurer, for which position George F. Washburn of Massachusetts, was apparently the chief candidate.

FAIR SIZED INCREASE.

Boston & Maine gross and net earnings for the first quarter of the current calendar year shows a fair-sized increase, and the surplus for the quarter amounts to $28,143, against a deficit last year of $20,543 for the corresponding three months. This gives an increase of $47,677 on the surplus account, due partly to a decrease of $19,579 in charges. On the whole, therefore, the statement is a gratifying exhibit for the stockholders to peruse, especially in view of the fact that expenses were not met in a parsimonious manner but actually increased by upwards of $532,069 for the period under review.

BORROWED $15,000,000.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 11.—It is reported in Wall street that the Pennsylvania has borrowed $15,000,000 in the local market for one year at 4 per cent. with privilege of renewal. A part of the borrowed money is supposed to be used for paying for the stock of the Long Island railroad company.

$1000 DAMAGES

BOY GETS VERDICT FOR BEING KICKED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 11.—One thousand dollars was the price which a Middlesex county jury fixed yesterday for a kick administered to a boy. Ex-Alderman Peter F. Rourke of Cambridge was the defendant in a suit brought by Leo F. Martin, a boy of 10 years, for injuries received at the hands, or rather feet, of the defendant. Coakley & Coakley appeared for the plaintiff, and H. H. Winslow for the defendant.

Rourke testified that Martin was one of a crowd of boys who had done great damage to his tenement property on many occasions and on May 22, 1899, finding the youngster on his premises, he pushed him away. He had been annoyed for some time, and when he saw a group of boys looking at a shattered window of his house, which had been repaired only the day before, Rourke kicked the Martin boy, who was not able to get away.

Young Martin told the story in a somewhat different way. He denied completely in the mischievous damage. He said he was walking along Webster avenue, Cambridge, with a couple of playmates when Rourke jumped from his carriage and kicked him, felling him to the ground.

He was corroborated by his playmates. After arguments of counsel, the jury retired and returned a verdict within an hour of $1000 for the plaintiff.

HO! FOR BOSTON

CARS CAME THROUGH THIS MORNING

Fifteen Minute Time to Billerica Centre

The first cars of the new Boston, Lexington & Lowell street railroad came into Merrimack Square shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. The first car was in charge of Motorman Hickey of the Broadway line of this city and Conductor Frank Rourke of the Gorham street line.

Three closed cars followed each other along and their appearance here announced the opening of the new trolley line which promises to excel any electric car in the state for convenience and beauty of scenery.

The last spikes were driven at Billerica Centre last night and at daybreak all was in readiness for the opening of the new line which connects Lowell with the Hub, making the Spindle City the second greatest electric railroad center in New England.

The cars which first came up were eight-wheelers with two trolleys closed and vestibuled. They are longer and wider than the Lawrence and Nashua cars and might well be termed the Pullmans of the electric cars. The seats are arranged as on a steam car, and the vestibules are an innovation, the motorman being partitioned off from the standing room on the platforms, so that passengers will not interfere with him in his work at the brakes.

The cars are operated by air brakes, a wheel taking the place of the old-fashioned brake handle. The open cars which came up later are even bigger than the vestibule cars, being 18 inches wider. The vestibule cars cost $7030 each.

The first regular car today left Merrimack Square at 6.45 with a number of curious passengers on board. After that, they are running every half hour and the last car will leave the square at 10.15 o'clock tonight. Thus it remained for the street railroad to enable visitors to Lowell from Boston to remain here in the evening. It has often been complained by Bostonians visiting here that they could not get back to the Hub at night without starting almost immediately after supper. The electrics partially remedy this inconvenience by sending two cars to Boston after the last train has gone at 9.25 o'clock. All cars on this line connect for or go through to Boston. The change of cars is made at Arlington Heights, where the cars of the West End street railroad are taken. The fare from Lowell to Arlington Heights is 25 cents and from Arlington Heights to Boston is 5 cents additional. The through fare thus being 30 cents. The time for a through trip at present is 2 hours and 45 minutes, though it is believed that this will be cut down considerably when the road gets in working order. The regular schedule starts tomorrow when the first car leaves the square at 6.15 o'clock and every half hour after until 10.15 p. m.

On the first car in this morning were Supt. William H. Greene of the Lexington & Boston road and Supt. Morris Nash of the Lowell & Suburban. Supt. Greene is well known in Lowell and drove a horse car here some years ago. He is now superintendent of one of the most promising roads in New England.

The people of Billerica are highly pleased with the new road, for it means 15-minute time to Billerica Centre henceforth. The Lynn cars leave Merrimack Square on the even half hours while on the Lexington line they leave on the even quarters. As both lines go through the Centre there is 15 minute time to that pretty suburb.

If the companies will only make the fare to the Centre 5 cents and the trip to Boston 25 cents, the public will be well satisfied.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

NOW ENGAGED TO CLARENCE MOORE

Her Father Wanted no Beggared Prince in His Family

Miss Mabelle Florence Swift, the only daughter of H. C. Swift, has become engaged to Clarence Moore of Washington, D. C. Early in the fall the engagement of Miss Swift to Prince Alexis Karagorgevitch, the pretender to the Servian throne was the talk of Newport and Pride's Crossing, where the Swifts have a magnificent home and are social leaders. Prince Alexis met Miss Swift in Paris at the home of Miss Fanny Reed, sister of the late Mrs. Paran Stevens and followed her to America. He became the house guest of the Swifts and was the lion of all occasions until a premature publication of his engagement to Miss Swift aroused the ire of her father. When the prince laid the matter before Mr. Swift and asked his consent, he was told that if Miss Swift married him, she would be disinherited. The prince departed on the next steamer for Paris, where he is now a frequent guest at the home of Miss Reed and an ardent admirer of American heiresses with more tractable fathers.

Friends of Miss Swift in Washington died in this announcement a welcome assurance that the young beauty is free from the entanglements of a foreign fortune hunter.

Miss Swift has frequently visited

MISS MABELLE FLORENCE SWIFT, ENGAGED.

Washington, where she has many friends and relatives. Her fiance, Clarence Moore, is a popular member of resident society. He is master of hounds and secretary of the Chevy Chase club. He is also a member of the Metropolitan and the Alibi clubs. Mr. Moore has a large private fortune, but he is not so well provided financially as Miss Swift, who is the millionaire's heiress. Miss Swift is well known in Lowell, but resides mostly in Boston and Newport, R. I. She is heiress to $50,000,000. The story of her betrothal to the Prince Karagorevitch was published in The Sun last September and caused quite a sensation, but the affair was brought to a speedy termination by Mr. Swift's announcement that if she married the European adventurer she would be disinherited. The fortune-hunter departed as soon as he found that the intended father-in-law refused to sacrifice his daughter and her fortune as well.

DYING MAN

RE-UNITED BY MARRIAGE WITH HIS SECOND WIFE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BALTIMORE, May 12.—The resulting of a divorced couple by a marriage ceremony at the death bed of the husband, an octogenarian, occurred at midnight last night in Woodberry, a suburb of this city.

For many years James Brown and his wife lived happily together. He was a widower at the time of his marriage and 25 years older than his wife. Ten years ago disagreements arose between them which led to a divorce.

After the separation Mrs. Brown went to New York to live, and Mr. Brown spent several years in Texas, returning to Woodberry two years ago.

When taken ill several months ago Mr. Brown yearned for the forgiveness of his wife. He wished, he said, that he might again call her his wife, before he died, and finally communicated with her in New York. He learned that she as well he wanted the trouble of former times obliterated and was willing to again become his wife.

Mrs. Brown came on from New York last night and the marriage took place immediately. Rev. W. A. Koontz of the Methodist church officiating.

The dying man smiled feebly as his wife bent over and kissed him and then fainted. His death is momentarily expected. The wife has not left his bedside since the marriage. She is 59 years old. He is 84.

We can live way beyond a century, sure—The invention will startle the scientific world—A discovery in chemical science makes it possible to create and apply animal life from natural means and prevent failure from age and wear out—Fatal diseases can be prevented—Women made strong and vigorous by natural means—Treatment a luxury.

First. In aid of the invention I shall surround myself with a staff of physical examiners whose skill will leave the smallest possible chance for mistakes.

Second. I shall undertake to get a solid foundation of health in my people and then maintain it, adding the forces of animal life sufficiently to prevent the nervous system from losing. By such means I shall endeavor to prevent people from growing old, and see to it that they have a well guarded, enjoyable existence, warding off fatal diseases by close watch and the best skilful attention procurable. We shall watch the heart, lungs, kidneys and nervous system, weekly, monthly or quarterly, as conditions may require, keeping a numbered private record. From new discoveries, we shall be able to reduce the attacks of epidemics to a minimum. We even abort smallpox without vaccination. We can prevent the ill effects from changes of temperature, at the time of exposure.

Third. I shall make a specialty of nervous diseases and breakdown, from any cause, the results of high living and dissipated habits, insanity, (remarkable cases in this city already, we cannot give names). Paralysis, from exhaustion.

Fourth. We have many cases of old paralysis already recovered years ago, who remain in good physical condition.

Fifth. Our invariable rule of treatment, in all applications of the vitalizer must be made upon an empty stomach, 3½ hours after eating or drinking. Food may be taken an hour later. We shall reserve the right to return the money paid and refuse further treatment to patients who abuse themselves and refuse to follow directions that will be no hardship to them. I believe we can make a healthy man live 120 years.

AT COLLINSVILLE

Notes Gathered by a Sun Reporter

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE MILL

The Churches, Post Office And School

The village of Collinsville, during late years, has grown from a mere settlement to one of the thriftiest villages in the whole of New England. It has grown from a small farming district into a large business center, the population of the village now being about 2500 inhabitants. The Collins mills, now known as the Beaver Brook mills, and the electric cars that run through that village, are the two main causes for the big advancement in this little village.

Some few years before 1851, a small wooden mill, being 60 feet long, 40 feet wide and four stories high was built. This was erected for the manufacture of cotton and the first cotton thread that was made in the United States was made in this little mill. The first cotton duck or canvas ever made in the United States was also made at this mill. The property was then owned by a John H. Pierceson of Boston and was run and managed by his agent, Mr. Peter Lawson, who was afterwards succeeded by his son, George Lawson. Geo. Lawson afterwards became agent of the mill and changed the product to what was known as blue drilling and sheeting.

The same year the original building was raised and two stories of stone were added and it was continued as a cotton mill until about 1862. The following year the plant was bought by a company composed of John A. Smith of Lowell, Edward Burrows of Dedham, and one Hastings of Boston. This company removed the cotton machinery and replaced it with woolen machinery taken from the mill at Dracut, which was also bought and started to manufacture cassimeres. This concern ran the mill for about ten years and after the place had been idle for about three years the mill was leased to Michael Collins in 1876. About the time that Mr. Collins bought the mill, the village proper contained a dozen houses including a large boarding house. Mr. Collins ran the place for about three years when he purchased it. Up to this time, the village had been known as Dracut, but after Mr. Collins bought the mills and started to improve the village it was named Collinsville after that gentleman.

The mill at that time contained six sets of cards and twenty-two looms. Additions were made at various times until the mill contained seven sets of cards and thirty-nine looms.

In the spring of 1864, ground was first broken by Mr. Collins for the new plant, which consisted of a three-story main mill 212 feet by 58 feet and another building for weaving, 165 feet by 70 feet. The first fire was started in the boilers in the new mill October 2, 1884. Most of the machinery was moved from the old mill into the new one and it started to run in 1886. The plant at this time contained 72 looms and 10 sets of cards.

In the year 1893, three stories were added to the main mill, making the structure six stories in height. After building the addition, thirty-two new looms were put in and 9 sets of cards, making a total of 104 looms and 10 sets of cards. In 1895 a new weave shed 128 feet by 94 feet, a boiler room and dye house were added to the plant. In addition to the big extensions that Mr. Collins had been making at the mill he had about fifty tenements erected during his proprietorship.

In May, 1899, the property was sold to the American Woolen company, which has made extensive improvements and more than doubled the capacity of the mill until today it is one of the largest woolen mills in the country. At the present time it contains 39 sets of cards; 16,518 spindles; 168 looms and the corporation owns 82 tenements. There has been no material change in the product of the mills since Mr. Collins first started as it has consisted chiefly of weaves and kerseys.

There are 620 operatives employed in the Beaver Brook mills at the present time, the majority of them residing in Collinsville. The present superintendent of the mills is Mr. John Allen, who was formerly connected with the Washington mills in Lawrence.

It will be remembered that on the 18th of April of this year, the mill on the opposite side of the road from the new one, and which was used as a storehouse was destroyed by fire, the loss amounting to about $50,000. Men are now at work clearing away the debris and a new storehouse is to be built on the site of the old one. It is not known yet whether it will be built of stone or brick.

A great many houses have been built in this village during the late years. A short time ago the corporation built about twenty double tenement houses and they are now at work building twelve more of these houses.

Besides the mill, the other buildings of interest that the village can boast of are two churches and a school house. The Catholic church, which is situated on the left side of the road before reaching the mills immediately attracts the attention of a visitor to this village. The church is a small one-story wooden structure and has a slanting roof with a small wooden spire. It is painted red, and one would think that it had been recently erected; but it is about fifteen years old. It was built in the early part of 1885 by Mr. Collins for the Catholic people of the village, so that they would not have to travel to Lowell to attend church, and it was dedicated August 15, 1885. At the dedicatory services Rev. Martin O'Brien, now deceased, was the celebrant of the mass and the sermon was delivered by Rev. M. T. McManus, who is now at St. Mary's church in Brookline, Mass. This church belongs to St. Michael's parish in this city and the priests of that parish hold services at the little church at 8:30 every Sunday morning.

Of late years a Protestant church has been erected near the suburbs of the village known as the Mission Chapel, and it is presided over by a local clergyman. The schoolhouse is on the cross roads above the mill and the primary and grammar studies are taught in this place. Miss Vina Newman is the principal. Scholars after graduating from this school attend the Lowell High school.

The postmaster of the village is Mr. Michael Collins and is in the provision and grocery store of Charles E. McCarthy. Two mails are received daily and two are sent into this city. The mail is brought back and forth on the electric cars and persons wanting mail have to call at the post office for it.

The water supply at the present time is from wells, but water pipes are to be laid in a very short time and the village is to receive their water from Long Pond. The water pipes have been delivered and it is expected that the ground will be broken and pipes laid at once.

The electric cars have made travel very easy to and from this city, and it is a ride of but thirty minutes from this city to Collinsville.

The cars run every half hour at this time of the year, but oftener during the warm weather.

BASE BALL

Think of Jessie Burkett, Jack O'Connor and Mugsey McGraw in one team.

Allentown has three Delehantys on the team, brothers of the famous Philadelphia player of that name.

Horace Keith of Brockton would like to buy the New York club from the present owners.

Dalrymple, the old Chicago player, who first came to the front in 1878, is now playing center for the Pueblo, Col., team.

Kitson is not holding his end up with Brooklyn and Howell will take his regular turn at the slab hereafter.

Mike Tiernan, the old New York player, has signed with Jerry Denny's Derby, Conn., team.

The Cincinnati Enquirer figures out that the general average speed of the left-handed batsmen in covering the 51 feet from the plate to first was 19.18 feet per second. The right-handers, penalized by having to first cross the plate, averaged 18.22 feet per second. The difference in favor of the left-handed batsmen is .96 feet, or just eight inches more per second. Their positions on the near side of the plate, in other words, gives them the same advantage that would come to a younger stride. They gain eight inches in very second of running time over the right-handed players.

Charley Bennett was a much stronger catcher than Mike Kelley but not Kelley's equal as a ball player.

The Cincinnati commercial man is trying to make out that Williams of Pittsburg is superior to James Collins, both as a fielder and a hitter. The fact is that Williams is not as good a third baseman as Leach, Cross Wallace and one or two more, while Collins has the bunch skinned a mile in the field, and not far from it with the stick, as the season will prove. Williams' wild throwing lets him out.

Manager Deeley of Montreal has released Clancy, pitcher, and Richter, utility infielder. The latter will go to Hartford. Cross, the pitcher of Indianapolis has been signed by Montreal.

David Murphy of Adams, who has been playing shortstop on the North Adams nine, has signed for the same position in the New London, Conn., league team.

"Gene O'Connor will play centrefield for New Haven.

Shortstop Ely of the Pittsburgs is on the sick list.

Pitcher Hughes picks the Bostons to win the pennant.

Pitcher Joe Corbett is the father of a 12-pound daughter.

Hedgrick is expected to be able to join St. Louis next week.

There are seven inclosed ball parks on the south side in Chicago.

Only two balls were used in the game in Pittsburg last Monday.

Frank Robison will scarcely give Lave Cross to New York as a gift.

The Chicagoes left eight men behind on the trip to Pittsburg.

Of the batsmen who have played in a dozen games or more, Lajoie leads the list.

One of the New Haven pitchers rejoices in the genuinely Teutonic name of Adolph Voltendorf.

Buck Freeman's stick work is so good that Duffy will have a hard time making good with the crowd if he displaces Buck and goes back to left field again himself.

Jimmy Cooney, formerly of Providence, is playing with the Bristol club of the Connecticut league.

Ewing says he would not be surprised if Rusie did not pitch at all this season on account of his marital troubles.

First Baseman Kelly of the Indianapolis club is financially interested in the Youngstown (O.) club with Mike Flun.

The Philadelphia club offered to take Jacobson and McGraw off Frank Robinson's hands for $15,000, but the latter would not have it.

Montreal has released Clancy, pitcher, and Richter, utility infielder. The latter will go to Hartford.

Never in the history of the game have there been lost to any new team such a galaxy of pitchers as Brooklyn lost in Joe Corbett, Hughes and McJames.

The Newarks and Athletics played a game in the 9th, Tuesday. Newark won, 3 to 0. Scranton lost its first game to Elmira on Tuesday 8 to 2. Kennedy pitched for Scranton.

The make-up of the Attleboro nine is announced as follows: Maloney, catcher; Boyd and Woodworth, pitchers, Lauder, shortstop, Crollus left field, Hazleton, first base, Fleming, second base, Hafford, third, Williams centre, Newman right.

Says Tom Loftus: "The Cincinnati boys are playing a hustling game at the present time. Manager Allen is always in an alert position on the line coaching, and everybody in the team is playing in a manner to give the happiest impression.

President Soden says that games will be played on the South end grounds this season unless the weather conditions absolutely prevent them. No games will be called off on account of the small attendance. Ewing did not want to play on Tuesday because there were so few people on the ground, but the Boston management insisted on going on with the game.

Jim Hart has practically promised the Chicago players a new clubhouse, to be built within a year or two. It will be a fancy affair, with the showers in the basement, lockers on the first floor and living room of the ground keeper above. There are two houses out there now and they were originally built to accommodate the home and visiting teams. Now they are not large enough to accommodate one team.

RECEIVED MANY PRESENTS.

What People Say in Your Own State Ought to Have Weight.

SMITH'S GREEN MOUNTAIN RENOVATOR

Can give you all the proof you want right in your own state, county or city, as to its wonderful strength-giving and nerve-building power. Few medicines give permanent relief.

THE RENOVATOR CURES

and Cures Permanently, because it is made of medicinal plants found only in the Green Mountain Region, and is pure, simple and safe, but powerful in completely renovating the blood and building up the body, giving a natural strength and vitality.

What W. C. Day of Haverhill Has to Say:

"I am glad to tell you that I am still using your Renovator, and have gained in flesh so rapidly that I now want only six pounds more to be up to my old weight. In fact, for a man 57 years old, I am practically well, thanks to your great tonic and blood Renovator.

W. C. DAY, 3 Front St., Haverhill, Mass.

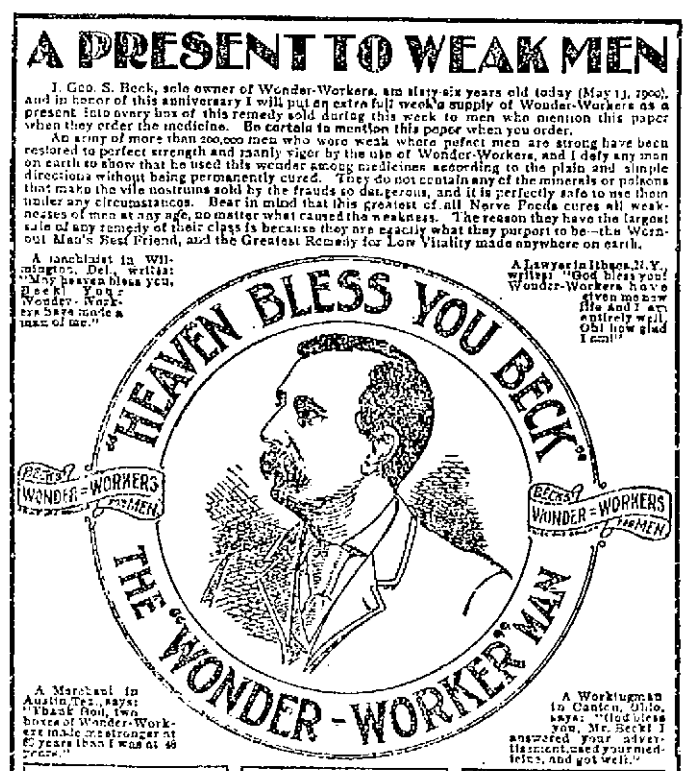
A PRESENT TO WEAK MEN

J. Geo. S. Beck, sole owner of Wonder-Workers, am sixty-six years old today (May 1), 1900, and in honor of this anniversary I will put an extra full week's supply of Wonder-Workers as a present into every box of this remedy sold during this week to men who mention this paper when they order the medicine. Be certain to mention this paper when you order.

An army of more than 200,000 men who were weak where perfect men are strong have been restored to perfect strength and manly vigor by the use of Wonder-Workers, and I defy any man on earth to show that he used this wonder among medicines according to the plain and simple directions without being permanently cured. They do not contain any of the minerals or poisons that make the vile nostrums sold by the frauds so dangerous, and it is perfectly safe to use them under any circumstances. Bear in mind that this greatest of all Nerve Foods cures all weaknesses of men at any age, no matter what caused the weakness. The reason they have the largest sale of any remedy of their class is because they are exactly what they purport to be—the Woman and Man's Best Friend, and the Greatest Remedy for Low Vitality made anywhere on earth.

A lawyer in Illinois, Del., writes: "God bless you, Beck! Your Wonder-Workers have saved me a man of me."

A Lawyer in Ithaca, N.Y., writes: "God bless you! Wonder-Workers have given me new life and I am entirely well. Oh! how glad I am!"



A Merchant in Austin, Tex., says: "Thank God, two boxes of Wonder-Workers made me stronger at 62 years than I was at 40 years."

A Workingman in Canton, Ohio, says: "God bless you, Mr. Beck! I suffered your advertisement, used your remedies, and got well."

OLD MAN! Thousands of old men who thought their remaining days on earth would be few now bless the day that they commenced the use of this greatest of all pain killers and vitalizing strengthbuilders. WONDER-WORKERS will bring about a degree of health and strength for you as far beyond the average as dreams of your years and give you great vence and comfort.

YOUNG MAN! Thousands of young and middle-aged men growing prematurely old because of the practice of vices or excesses have been restored to perfect strength and glorious manhood by the use of this wonderful man's best friend, and if you are Wonder-Workers you will surprise yourself and your friends by becoming a strong, manly man.

TIRED MAN! If you are the unfortunate victim of lack of nerve you know it, and it would be useless to detail its symptoms to you. You can depend upon it that WONDER-WORKERS regenerate and build up the system of the tired man, and give the proper, functional actions to all the vital organs. Be the kind of a man you ought to be—yes, be a man!

Bear in mind that Wonder-Workers cured me when I, like you, lacked that vitality and strength without which a person is a man only in name. I am the only man in the world to the medicine business who has solemnly sworn that the medicine he sells cured himself, and that the names of all who buy will be held sacred forever. If you have been duped by any of the frauds, and have any doubt about my honesty, integrity or reliability, write to Mr. R. A. Cobaugh, Cashier of the First National Bank, of this city (the bank of which Ex-Governor Bushnell, of Ohio, is President), or to any of your friends who may be living here. I have lived here for years.

The price of Wonder-Workers is Only One Dollar per box, always cash with the order, by express at your expense. It will cost you 25 cents to life it from your express office. If you send $5.15 I will send them by mail prepaid, thus saving you 10 cents. I do not send free samples, but give an extra week's supply as a present with every box ordered this week. Sincerely yours,

GEO. S. BECK, 420 So. Market St., SPRINGFIELD, OHIO.

GRANGE MEETING

Attended by Many Patrons in Tewksbury

Magnificent Drill by Young Ladies

There was a very large attendance at the meeting of Tewksbury Grange last evening in Grange hall, Centre village. State Deputy J. E. Goodell of West Boylston was present as inspector of the degree work, the third and fourth degrees being conferred on Candidates Harold Patten and Charles A. Livingston. There were also many patrons present from Andover, Dracut and Billerica granges. Following the degree work, there was an entertainment which for uniqueness and originality is without precedent in grange entertainments, and the promotors are worthy of the greatest credit for carrying out the many details with such skill and ability. There was a drill given by sixteen ladies under the immediate supervision of Miss S. C. Whittemore, consisting of arches formed with wreaths and garlands and the scene presented was not only spectacular but beautiful to behold. A feature of the drill was a star within a handsome circle which was received with such enthusiasm that the rafters in the hall fairly shook. It was a pretty venture for the one in charge, and the ladies looked handsome performing the various evolutions, intricate in their make-up. The sixteen taking part in the drill were as follows: Miss Bertha Lee, Mrs. Marcellus A. Patten, Miss Lillian Carley, Miss Lottie Williams, Miss Edith Davis, Miss Theresa Small, Mrs. C. W. French, Miss Susie C. Whittemore, Miss Ida Johnson, Miss M. Nellie French, Miss Stella Morrill, Mrs. Mary Ruffel, Miss Mabelle Parsons, Miss Olive Haines, Miss A. Jeanette Carley, Miss Leona Fitzgerald. But the drill was not all the grangers enjoyed. There was a fine supper served at the close and it was one of those excellent menus such as the Tewksbury ladies know how to get up for visitors when they have the opportunity and the choice viands were relished by all. The ladies received the highest encomiums for the untiring labor spent in arranging for the entertainment and supper.

The committee composed Mr. George D. Forristall, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Parsons, Mrs. Clara Fitzgerald. The visiting grangers left the scene of festivities at a late hour thoroughly refreshed with their evening's diversion, and it was said by many that the drill was such a success that it ought to be repeated at the presentation of the coming operetta, of "The Merry Milkmaids" when the public might better allowed the privilege of enjoying it. The grange is in a fine condition for carrying out the work for which it was originally intended and the zealous members are feeling elated over the prospects of the coming season, when several entertainments for the members will be given and being planned by those in charge of this feature of sociability which has characterized all their progress since the grange was organized.

A WAY TO SOLVE A VEXING PROBLEM.

That ever difficult question, "Where to go for a vacation?" again confronts us, and a most perplexing problem it is. Northern New England, without a doubt, offers a greater variety of vacation places including lake, mountain and seashore resorts than any other section of the country.

The hotels of this region have no equal. The methods for amusement and recreation include everything that is desired and the easiness by which the tourist can reach his abiding place is a feature which alone speaks for itself.

A perusal of the "New Summer Resort & Tour Book" just issued by the Boston & Maine railroad will help amazingly in selecting your summer outing place. The book has a list of a thousand summer hotels and boarding houses, together with maps, routes, rates and stage connections and is sent to any address, free upon application to the General Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine railroad, Boston. Be sure you get it before you talk vacation.

NORMAL SCHOOL

EASILY DEFEATS ROGERS HALL BY A SCORE OF 1 TO 9.

In the Normal school gymnasium the Normal school basket ball team tried conclusions with an aggregation of basket ball tossers from the Rogers hall school yesterday afternoon. A good crowd was in attendance and the game resulted in a victory for the normal school team by a score of 9 to 1. The feature of the game was the exceptionally clever work of the Misses Crowley and Corkhill of the Normal school team.

CORPORAL ADOLPH SASS

By Associated Press to The Sun.

YOUNG PEOPLE

OF FREE BAPTIST CHURCHES LISTEN TO ADDRESS.

At the Paige Street church last evening, Mr. Harry Myers, the field secretary of the Baptist Young People's societies addressed a good sized audience. His subject was the "Work of Young People's Societies." He showed in a very interesting way the progress made in the field of late years, and made some suggestions and predictions in regard to future labors. Mr. Myers' words showed what a vast amount of good is done by these societies and the young people connected with them and also how widespread the benefits are. His position as field secretary enables him to speak with certainty on the subject and his address showed that the societies are in a very encouraging and thriving condition.

The Young People's societies of the Mount Vernon, the Chelmsford Street and the Middlesex Village churches united with the Paige Street society at this meeting and were well represented.

After the address, a social time was in order and refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Leon Brown and Mrs. W. H. Upham.

MONTHLY MEETING

OF LOWELL MINISTERS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Lowell ministers held a monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. hall. A good attendance of the clergymen was present, Rev. C. W. Huntington presiding. The matter of the mass meeting to be held in all of the sufferers from the India famine was discussed. There is much enthusiasm manifested in regard to the meeting, and without a doubt there will be a generous response to the appeals for assistance from the unfortunate natives of India.

Rev. George H. Clarke, the new pastor at the Centralville M. E. church, and Rev. Mr. Dexter of Middlesex village chapel were introduced to the clergymen and received a cordial welcome.

The meeting adjourned to meet again the second Friday in September, as there will be no session during the summer months.

ENJOYABLE BOX PARTY.

In Pythian hall, last evening, a very enjoyable and largely attended box party was held under the auspices of the A. M. and D. L. club. A program was given including vocal solos, Mrs. Nettie Roberts and Gertrude Felch; recitations, Bertha Bond, Faith Doty; violin and piano duet, Miss Loretta and Thomas Hannaford; cake walks, Misses Edith May Baldwin and Blanche Bates, Elsie Grant, and Daisy Morgan, and violin solos by Joseph F. Merrill. George L. Hubbard auctioned the boxes off. The affair was successful both pecuniarily and socially.

Sales for the Week Ending May 19th, 1900.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON,

ASSIGNEES' SALE.

Immediately following the sale of the plant of the Atherton Machine company on Thursday afternoon the 17th day of May, 1900, the outlying lands belonging to the company will be sold without limit or reserve to the highest bidders, at absolute auction, as below.

AT 3.30 O'CLOCK.

The Red Village—In Three Lots.

First. The five most easterly houses and 6¾ acres of land, possessing a frontage of 197 feet on Rogers street. Of the five houses, two are double ones and face the street; three are two-tenement and extend in a northerly line in rear of the front houses.

Second. The middle row of five houses, and 2 acres of land, carrying a frontage of 56 feet on Rogers street. The large boarding house fronting on the street is in this lot, also four two-tenement houses stretched out in a line in the rear.

Third. The four most westerly houses and 2 2-3 acres of land, having a frontage of 150 feet on Rogers street and 1000 feet on Village street running at right angles from Rogers street. Each house has two tenements.

AT 4 O'CLOCK.

16 acres of land, between Village street and the Allen estate at the corner of Butman road, about equally divided into two lots. The first lot has a frontage of 190 feet on Rogers street; 1000 feet on Village street; is known as the "Base Ball Field;" is level, dry, and as high any land in the neighborhood. It wont be long before it is needed for building lots. The second lot has a frontage of 151 feet on Rogers street, and is the nearest Lowell of the two lots. On the lot is an old barn and a large sand bank of the most merchantable sand.

AT 4.20 O'CLOCK.

The Dickey estate, partly in Lowell and partly in Tewksbury, divided into five lots, and sold as follows: The homestead at the corner of Rogers street and Phoenix avenue:—Double house, stable and 1¼ acres of land; the land has a frontage of 193 feet on Rogers street and 288 feet on Phoenix avenue, and lays well; two lots of land on Rogers street, just west of the homestead, containing areas of about 1½ acres each, and frontages of 230 feet and 373 feet. Two large lots of land on Phoenix avenue, adjoining the corner lot, containing over 5 acres of land each and having frontages of over 300 feet each.

AT 5 O'CLOCK.

About 1½ acres of land not far beyond the Red Village, and adjoining the first house on the right.

The sale offers a large quantity of real estate to whomsoever will bid the most for it. It will all bear investigation. It is just such unnoticed opportunities as this sale affords that often prove very profitable. The Nesmith street line of electric cars take you within from 3 to 8 minutes' walk of the several premises. You can see a plan of the premises at the office of the auctioneers where all inquiries must be made.

The purchasers of each section of the Red Village must each deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $500 as soon as each section is struck off; the purchasers of each lot of land must each do the same with $250 as soon as each lot is struck off; and the purchaser of the Dickey homestead lot must do the same with $350, other terms at sale.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

TRUSTEES' SALE.

As trustees under the will of the late Sheriff Henry G. Cushing we have had issued to us a license by the probate court of the county of Middlesex to sell at public auction the herewith described real estate on Friday afternoon, the 18th day of May, 1900, regardless of weather, and without limit or reserve, to the highest bidders we shall in pursuance of the aforesaid license sell at absolute auction:

AT 3 O'CLOCK.

26 acres of land extending from Varnum avenue to the Merrimack river, less that which was taken for the state highway. The property is known as the Cushing Farm, adjoins land on the west belonging to the Phineas Whiting estate, and on the east, land of Messrs. Howe, Cadwell and Pinkham; or about 1-2 mile up Varnum avenue, beyond the point where the Boulevard comes out on same. It is little more than 1-3 of a mile up the state highway, beyond the end of the Boulevard.

On the land is a new and modern three-story stable; bottom up for residence, granite for foundation of same, and excavation for cellar already begun. The land about the site for residence has been laid out by Turbell, the landscape gardener, is down to an extensive lawn and surrounded by an extensive grove of attractive and thrifty trees from 20 to 30 years growth. Between Varnum avenue and the buildings the land is covered with a growth of pine, some of which is very heavy, has been partially trimmed and cleared up and was destined to make a beautiful wooded park. The land between the buildings and the state highway is cleared, is under a high state of cultivation, has an abundance of fruit trees, etc. Leading from the stable is a fine driveway with granite bank wall. The land as a whole is the most elevated in the immediate vicinity south of Varnum avenue, has long frontages on Varnum avenue, the state highway and the river, and the view from the premises is superb. Had the late Sheriff Cushing lived and carried to completion the improvement he designed for the premises he would have had one of the most delightful city-country residences in or about Lowell.

AT 5 O'CLOCK.

15,393 square feet of land on Hale street between numbers 38 and 46 or close to the corner of Hale and Thorndike streets. The land has a frontage of 101 feet on Hale street and extends back to Hale's brook, where the frontage is the same; it lies well for many improvements in a business way or for renting property; it is practically even width; adjoins land of the B. & M. R. R. There have been many tempting offer for it but until now it was not for sale; it can be purchased in one or two lots; it is very accessible, perfectly adapted to a coal business, and equally good for manufacturing industry or wholesale concern.

The purchaser of the "Cushing Farm" must deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $500 as soon as the property is struck off; the purchasers of the Hale street land must do the same with $300; other terms at sale.

You must make all inquiries relating to property or sale at the office of the auctioneers.

WM. H. ANDERSON,
Trustees under the will of Henry G. Cushing.

THE FORESTERS

Preparing for the Annual State Convention

TO BE HELD IN THIS CITY

Opening Session Will be Held Tuesday

The annual state convention of the Foresters of America will be held in this city beginning on Tuesday next and judging from the demand already made for hotel accommodations the city will be crowded with strangers.

The visitors are expected here on Monday night.

The convention is scheduled to open at 9 o'clock but it is probable that it will be an hour later before all the delegates come together in Foresters' hall where the business of the convention will be transacted.

William A. Hogan, Esq., chairman of the convention committee will open the proceedings by introducing Mayor Crowley who will extend the freedom of the city to the delegates in a speech of welcome. His Honor's remarks will be responded to by Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger B. H. Flaherty of Fitchburg.

The business session will then be opened by Grand Chief Ranger Daniel F. Fitzgerald of Worcester. He will read his report, after which will be read the reports of the committees on credentials, order of business, law, state or orders, mileage and prediine, goods and effects, acts and dresiens, appeals and grievances, officers, finance and resolutions. The report of the auditors, P. B. Beaupre of Worcester, John E. Maguire of Lowell and Patrick Delaney of Fall River will be read, also the reports of the grand treasurer, William H. Harrington of Lowell, the grand secretary, James J. Gallagher, also of Lowell, the grand recording secretary, J. S. Anderson of Fall River, and the report of the trustees. That will complete the business of the first day's session.

For Tuesday evening a grand ball has been arranged for new Huntington hall and it promises to be an elaborate affair. William A. Hogan, Esq., will be general manager and William E. Dwyer, floor director. Hibbard's orchestra will furnish music during the evening and among the features will be a grand march which promises to rival anything of its kind ever held in this city. The convention will close Wednesday and a banquet will be enjoyed that evening.

Found It Out

Many a Lowell Citizen is Finding it Out.

Had the backache a good many years.
And a little worse every year.
Finally could not work at all.
My back took up all my time.
(May sound strange, but it will do it.)
Found out it was kidney trouble talking.
Always talks through the back.
Found out that Doan's Kidney Pills was the remedy.
They always talk through their cures.
They tell Lowell people through Lowell people.
A backache always means kidney trouble.
The beginning is always backache.
The ending may be Bright's disease.
Read the following case of a Lowell citizen who found the remedy in time:

Mr. L. C. Hill of 246 Aiken avenue, says: "I suffered quite a little from pains in my back, aggravated, doubtless, by my work, that of delivery clerk for Mr. H. W. Lock, grocer. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store. Its use soon ended the pains, and I have had no return of them since. Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be of great value in my case."

Doan's Kidney Pills, 50 cents per box. For sale by all dealers. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

GIVEN RECEPTION

Molly Varnum Chapter, Daughters of Am. Revolution

AT HOME OF MRS. SOLON W. STEVENS

Out of Town Guests Also Received

Members of Molly Varnum Chapter, D. A. R., were delightfully entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Solon W. Stevens in Tyler Park. The reception was given by Mrs. Stevens in honor of her guests, Mrs. Grace LeBaron Upham of Boston, an honorary member of Molly Varnum chapter, and Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, also of Boston. The officers of the chapter assisted in receiving, and the following ladies poured: Mrs. Thomas Nesmith, Mrs. E. M. Burke, Mrs. C. H. Ranlett, Mrs. Franklin Nourse. The young ladies who assisted in the dining room were the Misses Merrill, Miss Lancaster Miss Earle, Miss Lambert, and Miss Farrington. Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Day and Miss Mae Stevens served frappe.

The decoration of the dining room was a beautiful bit of brightness and artistic arrangement. In the centre of the table was a large dish of red and white carnations, heaped in mound-shape, giving the keynote of color. The candelabra were red, and on one side of the table, draped in the centre, was a silken flag, the blue field rising in pyramid shape above the table and giving just the right suggestion of patriotism, in the midst of the red and white table decorations. The effect was beautiful.

Among the invited guests were the officers of Old Middlesex Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution.

After greetings had been exchanged and all had partaken of refreshments, Mrs. Upham was introduced by the host, Mr. Solon W. Stevens, and made a brief address. Mrs. Upham was a Lowell girl, and she does her native city the honor to be proud of her birthplace. "I was born," she said, "in a little old-fashioned cottage in Wamesit street, and was christened in the old Unitarian church, while held in the arms of good old Dr. Miles. I did not stay long enough here to have any school companions, but I still consider myself a Lowell girl, because there is no home like that first home, our birthplace."

Mrs. Upham made reference, in her remarks, to her mother, who was at one time known as Lowell's poet, Mrs. Jane Ermina Locke. She had with her some clippings from the Vox Populi, printed in 1841. There were several poems written by Mrs. Locke for special occasions, and reference was made to a presentation of colors, on the Fourth of July, when Mrs. Locke made the presentation speech, to which Capt. J. M. Varnum responded. Mrs. Upham gracefully disclaimed the credit of the honor done to herself by the chapter, saying that she was honored because of the memory of her gifted and patriotic mother.

Mrs. Titus also addressed the guests briefly, referring to the work which has been taken up by patriotic women, of rebuilding the old frigate "Constitution." She said that the society has received great encouragement in the work. The public call for subscriptions has not yet been issued, but already over $10,000 has been pledged. Mrs. Titus also invited the members of the chapter to visit the old John Adams house in Quincy, which is in possession of the Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution.

Mrs. Upham, by special request, recity an original poem, entitled "Roses, Lilies and Forget-me-Nots." The poem was written on the subject of the Spanish war, and the names of the flowers are indicative of the national colors. One of the ladies present had a brother in the Spanish war, who has recently died. The poem was such a favorite with him that he recited it just before his death, and his sister, remembering that Mrs. Upham was the author, made the request that she should recite it. This touching little incident closed the very pleasant program.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Lowell Co-operative bank, held last night in the board of trade rooms, was a lengthy one, owing to a consideration, by sections, of the amended by-laws. The most important change was in an amendment giving the bank the right to loan money at five instead of six per cent. A large amount of money has been accumulating and the directors have found it a difficult matter to compete with other banks on the rate.

FELL FROM WHEEL

MARTIN CORBETT WAS BADLY HURT.

Martin Corbett, a lad residing at 79 North street, was thrown from his bicycle on Central street near the corner of Charles street last night about six o'clock and was rendered unconscious by the fall. He was picked up and carried into Watson's bakery on Charles street to await the arrival of the ambulance which removed him to St. John's hospital.

At the hospital he regained consciousness and it was found that his injuries consisted of a badly bruised face and the loss of four teeth.

LOWELL HIGH WON.

A close and interesting game of base ball was played in Andover yesterday afternoon between the Punchard High school team of that town and the High school team of this city. The Lowell boys came out victorious by a score of 5 to 1. For the Lowell team, Perry did the work behind the bat, also leading his team at the bat, scoring four hits. Russell and Bean each gathered three hits and played their positions in good style. The score:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Lowell High	0	1	0	1	2	0	1	0	0	—5

KILLED HIMSELF

Love Undid an 18-Year-Old Boy

FELL DEAD AT GIRL'S FEET

Committed Deed Without Any Warning

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 12.—With hope gone from his life and a dreary future stretching before his mental vision, Frank Foush, an 18-year-old boy, living at 17 Munsar street, Roxbury, put a pistol to his head and ended his life at his sweetheart's door in Chelsea last evening.

But little is known by the Chelsea police relative to the boy. At 9.50 last evening a telephone message was received by the police to the effect that a lad had shot himself on Carroll street and requesting that they come and make arrangements to care for the body. Two officers were sent to the scene and found the remains of young Foush lying outside the gate at No. 14. He was dead and the mark of a pistol bullet was to be seen in his left temple.

The story told the police was to the effect that during the early evening the young man had been walking with Miss Nellie Dunkirk of 14 Carroll street and Miss Julia Minnahan of 37 Carroll street. They had not noticed anything peculiar about the young fellow or his actions, and on returning to Miss Dunkirk's gate about 9.30, Miss Minnahan went to her home, leaving the other two talking at the gate. Miss Jennie Dunkirk, a sister of Nellie, and John Tatten came along at this time and all four stood talking at the gate.

Young Foush said he would have to leave them, and suddenly, without another word, so far as the police knew, he drew a pistol from his hip pocket and fired a shot into the fence and a second into his own forehead. He dropped dead where he had been standing.

The other young people were horrified at the act but Mr. Tatten stooped over the lad to see if he could render him any aid. He spoke to him but obtained no response, as the unfortunate young man had died instantly. This was certified to by a physician, who later viewed the remains.

The police took the body to the warerooms of an undertaker on Broadway, where it will be viewed by the medical examiner this morning, and will then be turned over to the relatives of the deceased.

The Dunkirk family declined to talk about the matter last evening, but from a friend of the young woman it was learned that Foush had been keeping company with her for some time. Recently she told him they were both too young to be going about together, and practically declined to receive his attentions any longer.

The girl in question is employed in Chelsea, and last evening when she left her work the young man was waiting for her near her place of business. He accompanied her home to her residence, but declined an invitation to supper on the ground that he was not hungry. He left her and later in the evening called for her to go walking.

Miss Dunkirk took with her for the walk her friend, Miss Minnahan, and they strolled about the pleasanter streets of the city till 9.30, when they arrived at her home, and Miss Minnahan left them standing at the gate.

Just what was said between the two young people before Nellie's sister and her escort came along is not known, but it is supposed it was regarding the words of the girl given to Foush previously.

The conversation after the arrival of the other two young people was general, and the desperate act of the young man was the first intimation the others had of anything unusual.

The scene of the shooting is very near the stables of the Boston elevated railway on Broadway, and it was from there that the call to the police for assistance came. The two pistol reports coming so close together attracted considerable attention, and a large crowd soon gathered and the affair created a good deal of excitement. The pistol used by young Foush was a very cheap weapon of 32 calibre.

FRIGHTENED WOMAN

CREATED A SENSATION IN BROADWAY LAST EVENING.

A large crowd was attracted on Broadway about 8 o'clock last evening by a woman running excitedly up that thoroughfare. Many followed after her and when she ran toward one of the canals they became certain that she was going to jump in, and held her until an officer arrived. She was sent to the police station, where she told Captain Kew that she had no intention of jumping into the canal, but had run from her house near Willie street, to escape from her husband with whom she had serious trouble. She was released after receiving some sound advice from Captain Kew.

JOHN GILDAY'S BENEFIT.

In Pilgrim hall, last evening, there was a benefit dance for John Gilday, which was attended by about 75 couples. A pleasing entertainment included as one of the best features songs by Miss Laura Bernier. There were also songs by Frank O'Neil, William Sadler; whistling solos by Thomas Flynn; piano solos by Frank Finnegan, Gilmore's orchestra furnished music for dancing which lasted until midnight. The officers were: General manager, John Rourke; floor director, Joseph Duff; assistant, Henry Carr.

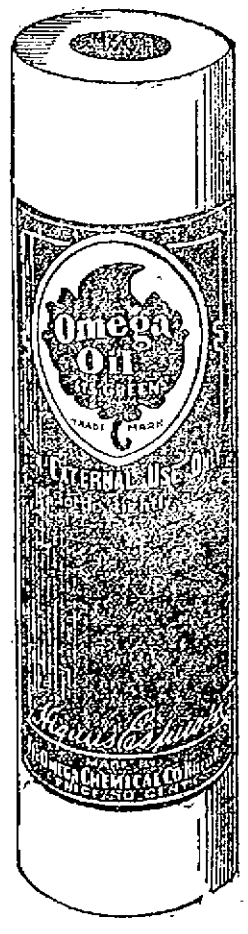
Omega Oil



What It Looks Like

Here is a picture that shows how Omega Oil looks in the drug store. The wrapper on the outside of the bottle is always printed in green ink. The trade mark is a leaf, as the picture shows, with these words upon it: "Omega Oil. It's Green." Down near the bottom is the written signature of Higinio Espinosa, which is a guarantee that the contents of the bottle are genuine. Never under any circumstances buy a liniment unless this trade mark and name are on the wrapper. Never patronize a druggist who tries to sell you something else when you ask for Omega Oil. Always trade at honest stores where they give you what you ask for. Omega Oil stops all pains in the back, shoulders, arms, elbows, wrists, legs, knees, ankles and feet. Rub it in good and hard, and the pains will go away quickly.

HUNDREDS KILLED IN CROSSING VAAL

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, May 12.—A special despatch from Pretoria, dated May 10 says: "It is announced that a British relief force of 3000 is advancing along the Bechuana railway by forced marches night and day. It reached Vryburg yesterday."

The Lourenzo Marques correspondent of the Daily Mail in a despatch dated Friday, May 11, says: "The Boer papers report severe fighting on the western border. The facts are very much confused, but there is enough to show that the Boers admit a British occupation of Taungs."

A special from Christiant (Transvaal) published Wednesday by the Standard and Diggers' News, says: "Six hundred British cavalry crossed the Vaal river Friday and Kalmberg, about 18 miles below Fourteen Stream and went to Taungs, followed by commandoes. A second detachment of the British crossed at the same place Sunday. The Griqualanders after being reinforced Thursday repulsed the British and drove them back in the direction of Taungs. Gen. Asawogen of the Griqualanders, was killed. The other Boer casualties were seven wounded. The British loss was heavy. Taungs is occupied by about 3000 British.

A telegram from Pretoria dated Tuesday in the Standard and Diggers News, says: "The British in their passage along the Stella land border toward Mafeking, were engaged by Commandant Bisset near Taungs, with great success. Hundreds of British troopers met a watery grave, while attempting to cross the Vaal.

A second advance was made upon Taungs Sunday morning by 1500 British troops and six guns. Comunication with Taungs was cut Sunday afternoon.

BATTLE PENDING NEAR THABANCHU

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MASERU, May 11.—The forces from Thabe N' Chu under Gens. Rundle and Brabant, are reported to have advanced toward Ciocolan and Flatberg.

A large commando of Boers has returned from the Korannsberg hills and is in readiness to meet the British.

100 PRISONERS IN TWO DAYS

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, May 11.—11.35 a. m.—Lord Roberts telegraphs to the war office, under date of Geneva Siding, May 11, evening, as follows:

"My headquarters, with Pole-Carew's division, marched 20 miles today and are now at Geneva Siding, 14 miles from Kroonstad and about six miles from Boshrand, where the Boers are holding entrenched positions. Gordon's brigade is in touch with them; Tucker's division is a short distance southeast and Hamilton's force is still further east.

"Broadwood's brigade overtook a part of the enemy's convoy yesterday afternoon at Petgleters Laager, southeast of Ventersburg and captured several wagons and some prisoners.

"French with Porter's and Dickson's brigades and Hutton's mounted infantry, is some distance due north of this place.

"We have taken nearly 100 prisoners during the last two days. All the Free Staters who could give a good account of themselves have been disarmed and allowed to return to their farms.

"The nights are getting colder."

BOER PRISONER SHOT AT ST. HELENA

By Associated Press to The Sun.

JAMESTOWN, St. Helena, May 11.—Tuesday night one of the guards shot a Boer prisoner as he was attempting to escape over the boundary fence. The matter is being investigated by a court martial.

GEN FRENCH LEADING BRITISH

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GENEVA SIDING, Friday, May 11—Morning—The British forces have arrived here, marching splendidly. General French in the advance. Firing was heard yesterday in the direction of his force. Some of the Inniskilling had approached a kraal, where a force of Boers were concealed.

It is expected that the railway to the Zand river will be completed tonight. The line was almost entirely destroyed north of the river, but beyond, where the British are, the Boers retreated from their positions too hastily to do much damage. The Boers are reported to be entrenching themselves around Kroonstad, twenty miles off.

BOERS ARE UNDER COVER

By Associated Press to The Sun.

EDEN, Friday, May 11.—The Boers retired somewhat today, but it is impossible to say where they may turn up next, owing to their great mobility. Gen. Grenfell succeeded in pushing them back near Rapuiskop, while Gen. Brabant pushed forward in the direction of Brand's drift, along with Gen. Campbell and the Sixteenth Brigade.

A body of Boers has appeared at Verona, on the Ladybrand road.

ROBERTS CLOSE TO BOER POSITION

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, May 12.—Lord Roberts is now face to face with the Boer position at Kroonstad, and despite reports of its strength the result of the meeting of the opposing forces is expected to be very similar to the outcome following the British advance on Brandfort and the Zand river. Lord Roberts is apparently keeping the federals moving far too quickly to give them time for effective occupation of any position so near him and though numerous kopjes in the neighborhood of Kroonstad afford strong positions from which a delaying action may be fought, it is fully anticipated by the best experts here that the Boers will now hurry on to the Vaal where they will once more attempt to stem the progress of the invading army while the bulk of the federals prepare for what will perhaps be a decisive battle on the ridge running east and west southward of Johannesburg, where open ground to the southward offers the defenders splendid advantages over any attacking force.

ICE TRUST

The summonses orders those named to appear on Monday next to show cause why they should not be proceeded against for conspiracy in combining to control the price and product of ice, contrary to law.

The summonses were sworn out by a representative of a morning newspaper.

ALLEN'S RECEPTION

DATE OF THE VISIT OF THE GOVERNOR OF PORTO RICO NOT YET KNOWN.

It is impossible for the special committee of the city council, appointed to arrange for a reception to Governor Charles H. Allen of Porto Rico, to learn of the date of his visit to Lowell until his arrival in Washington. He will sail from San Juan next week, probably before a letter could reach him.

Official business in Washington will require his attention there for two or three days, perhaps, and his visit to Lowell will not be a lengthy one.

For this reason his friends here believe that he will be best pleased by an informal reception and one that will not occupy more than an evening. It has been suggested that if he comes from Boston early in the evening he might be met at the train and escorted to Huntington hall, where he could be properly welcomed, and would have an opportunity to address his fellow citizens.

5 O'CLOCK

HEARING RETURNS

The Sun Megaphoned the Complete Returns

And as Usual Distanced all Others

Over 5000 people crowded Merrimack square in front of The Sun building and in the adjoining streets last evening and listened to the complete returns of the big fight as megaphoned ahead of all the other local papers by The Sun's megaphone artist, Master George H. McDermott, the boy with the orator's voice.

The crowd came early and with it came Lieut. Brosnahan, Sergt. Connors and a detail of patrolmen to assist Officer Bart Ryan of the square beat in maintaining order. Although the officers were kept busy throughout the night in keeping the sidewalk and crossings clear to the pedestrians, the crowd nevertheless was very orderly and two arrests made were occasioned by the boisterous conduct of a couple of jags which came around late.

Shortly after 6 o'clock the crowd began to gather and at 8 o'clock it was with greatest difficulty that the cars got through the square without knocking down some of the interested ones, who forgot everything but the news of the big bout.

As the evening grew into the night the crowd instead of diminishing, increased, the bar room crowds augmenting it at 11 o'clock when The Sun made the first announcement of the final rounds, some three rounds ahead of its contemporary, the crowd was the largest of the night.

Although Jeffries was the favorite in the betting among sporting men, The Sun's great crowd in Merrimack square was decidedly a Corbett gathering and every successful move of the ex-champion from the time he entered the ring until he went down and out in the fatal 23d round, was widely cheered upon its announcement. Numerous small bets were made in the crowd, most on even money, while many bet that Corbett would go the limit. Like the good game crowd that it was it accorded a big cheer to Jeffries when The Sun announced that he had won.

The Sun's wire and megaphone service was the quickest and best ever given in Lowell and gave its contemporaries a striking object lesson.

The Sun kept several rounds ahead of its nearest competitor. The report given to the people last night appears on Page Three.

In the case of John Leach and Maggie Donahue, charged with adultery, probable cause was found and they were ordered to recognize to the commonwealth in the sum of $500 each, to appear at the next session of the superior court.

BIG DEMAND

FOR TICKETS FOR THE "FALL OF SANTIAGO."

The sale of seats for Company M's spectacular production "Fall of Santiago," began at the box office of new Huntington hall this morning and the demand for them is very satisfactory. The performance portrays some of the most romantic incidents of the Cuban war with a great and well-trained cast. The cast includes Lieut. Joseph S. Gillow, George McKenna, William E. Chamberlin, Ralph Hill, Howard Caldwell, Ralph Black, Henry Forbush, James F. Ryan, John Payne, John Murray, Eben Crowell, Miss Lizzie Maguire, Miss Hattie King, Miss May Miller and some 75 others. The production is one of the most elaborate of its kind and judging from the fine work at rehearsal the company will do it full justice. The price of tickets is but 25 cents and those who attend will see Huntington hall transformed for the first time into a theatre with its elevated auditorium seats and its beautiful and complete scenery, settings and properties.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.

About one o'clock this morning, while a number of the people who had been waiting for the returns of the fight, were going up Moody street, they saw a horse attached to a light buggy coming down the street at a rapid gait. When the horse turned the corner into Central street, he came in contact with a stone post badly damaging the buggy. It is thought that the horse was hitched to a post on Moody street in Pawtucketville, and had broken loose, for when he was caught there was a hitch rope tied around his neck. The police took charge of the horse and restored it to its owner.

All Run Down

Large Demands Upon the Physical Strength

Many Miserable People Who Exist But Do Not Live.

Run down men and women are to be found on every hand. They have overdrawn their account with the bank of vitality. They exist, but do not really live. With them, everything is uninteresting and monotonous and life is a blank. Such people need building up — body, brain and nerves. This must be done by toning the stomach and digestive organs and enriching and vitalizing the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great building up medicine. It creates a good appetite, gives digestive power, makes the blood rich, pure and nourishing and restores the exhausted physical system to vigor and vitality. It is just what you need when you feel weak, tired and "run down."

NEELEY'S QUESTION

AS TO LEGALITY OF THE PROPOSED TRIAL.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MUNICE, Ind., May 12.—Charles F. W. Neeley, in an interview has denied the published statement that he was a personal friend and business associate of A. L. Lawshe of Wabash, who has been sent to Cuba, to investigate the alleged postal frauds. Mr. Neeley says he never met the man but once and that for a very brief period last year in Cuba. Neeley would not deny the report that it was his own money that was posted as his $500,000 bond, the amount being drawn from his account with the Union national bank in this city through the Seventh national of New York. Neeley would not say that he will not go back to Cuba for trial, but asks the question: "How can a United States citizen be tried there? How can he be tried here for a crime committed there?"

WALKED IN SLEEP

Chas. Heslin Dropped Two Stories to Sidewalk

AT MAHONEY'S BOARDING HOUSE THISMORNING

Chances for His Recovery are Doubtful

Another probably fatal accident, the result of somnambulism, occurred at Mahoney's boarding house in Colburn street about 4 o'clock this morning, when Charles Heslin, aged about 40 years, walked out of a two-story window while asleep.

Heslin occupied a front room in the building and retired to his bed at his accustomed hour.

About 4 o'clock, while the corporation officer was going his rounds, he found Heslin lying unconscious on the sidewalk, badly bruised, while an open window, directly above him told the story.

The ambulance was quickly summoned and the injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where it was found that he was badly bruised about the head and had sustained a fractured leg. His chances for recovery are doubtful.

CLEVER SWINDLE

Nipped in the Bud by Boston Detectives

INTENDED VICTIM A BANK MAN

"Little Henry" Captured by the Police

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 12.—A bunco game which had as its intended victim, Ira Hillands, a retired market man and bank director, was nipped in the bud yesterday by Chief Inspector Watts and Inspector Wolf and the steerer, who proved to be "little Harry Witherell," alias John Gardner and Harry Little, was captured after the officers had been given a lively sprint. Early this morning Mr. Hillands was approached by a well-dressed young man on Tremont street, near his residence, who called him by name and represented himself to be a son of a Kansas city bank president named Knowles who had spent the summer with his wife at the White Mountains, where he met Mr. Hillands. He informed Mr. Hillands that he had won two valuable books in the morning and wanted to try to win two others. He said they were a history of the Boston markets and worth $500. Mr. Hillands was much interested and was induced to accompany the young man to the place where the books were to be gambled for. It was a finely furnished front room on Dartmouth street. Spread out upon a table was a regular green bunco cloth, having the magic numbers upon it. The moment the "steerer" entered, the man behind the "green" remarked: "Oh you're the man who won the two books this morning."

"I know that, but I want two more," said the little man.

The little man won $20 at the game and then said: "Now, I'll lay down my $20 for you, and you play for an inning." Mr. Hillands."

Mr. Hillands played and the little man shouted: "Why, see, you've won $400."

"Just just you wait a minute," said the man who operated the game, "I am not going to pay you until I see whether you could have paid me if you had lost. Have you got $400?"

"Yes, I have $500," said Mr. Hillands.

"Well, show your roll."

"I'll go to the bank and get it," replied Mr. Hillands.

Mr. Hillands then left the room and instead of going to the bank he went to Chief Watts' office, laid the case before him and a trap was laid for the bunco men. Mr. Hillands returned to the place with an envelope which was supposed to contain the money, while the others secreted themselves. As he came near the house, Mr. Hillands was approached by "Little Harry," who after being assured by the former that he had the money, remarked: "Well, we will do these fellows up now. Wait here a minute," and he started towards the house. Mr. Hillands gave the pre-arranged signal and Chief Watts came into view. As soon as "Little Harry" caught sight of the chief he took to his heels and gave both officers a lively chase but was finally secured.

The party then returned to the room where the lay out was, but the other bunco man had been there and cleaned out everything. In the prisoner's pocket was an excellent "bunco roll" of greenbacks, bound by tape, such as is used in banks and marked $1000. It consisted of two ten dollar bills, one on the top and one on the bottom, with smaller bills scattered through, making a total of $100. But in between the bills were nicely cut slips of green paper which gave the wad the appearance of being a genuine $100 bundle.

"Little Harry" will be charged with attempting to obtain $1000 by trickery.

SECOND ANNUAL

Banquet of Co. C Porto Rican Veterans

HELD AT THE ROCKINGHAM HOTEL

Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year

At the Rockingham hotel last evening the second anniversary of the mustering into the United States service of Company C, Sixth regiment, was fittingly observed with a banquet. The Porto Rican veterans were out in force, the guests including Lieutenant-colonel Butler Ames and Arthur F. Salmon.

An elaborate menu was served early in the evening, after which interesting postprandial exercises were held. Lieutenant Colby T. Kittredge serving as toastmaster. In the way of speech-making, Lieutenant Kittredge made feeling reference to the comrades now fighting in the Philippines and at his suggestion a standing toast was drunk in their behalf. It was then voted that the clerk be instructed to write letters to each of them that they might know that they had not been forgotten by their comrades of the Porto Rican campaign.

Lieutenant Frank G. Rose paid a glowing tribute to the comrades who shed their life's blood in their country's service and at his suggestion a standing toast was then drunk in their memory. Arthur F. Salmon paid an eloquent tribute to Old Glory in stanza and "Break the News to Mother," and other selections were given masterly renditions by Alexander D. Mitchell and Orin Demarais, Russell S. Going presiding at the piano.

Lieutenant-colonel Butler Ames spoke in a reminiscent and facetious vein, of his recollection of experiences in Porto Rico. At the close of the banquet a business meeting was held for the purpose of organizing under the name of Company C, U. S. V. The following officers were elected: Commander, Fisher H. Pearson; vice commander, Lieut. Kittredge; treasurer, John Kelsey; clerk, Leslie Wisner. Rep. Ames was elected an honorary member.

The festivities were prolonged till nearly midnight when an adjournment of one year was taken.

CHAS. MUSSEY.

IT IS SAID WILL TURN STATE'S EVIDENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

RUTLAND, Vt., May 12.—Many rumors have been prevalent here for several days to the effect that Charles Mussey, the former cashier of the wrecked Merchants' National bank of Rutland, who is under arrest charged with embezzlement, will turn state's evidence and make a full explanation as to the disappearance of $145,000 or more of the bank's funds. His case will come up before the May term of the United States court which is to open at Windsor next Tuesday afternoon. The rumors have not been verified but there is a general belief that Mussey will plead guilty to charges of embezzlement and misappropriation, and throw himself upon the mercy of the court. It is considered possible that Mussey may not be asked to plead at Windsor, where the grand jury will submit a list of indictments, but that Judge Wheeler will adjourn court to Rutland, and hear the bank case on May 22. The attorneys for Marvin McClure, the local music dealer, who is under arrest on charges connected with the wrecking of the Merchants' bank, expect that his case will go over to another term.

Mussey was recently taken from the house of correction, where he is confined, to the bank, and a conference was held with Bank Examiner Muir and Government Attorney Moore of Washington. He was at the bank two hours, but the exact nature of the conference has not been made public.

JEFFRIES' VICTORY

Won After He Was Hammered by Corbett

CHAMPION JEFFRIES.

The Ex-Champion Put up a Wonderful Fight and Restored Himself in the Esteem of the Sporting World

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 12.—James J. Jeffries is still champion.

He retained his title last night by defeating James J. Corbett at the Seaside athletic club, Coney Island, in the 23d round.

It was one of the greatest glove fights ever seen in this country. Up to the very time the knockout blow was landed it was any one's fight. Then in the 23d round, as they came to a clinch, Jeffries sent in a left-hand swing that landed just under the jaw. More than 100 times he had tried and missed with this same blow.

It resembled a fight between a greyhound and a mastiff. The mastiff would rush and scrap, but the greyhound would trip and run, and so it was until finally the mastiff seized his enemy and it was all over.

So with the two men. Jeffries missed again and again, swinging his great arms with a force that seemed great enough to break iron. Corbett hit him at will and landed four times to Jeffries' once. His cleverness amazed every one.

It was a fair fight, the men breaking clean, and there were really no clinches When the end came the men were in the corner, and Corbett fell with his head upon the lower rope where he rested as Referee Charley White counted him out.

George Considine, as Corbett went down, rushed along the outside of the ring to throw water upon him. Jeffries rushed to the side and thrust him away. Corbett was carried to his corner.

He soon revived, and, resting upon Considine's shoulder, staggered across the ring and shook hands with Jeffries. Jeffries patted him on the shoulder and he returned the caress. Then Brady, Corbett's old manager shook hands with him, and congratulated him on his great fight.

Corbett took his defeat good naturedly, and although he smiled, it was a tearful smile, and his eyes were damp with tears hard held.

A FAST FIGHT.

SEASIDE CLUB, Coney Island, May 12.—In the fastest, prettiest and closest heavyweight ring battle ever fought in New York, James J. Jeffries has reaffirmed his right to the championship. In the arena at the Seaside athletic club, last night, he decisively defeated Jim Corbett, once champion of the world himself after 22 rounds of scientific fighting.

It was a clean knockout, and it came so quickly that it dazed the thousands of keen, alert, intent spectators and left them in doubt as to just how the winning blow was delivered.

It was avowed that it was a left-hand jolt to the jaw, but Jeffries himself and Referee Charley White, who stood at his side, say it was a right-hand swing.

There is credit for the victor and credit for the vanquished in this cleverest of ring battles. Jeffries must be awarded the laurels of victory, yet his opponent is entitled to all honor for his most wonderful fight. That feature stands out in relief as the most striking one of the contest.

Corbett emerged from a year's retirement from the ring rejuvenated and fresh. He was as fast and clever as back in the days when people marveled at his skill. His foot work was wonderful and his defense perfect.

He outboxed his man at both long and short range and if he had had the strength necessary would have claimed and early victory. A hundred times he ducked under left swings that would have ended him just as did the punch that finally did.

At times he made the massive Jeffries look like a beginner in the art of offense and defense with the hands. His strategy was to jab and get away and when Jeffries stood over his quivering form his face showed marks of the punishment that he had inflicted.

Corbett went down to defeat that was regretted by a vast majority of the men who filled the hall. The money was against him, but he had a wealth of sympathy. It was probably his natural heritage as the short ender, but after the battle had begun, he won more support by his display of speed and skill.

Jeffries won with his strength, both that strength that lies in the power of massive muscle and that strength which is the essence of vitality. He made the pace for the most of the distance and at the end was still strong and effective.

At first glance the battle may seem to detract a trifle from his reputation for it showed that a fast man can reach him and get away without a return.

It is improbable that there was ever a more orderly affair under the Horton law. There was little betting on the outcome of the battle. There had been so much delay and interference in the earlier stages of the negotiations for the fight and so much doubt created by the former showing of the men, that the betting was killed. In the small sums placed Jeffries was a clear favorite at odds of 2 to 1. Those odds veered at different times at different places during the evening, but 5 to 2 was probably the highest and 5 to 3 the lowest offered. A favorite bet offered was that Corbett would last 10 rounds. There was more Jeffries than Corbett money offered, but there never was at any time any activity in the betting.

Despite the long delay that intervened between the arrival of the men and their entrance into the ring, the crowd was scarcely restless. It was made up of representative elements of the business, professional, theatrical and sporting world. It was only when the battle itself began that hoarse yells came to tell of enthusiasm for a favorite or hope as to money wagered. The reception of the men at the ringside was warm, but not demonstrative.

Jeffries looked rugged, brown and strong. Corbett was clean-looking, white and trim. He said he weighed more than on the day when he defeated Sullivan but he did not look it. He seemed to be in splendid condition.

The crowd showed its first enthusiasm over the announcement that Charley White would referee the fight. There was a roar of applause when he entered the ring. There was a brief wrangle over the bandages on Corbett's hands but he was finally allowed to wear them. The gong soon clanged, and as the men sprang forward there was a silence broken only by the clatter of the telegraph instruments.

In the preliminary sparring Corbett showed to wonderous advantage. He was pantherlike on his feet and darted in and out with confusing speed. He whipped his left into Jeffries' face and was either inside or away from the punch. Jeffries kept going in, but he seemed awkward. The pace made by the champion was fast, and there was a yell of satisfaction from the spectators when the round ended.

Jeffries kept on making the pace when they were at it again, but Corbett slipped away from him, Jeffries would try his left in a rush, but Corbett was almost invariably away from it.

There were murmurs of approval that at times broadened into cheers; Corbett was outboxing his man and outpointing him with his lefts to the face. They were both fighting carefully, for while Corbett had the speed and cleverness he found Jeffries hard to get to.

Jeffries fought in his crouching attitude. He quickly began to use his strength and in the clinches threw a little of his strength on to his opponent. Corbett showed surprising ability against him, and it was long before the strength of the champion began to tell.

When Corbett saved the 10-round money, there was a strong chance in sentiment toward him. Jeffries' supporters began to be dubious. Jeffries was grim and resolute and kept at his man relentlessly. Corbett kept his wit and strength and avoided him. It was youth and strength with a fair measure of skill pitted against the master of the sport. The exhibition was a fine one and the pace and one that would have told against any man not perfectly prepared.

By the 17th round, Jeffries maddened by the danger of marring his reputation, began a series of desperate rushes in which he mixed it up fiercely with Corbett. He seemed angered by the jabbing at his face and wanted to end it with a swing from left or right. Corbett had begun to show the pace, but while his punches lacked force, he was still speedy on his feet. He contented himself with avoiding punishment. It became simply a question of how long that sort of game could be kept up.

At the 20th round, it looked as if Corbett would stay the limit and popular judgment awarded him victory. He had so far avoided any serious punishment. His defense was still perfect, and he was smiling and confident. He either side-stepped from Jeffries' terrible rushes or ducked into clinches. Jeffries was hammering away, however, and was strong and game.

The end came with the suddenness of a shock. The men had had two fierce rallies, followed each time by long-range sparring, and were in together again. They were both fighting fast and hard. Suddenly there was a report of a sharp blow, and Corbett dropped. It needed no count to tell that Corbett's hopes of the championship again were vain.

The excited spectators sprang to their feet and for a moment there were roars and calls. The confusion was but momentary, however, and in a silence that was most remarkable Corbett was carried to his corner.

Some one called for cheers for Jeffries but the crowd refused to give them. Whn a moment later a friend of Corbett put the question 1000 throats echoed a kindly response. It was in the corner of the defeated man, too, that the crowd gathered and there were more solicitous offers of aid for him than there were congratulations for the victor.

STORY OF THE FIGHT.

The fight by rounds:

Round 4.—They rushed to a clinch, after which Jeff hooked a left to the head. Corbett tried a right to the body, but fell short. Jeff sent his right over to the head. They sparred for a spell with Corbett breaking ground, and then Jeff forced Corbett to the ropes, sending his left to the body. A moment later he repeated this blow and Corbett looked worried. At close quarters, Jeff put his right to the head and as they broke he came back quickly with right to body. Then a right and left from Jeff to the head jarred Corbett. Jeff followed up with another terrific left on the neck and Corbett was very tired when the bell rang.

Round 5—Corbett resumed the contest with evident relish, but he was very anxious meanwhile. Jeff got to him at close quarters with light left to body, and Corbett failed to reply. Corbett feinted with his right, but Jeff called the bluff and hooked his left to the body. Corbett sparred cleverly, sending left to body and after a little shifty work hooked left twice to head. Jeff attempted a left hook for the jaw, but Corbett ducked and sent another left to the jaw. Jeff then crowded in and rushed Jim to the ropes, putting left hard to the body. Jeff forced the fighting and sent left to face and body with telling effect just before the bell sounded.

Round 6—Corbett sprung to the center of the ring, but Jeff was ready for him. "Don't let him get set," said George Considine. "Watch him, Jim. He can't hit you in a week." A second later Jeff made a straight left to the face. Corbett made an ineffectual try for the head. Three clinches followed with the honors in Jeff's favor, and Corbett was compelled to shift continually to avoid the champion's leads. Corbett used his legs for safety to the end of the round without having scored a semblance to a blow.

Round 8—Corbett rushed in with a left to the body, which was blocked, and Jeff forced him to the ropes with a right smash to the chest. Corbett hooked left to head and Jeff countered to stomach. Corbett hooked left to head and got away clean. Jeff made a bull rush, sending his left to wind without a return. Jeff kept on forcing, but was very wild in his delivery, as he missed three left hooks for the head. Corbett dodged all three in the smartest manner. Jeff kept on forcing the pace and landed left on the neck. Corbett countering with the right hook to the head. Corbett stepped in and got in a corking good right to the ribs and ducked Jeff's counter. The bell found them sparring.

Round 9.—Both led lefts to head and clinched. Then Corbett hooked left to the head and swung right to jaw, staggering Jeff. Corbett followed up with another right swing to the jaw, but it was not so hard as the previous one. Jeff came in with a left to body, and in the breakaway Corbett swung a terrific right to the jaw, which made Jeff look very groggy. Corbett seeing his advantage put his left and right quickly to the head and hooked another hard left to the jaw. Jeff sent back a hard left swing to the head. Corbett was the cleverer in the exchange which followed, and he landed his left with provoking regularity on Jeff's face, much to the latter's detriment. This was certainly Corbett's round and the best round of the fight thus far.

Round 10.—Corbett opened with a left to the head and ducked the return. Again he hooked left to the ear, blocking Jeff's attempt for the body. Jeff then was on the aggressive, but Corbet, quick as lightning, sent left and right to the face, and had the big fellow guessing before he knew where he was at. Corbett kept forcing, and with another left to the nose made the boiler-maker's nasal organ bleed profusely. Jeff was very wild, swinging at random, while Corbett kept landing left-hand jabs on neck and face. Jeff made several rushes, but to no purpose, and Corbett's stock went booming. Corbett was loudly cheered at the end of the round.

Round 11—Corbett opened with left to the body and Jeff rushed him to the corner, but failed to land effectively. He tried a left swing for Corbett's head, but Corbett dodged it and sent right and left to the body. Corbett sent two left jabs to Jeff's mouth, bringing the blood from the champion's lips. Jeff seems to be rattled at this stage, and Corbett found no difficulty in getting his left to the face. Jeff tried several left swings, but Corbett got under them and hooked his right hard over to the body twice. Jeff jabbed Corbett in the face under the jaw. Corbett did not seem phased by these blows, and walked to his corner smiling.

Round 13.—Both were careful. Jeff tried left half a dozen times, but Corbett got out of range. Jeff tried right again to head, but Corbett shifted inside of the lead and clinched. Jeff hooked left to neck and rushed Corbett to the ropes. Corbett came back quickly and they clinched twice without doing any injury to each other. Jeff made a bull-dog rush, sending left to body and right to the head, putting Corbett to the ropes, staggering him. Jeff crowded in and forced the pace which was evidently too hot for Corbett, and the bell sounded none too soon.

Round 17—Corbett ran into a left smash on the face but countered with hard left on the ear. Jeff looked desperate and rushed at Corbett like a wild man. Corbett met his rushes with left jabs to face and the best that Jeff sent back was a right to the ribs. Coming to close quarters Corbett drove right to body and hooked left to the face. Jeff landed left to body and then drove his right hard for the chest, but Corbett blocked the blow. A hard left on the body from Jeff almost took Corbett off his feet, but Corbett held on pluckily and skipped around out of danger when it looked as if he was bound to lose. This was Jeff's round.

Round 19—Jeff tried two lefts for the body, but they were blocked. Then Jeff hooked left to head and Corbett sent back a left swing to the jaw. Jeff rushed and forced Corbett to the ropes, sending left to body and right to neck. Jeff knocked Corbett to the floor with a right smash to the ear. Corbett got up like a flash, as if the fall had not taken the steam out of him. Jeff kept crowding in, using his left to the ribs and neck. Corbett countered with straight left jabs to the face. In a clinch Jeff sent his right twice to the kidneys and had all the better of the round at the close.

Round 20—Jeff rushed at his man like a mad bull, but Corbett side-stepped and sprinted out of harm's way, sending a straight left to the ribs as he went. Jeff rushed again, but Corbett got inside his lead and fooled him. He threw his body against the champion chest and blocked every blow. Corbett stepped to either side every time Jeff tried to land and dodged two hard left swings. Jeff succeeded in landing left on the neck. Corbett countered on the ribs. Corbett's foot work was extremely clever in this round and he surprised everybody who watched him. Jeff seemed disgruntled at not being able to land a telling blow.

Round 21—Corbett opened with left on the face. Jeff rushed him into a corner, where Corbett slipped quickly and evaded a right swing for the head. Jeff kept boring in, but Corbett met him at every turn, blocking cleverly. Corbett hooked right to the stomach, and Jeff sent two lefts to head. Jeff jabbed left hard on the chest and hooked to the face. Corbett countering with his right to the ear. At close quarters Jeff hooked right to head and in the clinch which followed lay heavily over his opponent. In the breakaway Corbett lupded light right on the head and sprinted to the ropes, where another clinch occurred without any more harm being done.

The merchant who pays for advertising and doesn't get it, cries out that advertising doesn't pay. He is wrong. Advertising pays if you get it. If you pay for any commodity that is never delivered, you lose money on it, just the same as you lose on advertising that you pay for but never get.

When merchants learn to buy their advertising space in the newspapers as they buy their merchandise—by measure and weight, it will pay them. Buy space by the inch per thousand of circulation and see that you get what you pay for. Then you will never be cheated in advertising and it will pay you. LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

LOWELL'S POPULATION 100 YEARS HENCE.

Taking the population of Lowell in 1826 as 2,720, the figures obtained from the records unearthed from the First Baptist church foundation, there is room for a nice little problem in arithmetic to approximate the population of this city at the end of the next century providing the annual rate of increase be the same.

The population in 1826 was 2720 and in 1900 it is 90,000, a difference of 87,280, which is the increase for 74 years. This shows an average increase of 1,179 per year. Multiply this number by 100 on the assumption that we shall have an equal increase every year for the next century and the total increase in our population by the end of the century would be 117,900 which added to our present population would make 207,000. Of course, if our citizens manage to keep the tax rate as high as at present and if the mills through the hold which the Locks and Canals have on the water power, keep out all other industries, the rate of increase may not be as great as it was in the past 74 years. With a view to gathering in a population of this size, the city should adopt some system of laying out our streets so that they may not resemble those of Boston in angularity and width. At the present time the owner of a piece of land has but to lay it out in streets to suit his convenience without regard to their relation to other streets, their direction or width. Thus the streets of the city run in all possible directions without any sign of system or order. It is time the street department should plan for the convenience of the 207,000 people who will reside here in the year 2000, so that it will not be necessary to widen the streets or run elevated cars or construct subways under the business portion of the city.

MacQUEEN ON THE WAR.

Rev. Peter MacQueen, writing from South Africa, states that even the Englishmen who reside there assert that Africa should be left to the Africanders and that in time there will be a union of South African states similar to the union of states in North America. He describes in a graphic style the hatred which the Boers entertain for English rule and asserts that this feeling is not confined entirely to the Boers, but is shared by Germans, Frenchmen and others of European nationality who have gone there to escape the tyranny of European governments. He says that the Boer women have organized companies of crack shots to take the places of their husbands and brothers if the latter fall in battle or are disabled by sickness. He also states that if eventually the English capture Pretoria, the Boers will trek northward and occupy the hills of Zoutpansburg, where they could hold out long enough for England to get into other difficulties either in South Africa or elsewhere.

Corbett made the best fight of his life despite his defeat. Jeffries' superior weight and strength alone saved him from going down before Corbett's scientific tactics, his repeated blows on the face and his agility in warding off and ducking blows. Jeffries can knock out any man with one blow if he succeeds in landing squarely. In this he succeeded in the 23d round and Corbett was floored by a blow that would have felled even a fresher and a stronger man.

The enormous crowd that thronged Merrimack square last night to listen to the report of the fight from The Sun megaphone was probably the largest ever seen there on any occasion. The Sun's report of the fight was taken direct from the wire and was given with marvellous promptness and precision. At no time was the report more than five minutes behind the time of the actual occurrences in the ring. The crowd that gathered around the different newspaper offices that gave out the report represented their comparative circulations.

The Boers retire before Roberts' force only to escape being surrounded. Recent dispatches told that the Boers had a fighting front of 20 miles width, but that the British front was necessarily wider. An army almost as large as the entire Boer force, is detailed to try a flank movement on either side of the Boer front and thus to escape being surrounded the Boers have to fall back. This will continue until the Boers get to the hills in the Transvaal, where such tactics by the British will be impracticable.

Notice how quickly Gen. Roberts reduced Kitchener to comparative obscurity and subserviency—the man who requested only the permission from Her Britannic Majesty to shop off a head wherever he saw fit. That high dignitary, the butcher of Khartoum, is no longer the co-partner with Roberts in conducting the war, but a subordinate of the most ordinary type.

The state machine which has ruled republicans of Connecticut for years, has won another victory over the Fessenden faction which tried to smash it and hence boss rule will continue in that state for some time. This should pave the way for democratic victory next fall.

The suburban electrics are taking the profits from the poultry raisers about Newsbury. It is an unexplained trait of the suburban hen to try to see how close she can run to the car without being hit, and nearly every flock will leave off scratching by the roadside at the approach of a car, and do a stunt in front of it, running along the track till the vehicle almost strikes them, and then fluttering to safety at the worry she has caused the motorman. You ask any of the men who run the suburban lines if it is not a fact that four hens out of five will do just this way.

Some people like to read about other peoples' troubles in police court, but dislike very much to figure themselves in the newspapers. Now, as a friend remarked today, if a man gets into court and the airing of his private affairs becomes of public interest, he can be reckoned as nothing but unreasonable if he finds fault with the newspapers which prints the court proceedings in relation to his case. And yet how many people there are who, getting into the newspapers after that manner, berate the newspapers and their editors outright. If people desire to be kept out of the newspapers in that respect, they must keep out of courts. If they get into court or politics, they might as well make up their minds beforehand that not all the newspapers published will look upon them in just the light which they think they should. They must expect that things will be said about them which are not pleasant to their ears. If they are honest men they will accept that condition of affairs as a matter of course; but if they are narrow and weak mentally they will rave and make pitiable spectacles of themselves because newspapers refuse to make these particular persons exceptions to the rule that would lay all such matters fairly before the public.

Festive
Summer waist appear upon
The scene
In every shade
From white to red, and Hundreds in between.
It dazzleth every manly eye
And stirreth
Every pulse,
And maketh anxious fellows
Haste to follow
At her beck
As down the street in glad array
Fair Doris lightly trips
As down the street in glad array
Fair Doris lightly trips,
A vison rare
From ankle neat to
Dainty finger tips;
And there,
Hosts of others—all most
Gleefully parade;
With some in stripe
And some in plaid and some
In checks arrayed;
And some are silken, some
Are wool, some linen,
Some pique,
And o'en the flannel and
Nearsilk are seen
In the array;
And some do blaze like
Coals of fire, while some are
Verdant quite,
And every shade of yellow, blue,
Red, green is in sight;
And thus when warming zephyrs
Kiss the early leafing tree,
The streets
Become kaleidoscopes
Of femininity;
And marvel of all marvels, each
Bright damsel feels that she
Doth wear by far the
Sweetest waist
Of all
That company.
All maidens love the
Summer waist, the waist of
Giddy hue.
And laddies love to love the maids,
Who love this loving, too!
So here's a toast, a merry toast,
To maidens sweet, encased
Within the
Gay, alluring, neat and giddy
Summer Waist.

LORD SALISBURY

Severely Criticised for His Recent Speech

Nation Expected Exactly the Opposite to What He Said—His Supporters Say He Must Have Been Off His Head

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, May 12.—Lord Salisbury addressed the members of the Primrose league on Wednesday, but the drift of his meaning has not yet filtered into British minds. The remarkable utterances of the premier on that occasion continue to form almost the sole topic of conversation, though editorial writers quickly gave up the attempt to analyze for the benefit of the public the numerous features of the speech and were well nigh staggered in to silence by its bailing unexpectedness and the multiplicity of the issues it contained. It was delivered when the nation expected exactly the opposite kind of remarks. To implore his countrymen to awake to the perils constantly menacing their great empire and its existence at the very moment when a long period of patient waiting had been replaced by jubilation over Lord Roberts' successful advance, was an expedient so utterly hereft of the first principles of politics, especially considering the approach of the elections, that some of Lord Salisbury's own supporters believe he was almost off his head when he spoke.

Not content with this, he pulled down every pretty fabric that has been built around the queen's visit to Ireland, calmly comparing the present efforts to attain home rule to Boer conspiracies and hostility. And this after the queen and every leading member of Lord Salisbury's own cabinet and party had been at particular pains to bury the Irish hatchet. Moreover, the whole tone of the speech lacked all those formalities, reticence and veiled allusions to which the English people have been accustomed since the days of Pitt and Palmerston.

Lord Salisbury, hitherto, has religiously followed such precedents, but on Wednesday he spoke to the public as he might to an intimate friend after dinner. So amazing and so interesting has been Lord Salisbury himself, as revealed this week, that the broad—and from the standpoint of other nations, the far most important—sensational feature of the speech has passed almost unnoticed. Were the premier of any other European state to get up in these times of wars and rumors of war and urge the people of an eminently commercial race to accustom themselves to the use of firearms and to establish rifle clubs in every city, village and hamlet, there would run through Europe such a shiver of fright and such vivid anticipation of hostile intention and devastating conflict that market prices would drop by decades and mobilization plans would be at the finger tip of every war minister.

That this has not occurred appears to be due to the generally recognized fact that Salisbury is more a philosopher than a statesman, and that when he pessimistically painted the hostilities toward England the world over, he was speaking purely in the abstract, and without harboring in his mind one concrete instance whereby hostilities might become an immediate fact.

A curious instance connected with the Ladysmith naval brigade of the British cruiser Powerful was that the decorating authorities almost smothered the office of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian high commissioner with the Stars and Stripes, while on the outside of the United States embassy, in the same street, there was no sign of an American flag. Lord Strathcona pointed out the unsuitability of the predominance of the Stars and Stripes and the number of those emblems was reduced.

A NEW BIBLE.

The latest display of British ingenuity is a new bible. Mr. J. K. Starley, has issued under the auspices of the Sunday school supply company, a bible in which the new testament precedes the old. In the preface, Mr. Starley justifies his action by saying the old testament was meant to be "a candle stick on which the new should stand," adding, "Yet we have largely made the old an extinguisher which puts out its light."

With all the best players at the war, the polo season opens tamely. Clubs like the Ranelagh and Hurlingham are likely to be quiet this summer.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Charles Day Rose, formerly of Montreal and once a challenger for the America's cup. His two eldest sons have been killed in the war. A third son, Adrian Rose, has just been gazetted and started for South Africa Thursday.

Great Britain continues to be bewildered by the continual success of the American jockeys and vainly seeks an explanation. One of the leading authorities on English racing matters, in an article on the "Man of the World," says:

"Our English jockeys appear to have relinquished all efforts at competing with the indefatigable team of trans-Atlantic horsemen now with us. Had some of our young aspirants the energy and determination to get to the front possessed by Sloan, Martin, Relf and company, their chances of success would be considerably improved. At present they, with some half a dozen exceptions, appear absolutely paralyzed at the turn affairs have taken."

A SAD TRAGEDY

Mother and Child Found Lifeless

BOTH OF THEM HAD TAKEN POISON

Four Year Old Girl Tells the Story

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Mrs. Annie Gumbart was found dead on the floor of her dining room at 131 West 15th street yesterday. Her 8-year-old daughter, Annie, was discovered lifeless on a bed in an adjoining room.

The deaths were explained by a 4-year-old daughter, who was found sitting on the bed beside the body of her sister. The tot's name is Katie, and she said that her mother had given herself and her sister a dose of "medicine" while they were in bed.

"It tasted bad and I wouldn't swallow it," said Katie, and this explains why the child lived to tell the story of the tragedy.

The police are satisfied that Mrs. Gumbart gave poison to her children and then took some herself with suicidal intent.

According to statements made by relatives of the family, Mrs. Gumbart, who was a widow, was a consumptive. It is said that physicians had warned her that one of her lungs was entirely gone, and that it was only a question of time before she would lose the other. She had been much depressed the last few days before she went about her purpose of killing her children and taking her own life.

"I wouldn't mind dying myself," she said, on one occasion, "if I only knew what would become of my children."

Roland Mason discovered the bodies. He carried Katie from the chamber of death, and thence to the home of another Mrs. Gumbart, 483 West 22d street, who is a sister-in-law of the dead woman. Later the police took charge of the child.

Mrs. Patrick Ford, the janitress, said Mason had been known to her as Mrs. Gumbart's husband, as he had paid the rent and taken the receipts. Mason denied the story.

"How can a man who has been out of employment pay rent?" he asked. Mason declared he was only a boarder. He said there was another young man who boarded with Mrs. Gumbart, named Lee Vanwart. This man, however, could not be found by the police.

"I know what the poison is," said Dr. O'Hanlon, "but I will not tell its name until a chemical analysis has been made."

SECRETARY LONG

Will Not Attend the Philadelphia Convention

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 12.—A special from Washington says:

Secretary Long, whose attitude towards the vice-presidential nomination has been made unmistakable by his declaration that he regarded it as an "honor neither to be refused nor sought" will not attend the Philadelphia convention. He is adhering to his determination not to encourage or discourage any movement in his own interest. It is well known that he is receiving flattering letters from all parts of the country in relation to the second place on the ticket and many of his friends allude to the matter. To a representative who called his attention to a paragraph announcing that he had taken rooms at the Hotel Stanton, in Philadelphia, for his headquarters during the convention, Secretary Long said, with deliberate emphasis:

"I have not engaged any rooms in Philadelphia. I do not intend to go to Philadelphia. I would not go to the convention that if I knew by not going I should not receive the nomination for the vice-presidency. I might add that I have not spoken to any one on the subject of the vice-presidency who has not first broached it to me."

NICHOLAS CANFIELD

DISCHARGED ON COUNT OF SETTING FIRE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, May 12.—The grand jury for Suffolk county made its report for May today in the superior court here.

Herbert F. Milligan was indicted on a charge of larceny. He was employed by the Union Trust company and it is alleged he stole $10,500.

Thomas Jackson and Thomas Wilson were indicted for breaking and entering a business house in Chauncey street. Jackson was also indicted as an habitual criminal, the penalty for which is 25 years' imprisonment. In 1867, Jackson was sentenced to seven years in state prison; in 1875 he was given 10 years in the same institution and in 1895 he got three years in the house of correction.

It was said the youth had made a confession to the authorities at the state house but he denied it afterwards.

U. S. PAVILION

Handed Over to Paris Exposition Authorities

COMMISSIONER PECK'S PRESENTATION SPEECH

M. Picard Makes a Graceful Reply

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PARIS, May 12.—The United States pavilion on the Rue des Nations was formally handed over to the exposition authorities this afternoon. The ceremony was favored by beautiful weather and attracted a very large assemblage.

On transferring the United States building to M. Alfred Picard, commissioner general of the exposition, Mr. Peck said:

"The great nation which I have the honor to represent, has, by your sufferance, planted this building upon the soil of our sister republic, France. We rejoice that we have been permitted to erected this structure upon the Rue des Nations, and international avenue, destined to become the most famed and historic feature of your great universal exposition, for these homes of the peoples of the world, standing by the side of one another, will promote in a large degree, that great fraternity which should exist between the nations of the earth. We have builded our structure as a part of your international undertaking, and therefore it is my duty and great pleasure to transfer to you, as the executive head of the exposition, this edifice, which is the gift of a nation gladly uniting with other nations in bringing to France its resources and products as a contribution to the great peace festival so happily inaugurated."

Mr. Peck here presented M. Picard a gold key and pendant representing the pavilion, as a souvenir, and concluded with the words:

"I know my countrymen will join me in the sentiment: 'Vive le Commissaire General Picard, vive l'Exposition Universelle de 1900, vive la France.'"

M. Picard replied:

"It is for me a veritable good fortune and at the same time a profound pleasure to be able, on this solemn occasion, to offer to the eminent representative of the United States my most cordial congratulations. The palace of majestic elegance which you constructed on the banks of the Seine, and which we inaugurate today appear to me not only a temple to mark the progress of peace, but also a superb monument raised to the time-honored friendship of two nations. I feel certain that I will be a faithful interpreter of the sentiments of my fellow citizens in thanking the powerful republic of the United States for the friendly welcome given to the invitation of the French republic and admirable participation in the work of concord whereby all countries decided to close the 19th century."

In expressing his thanks for Mr. Peck's souvenir of the occasion, M. Picard said:

"It constitutes a new pledge of the prestige of our excellent intercourse, and particularly the indissoluble bond connecting the United States and France. Gentlemen, I ask you to salute the starry banner, the folds of which are so closely blende with those of the tri-color. 'Long live the United States of America, long live their illustrious President McKinley, long live their commissioner and their head, Mr. Peck.'"

A large assemblage of Americans and their guests included among whom were chief officials of the exposition, both French and foreign attended. Every particle of space within the building was occupied while a big crowd gathered around the pavilion in the Rue des Nations and on the terrace in front of the edifice looking on the Seine.

The ceremony of transferring the pavilion was quite simple, consisting of an address by Mr. Ferdinand W. Peck, commissioner of the United States, handing over the pavilion to M. Alfred Picard, as the head of the exposition and the latter's response in accepting the transfer. Sousa's band provided the music and the selections played were composed purely of American airs, except for the "Marseillaise."

Americans began arriving at the pavilion shortly after lunch. Mr. Peck reached the pavilion about 2 o'clock to await the arrival of M. Picard, who, escorted by Mr. R. D. Woodward, assistant United States commissioner, entered the exposition gate at the Invalide bridge at 2.30 o'clock and proceeded immediately along the Qual d'Orsay to the entrance of the American building, which faces the Seine.

M. Picard ascended the steps leading to the door. Here Mr. Peck stood surrounded by the members of the United States commission and as he welcomed the French commissioner general, Sousa's band struck up the "Marseillaise." All the spectators at once uncovered and amid the strains of the French hymn, M. Picard was conducted by Mr. Peck to the center of the rotunda. The audience greeted the conclusion of the air with cheers with M. Picard acknowledged. No time was lost in proceeding with the ceremony, Mr. Peck delivering his address and M. Picard reviving in a brief but eloquently couched speech.

HO! FOR BOSTON

New Electric Car Line Opened Today

CARS CAME THROUGH THIS MORNING

Fifteen Minute Time to Billerica Centre

The first cars of the new Boston, Lexington & Lowell street railroad came into Merrimack Square shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. The first car was in charge of Motorman Hickey of the Broadway line of this city and Conductor Frank Rourke of the Chelmsford street line.

Three closed cars followed each other along and their appearance here announced the opening of the new trolley line which promises to excel any electric car in the state for convenience and beauty of scenery.

The last spikes were driven at Billerica Centre last night and at daybreak all was in readiness for the opening of the new line which connects Lowell with the Hub, making the Spindle City the second greatest electric railroad center in New England.

The cars which first came up were eight-wheelers with two trolleys closed and vestibuled. They are longer and wider than the Lawrence and Nashua cars and might well be termed the Pullmans of the electric cars. The seats are arranged as on a steam car, and the vestibules are an innovation, the motorman being partitioned off from the standing room on the platforms, so that passengers will not interfere with him in his work at the brakes.

The cars are operated by air brakes, a wheel taking the place of the old-fashioned brake handle. The open cars which came up later are even bigger than the vestibule cars, being 18 inches wider. The vestibule cars cost $7000 each.

The first regular car today left Merrimack Square at 12.15 with a number of curious passengers on board. After that, they are running every half hour and the last car will leave the square at 10.45 o'clock tonight. Thus it remained for the street railroad to enable visitors to Lowell from Boston to remain here in the evening. It has often been complained by Bostonians visiting here that they could not get back to the Hub at night without starting almost immediately after supper. The electrics partially remedy this inconvenience by sending two cars to Boston after the last train has gone at 9.25 o'clock. All cars on this line connect for or go through to Boston. The change of cars is made at Arlington Heights, where the cars of the West End street railroad are taken. The fare from Lowell to Arlington Heights is 25 cents and from Arlington Heights to Boston is 5 cents additional, the through fare thus being 30 cents. The time for a through trip at present is 2 hours and 45 minutes, though it is believed that this will be cut down considerably when the road gets in working order. The regular schedule starts tomorrow when the first car leaves the square at 6.15 o'clock and every half hour after until 10.15 p. m.

On the first car in this morning were Supt. William H. Greene of the Lexington & Boston road and Supt. Morris Nash of the Lowell & Suburban. Supt. Greene is well known in Lowell and drove a horse car here some years ago. He is now superintendent of one of the most promising roads in New England.

The people of Billerica are highly pleased with the new road, for it means 15-minute time to Billerica Centre henceforth. The Lynn cars leave Merrimack Square on the even half hours while on the Lexington line they leave on the even quarters. As both lines go through the Centre there is 15 minute time to that pretty suburb.

If the companies will only make the fare to the Centre 5 cents and the trip to Boston 25 cents, the public will be well satisfied.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

MISS M. F. SWIFT

Dropped the Servian Prince for Another

Her Father Wanted no Beggared Prince in His Family

Miss Mabelle Florence Swift, the only daughter of P. C. Swift, has become engaged to Clarence Moore of Washington, D. C. Early in the fall the engagement of Miss Swift to Prince Alexis Karageorgevitch, the pretender to the Servian throne was the talk of Newport and Pride's Crossing, where the Swifts have a magnificent home and are social leaders. Prince Alexis met Miss Swift in Paris at the home of Miss Fanny Reed, sister of the late Mrs. Paran Stevens and followed her to America. He became the house guest of the Swifts and was the less of all occasions until a premature publication of his engagement to Miss Swift aroused the ire of her father. When the prince laid the matter before Mr. Swift and asked his consent, he was told that if Miss Swift married him, she would be disinherited. The prince departed on the next steamer for Paris, where he is now a frequent guest at the home of Miss Reed and an ardent admirer of American heiresses with more tractable fathers.

Friends of Miss Swift in Washington find in this announcement a welcome assurance that the young beauty is free from the entanglements of a foreign fortune hunter.

Miss Swift has frequently visited

MISS MABELLE FLORENCE SWIFT, ENGAGED.

Washington, where she has many friends and relatives. Her fiance, Clarence Moore, is a popular member of resident society. He is master of hounds and secretary of the Chevy Chase club. He is also a member of the Metropolitan and the Alibi clubs. Mr. Moore has a large private fortune, but he is not so well provided financially as Miss Swift, who is the millionaire's heiress. Miss Swift is well known in Lowell, but resides mostly in Boston and Newport, R. I. She is heiress to $30,000,000. The story of her betrothal to the Prince Karageorevitch was published in The Sun last September and caused quite a sensation, but the affair was brought to a speedy termination by Mr. Swift's announcement that if she married the European adventurer she would be disinherited. The fortune-hunter departed as soon as he found that the intended father-in-law refused to sacrifice his daughter and her fortune as well.

DYING MAN

RE-UNITED BY MARRIAGE WITH HIS SECOND WIFE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BALTIMORE May 12.—The reuniting of a divorced couple by a marriage ceremony at the death bed of the husband, an octogenarian, occurred at midnight last night in Woodberry, a suburb of this city.

For many years James Brown and his wife lived happily together. He was a widower at the time of his marriage and 25 years older than his wife. Ten years ago disagreements arose between them which led to a divorce.

After the separation Mrs. Brown went to New York to live, and Mr. Brown spent several years in Texas, returning to Woodberry two years ago.

When taken ill several months ago Mr. Brown yearned for the forgiveness of his wife. He wished, he said, that he might again call her his wife, before he died, and finally communicated with her in New York. He learned that she as well he wanted the trouble of former times obliterated and was willing to again become his wife.

Mrs. Brown came on from New York last night and the marriage took place immediately, Rev. W. A. Koontz of the Methodist church officiating.

The dying man smiled feebly as his wife bent over and kissed him and then fainted. His death is momentarily expected. The wife has not left his bedside since the marriage. She is 59 years old. He is 84.

STRIKE ORDERED

Street Railway Employes Called From Work

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12.—The union of the street railway employes voted early this morning to order a strike on all the lines of the Metropolitan street railway. Not enough men responded to the order to tie up any of the main lines and at 8.30 o'clock it was evident that unless there is a great change in the attitude of the men, the company can run cars continuously.

There was no serious trouble at the starting of any of the lines.

We can live way beyond a century, sure—The invention will startle the scientific world—A discovery in chemical science makes it possible to create and apply animal life from natural means and prevent failure from age and wear out—Fatal diseases can be prevented—Women made strong and vigorous by natural means—Treatment a luxury.

First. In all of the invention I shall surround myself with a staff of physical examiners whose skill will leave the smallest possible chance for mistakes.

Second. I shall undertake to get a solid foundation of health in my people and then maintain it, adding the forces of animal life sufficiently to prevent the nervous system from losing. By such means I shall endeavor to prevent people from growing old, and see to it that they have a well guarded, enjoyable existence, warding off fatal diseases by close watch and the best skilful attention procurable. We shall watch the heart, lungs, kidneys and nervous system, weekly, monthly or quarterly, as conditions may require, keeping a numbered private record. From new discoveries, we shall be able to reduce the attacks of epidemics to a minimum. We even abort smallpox without vaccination. We can prevent the ill effects from changes of temperature, at the time of exposure.

Third. I shall make a specialty of nervous diseases and breakdown, from any cause, the results of high living and dissipated habits, insanity, (remarkable cases in this city already, we cannot give names). Paralysis, from exhaustion.

Fourth. We have many cases of old paralysis already recovered years ago, who remain in good physical condition.

Fifth. Our invariable rule of treatment, is all applications of the vitalizer must be made upon an empty stomach, 3½ hours after eating or drinking. Food may be taken an hour later. We shall reserve the right to return the money paid and refuse further treatment to patients who abuse themselves and refuse to follow directions that will be no hardship to them. I believe we can make a healthy man live 120 years.

TERMS.

Consultations and prescriptions: same price as other physicians.

One application of the vitalizer $2.00.

One application of the vitalizer and medicine, $2.50.

John Wanamaker Charges an Attempt to Intimidate

THE CHIEF OF POLICE ACCUSED

Editorials in Philadelphia Paper Objectional

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—John Wanamaker this evening issued the following statement:

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—I deem it my duty to submit to the public the narration of an incident which took place in my office on Thursday morning last. Under ordinary circumstances there possibly could be no excuse made for the intrusion of such private matter on the public attention, but when a powerful city official, the chief councillor of the mayor, controlling the police force of a municipality, threatens a citizen with a deliberately concocted and scandalous attack on his character, unless he silences the criticisms of a newspaper upon the acts of public officials, the occurrence is more than a private grievance, it is an incident of far-reaching and menacing import.

No more insidious and terrorizing form of blackmail could be devised. The threat of the chief of police of a great city, speaking for a mayor and municipal administration, is no idle boast. It is a monstrous and audacious attempt to intimidate and coerce by an unlawful and revolting abuse of power. To be silent under such circumstances would be an encouragement to lawless and truculent officials vested with authority with which they can harass and oppress. It would embolden the perpetrators of such practices, and put weak men at their mercy. I regard it therefore, as a duty to the newspaper press of the city and the country as well as to the entire community to lay before the public the following facts.

JOHN WANAMAKER.

Then follows a statement in which Mr. Wanamaker says:

"Yesterday morning, Director of Public Safety Abraham T. English in company with Commissioner of City Property George C. Pierie, entered my office, and after a few greetings, Director English said to me: 'I have come over here to talk to you about these attacks on the mayor and the administration in the North American. Have you seen the North American this morning?'

"I said, 'Yes, but I have not read it.'

"'Well,' he replied, 'there these attacks appear again in a big double column editorial, and we aren't going to stand it any longer.' (This editorial referred to was in criticism of the mayor's approval of the Keystone telephone ordinance.)

"At this point, I said to him, 'Well, Mr. Director, in view of the character of this conversation which you have entered upon, as you have brought a witness along with you, I think I shall ask some one to come in to be present upon my part to hear what takes place.' I thereupon stepped to an outer office and requested my secretary, Mr. Meyers, to come in, which he did. After his arrival the conversation was resumed by my saying to Mr. English, 'The North American is the property of my son, Thomas B. Wanamaker, and is controlled and managed by him alone. I have nothing to do with its publication.'

"Mr. English then replied: 'There is no use in your saying that you are not connected with it, for while the property and the paper might be in the name of Thomas B. Wanamaker, it was your money that paid for the paper. I want you to answer me, yes or no, whether you intend to stop the paper's attacks.'"

Mr. Wanamaker—"I will neither interfere in any way, not to the extent of one inch, with whatever Mr. Thomas B. Wanamaker who owns and controls the North American, intends to do with it, and I will not permit you, as director of public safety, or the mayor himself, even if he were president of the United States, to dictate to me on a question like this."

Director English—"Very well, then, I want to give you notice that for eight months we have been looking up your personal record from the time you were postmaster general. We have followed you throughout Washington, Philadelphia, New York and even in Europe and we have fortified ourselves with affidavits against you and since you have been attacking other people, we will now take our turn on you; you are vulnerable."

Mr. Wanamaker—"Yes, all mortals are. I have no doubt in your position you can get affidavits that would extend from here to the Delaware and I am not surprised at what you say and threaten. This is in accord with your course last winter when you began to persecute the firm about this building, and now you threaten to turn on me personally. Let me say you can do what you like and I defy you."

Director English—"You are very bold. That is a very good bluff."

Mr. Wanamaker—"It is the truth that is bluffing you and you may find that there is information in regard to you people that I have not gone out after or collected, but what is very common."

Director English, raising his finger and shaking it at me: "Well, sir, I insist that you shall stop these attacks of the North American on the administration; if you don't, you will have no one to blame for the consequences but yourself. We will not stand it any longer and we give you notice. You can stop it if you want to."

Mr. Wanamaker—"Your language is offensive and grossly insulting. You come to me in my private office and practically call me a liar and threaten me with the use of affidavits which you say you have collected against my character if I don't comply with your wishes and stop the publication of a certain newspaper in criticism of your administration. I can hold no further conversation with you and I request you to leave my office at once."

HIDDEN WEALTH

$1460 Found in Flooring of a House

DISCOVERED BY THE NEW OWNER

When He Was Making Some Repairs

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SUNCOOK, N. H., May 12.—The village of Hooksett and this place were treated to a sensation shortly after noon yesterday which has unwoven a mystery which has been in the dark for over 25 years. The sensation was created at Hooksett by the discovery of a large sum of money beneath the flooring of an old building which was being remodeled by the present owner in order that it might be rendered suitable for tenants.

Mr. John L. Otterson, tax collector of the town during the last 12 years; a brother of Mrs. George F. Munsey of this village, recently purchased from Joseph F. Haggett a piece of property situated on the east bank of the Merrimack river, about one-fourth of a mile from the post office at Roby's store.

Mr. Haggett purchased the property of Miss Mary Ann Remington, who resided in Hooksett many years and worked in the mills there. She lived alone and was noted for somewhat eccentric ways and died about 20 years ago.

At the time of her death, it was supposed that she was worth some property, but a thorough search of the house and premises where she lived failed to disclose anything to confirm the belief.

On purchasing the property, Mr. Otterson set about making needed repairs on the house and employed John Cate to do the work. Yesterday, while Mr. Cate was removing a floor in one of the rooms he discovered a small tin box underneath the flooring and on opening it was found to contain $1460 in government bonds of the issue of 1870, also $60 in gold and silver, but there was absolutely nothing to indicate to whom the property belonged.

There have resided in the house some 20 families since the death of Miss Remington.

There are said to be two surviving sisters of Miss Remington residing in Manchester, Miss Charlotte Remington and Mrs. John Littlefield, who formerly lived here many years.

It is a great mystery to many people how, if this is the property of the late Miss Remington and where she obtained the same, as the old citizens here firmly state that she was not bright for business and no one was ever known to be in such close contact with her that she would allow them to purchase bonds.

Mr. Otterson will advertise the property according to the laws of this state and if any one can prove the valuable find, he will turn it over to the lucky person or persons.

BIG FIGHTS

WILL BE HELD IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, May 12—It was announced at the Corbett-Jeffries fight that the Madison Square club, which has Madison Square Garden as its club house arena, has decided to hold boxing bouts in its big amphitheatre in the near future. Now that the courts have overruled the police board, which has refused the Madison Square a license, it will arrange to hold several important ring battles at once.

To conform with the Horton law, the managers of the Garden will cancel all other dates.

Frank Sanger, manager of the garden is at the head of the new club. The Horton law permits boxing under the auspices of a duly incorporated athletic club in a building owned or leased for more than a year by the said club.

The Madison Square club will make an effort to secure all the big fights. The immense seating capacity and locality will enable it to compete with any of the present clubs.

PEACE PLATFORM

Buencamino Experiences a Change of Heart

HE ADVISES AMERICAN CONTROL

In Order to Prevent Civil Strife

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA May 11.—11.30 p. m.—Senor Buencamino, at one time a member of the so-called Filipino republican cabinet, who was recently liberated by General Otis, announces that he has become reconciled to American sovereignty and that he will devote his influence to bring about peace. He has sent a proposed peace platform for the national Filipino party to the insurgent leaders in Manila, and to the insurgent generals, including Aguinaldo in the field.

This platform declares that it is impossible for the Filipinos to exist as a nation without the protection of the United States and that consequently they must recognize American sovereignty and strive to attain, under a constitution, the utmost liberty possible.

Continuing, Senor Buencamino argues that the Filipinos are incapable of self-government. He says:

"In our independent government, the most predominent notes were abuses and immoralities, the offspring of ignorance and the inherited vices of Spain, by which the Filipino regime was rendered odious to our own people."

Therefore, he contends, American control is necessary to prevent civil strife. He recommends to the national Filipino party the adoption ofa program embodying the following features:

First—Recognition of the sovereignty of the United States, cessation of hostilities and co-operation on the part of the Filipinos in the prosecution of the bandits who continue depredations in the name of independence.

Second—A request for a declaration by the United States government guaranteeing to the Filipinos personal liberties and rights under the constitution.

Third—A Filipino representative delegation to present to the American congress and public the desires of the Filipinos respecting political status.

Fourth—The application of a part of the public funds to the maintenance of hospitals for sick and wounded Filipino soldiers and for the establishment of schools.

Fifth—The transfer of the insurgent funds to the American treasury.

Sixth—The establishment of a permanent system of Filipino representatives to the civil commission.

Seventh—The exclusion of friars from the administration of the parishes.

Discussing the political outlook with the correspondent of the Associated Press today, Senor Buencamino said:

"There are three elements in the Philippines which obstruct the attainment of peace. The first is the body of Filipino agitators in Manila who are continually shouting for independence and who thus influence the ignorant masses. The second is the friars who desire a prolongation of hostilities because in peace between the Filipinos and the Americans they foresee the end of their prestige and power and the ultimate loss of their properties and holdings. The third element is—(suppressed by the censor.)

"If the civil commission brings liberal ideas and will approach Aguinaldo, today the idolized leader of the Filipinos and the other leaders, still fighting, in a way that will make it possible for them to surrender and yet to retain the respect and honor of their countrymen, then peace in the Philippines will be only a question of a few weeks.

"If the civil commission will guarantee protection to the personal and individual rights and liberties of the Filipinos, leaving the determination of our future status to the U. S. congress, Aguinaldo will come in and order a cessation of hostilities and will direct the surrender of arms.

"Your graceful sovereignty throughout the islands is unmistakable. We now crave your justice and your humanitarian liberal policy. Given, this has done much to render feasible and possible the application of the peace project upon which I am now working. Today, in Manila, we see public funds expended for the benefit of the people, in the construction of markets and bridges, in street repairs, in schools and in a police force. You have a good marriage law. You have established systems of municipal government and criminal procedure more liberal and just than were contemplated by the Filipino constitution.

"These facts attest your good faith, and our trust in the American people is as strong as ever.

MAKING MONEY

IT COSTS 50 CENTS FOR A RIDE IN ST. LOUIS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 12—Every street car line in this city is affected by the great strike which was declared five days ago. The Suburban lines are running, as usual. Both sides remain firm, the strikers refusing to recede one iota from their demands and their employers declining to accede to them. The public suffers great inconvenience as a result of the strike.

The owners of vehicles are making money fast, charging all the way from 10 to 50 cents for a trip that costs but five cents in the street cars. Circles are being formed by those who sympathize with the strikers for the purpose of influencing every one possible to walk until the strike is over.

Today the entire Suburban system is running on schedule time with its usual number of cars. About 25 cars each are being operated on the Park avenue, Compton Heights and the main line of the Transit company's Lindell division. Cars on this line are operating under police escort with strong guards along the right of way and at the terminal. Later in the day if sufficient police protection is afforded, cars will be started on the California, Bellefontaine and La Clede lines of the Transit system. Not a wheel on the other 17 divisions has moved since the strike began last Tuesday. No warrants have yet been issued against the strike leaders. The strikers have started a movement to interest some of the largest employers of union labor in the city in their cause.

AT COLLINSVILLE

Notes Gathered by a Sun Reporter

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE MILL

The Churchos, Post Office And School

The village of Collinsville, during late years, has grown from a mere settlement to one of the thriftiest villages in the whole of New England. It has grown from a small farming district into a large business center, the population of the village now being about 1500 inhabitants. The Collins mills, now known as the Beaver Brook mills, and the electric cars that run through that village, are the two main causes for the big advancement in this little village.

Some few years before 1851, a small wooden mill, being 60 feet long, 40 feet wide and four stories high was built. This was erected for the manufacture of cotton and the first cotton thread that was made in the United States was made in this little mill. The first cotton duck or canvas ever made in the United States was also made in this mill. The property was then owned by a John H. Pierceson of Boston and was run and managed by his agent, Mr. Peter Lawson, who was afterwards succeeded by his son, George Lawson. Geo. Lawson afterwards became agent of the mill and changed the product to what was known as blue drilling and sheeting.

The same year the original building was raised and two stories of stone were added and it was continued as a cotton mill until about 1862. The following year the plant was bought by a company composed of John A. Smith of Lowell, Edward Burrows of Dedham, and one Hastings of Boston. This company removed the cotton machinery and replaced it with woolen machinery taken from the mill at Dracut, which was also bought and started to manufacture cassimeres. This concern ran the mill for about ten years and after the place had been idle for about three years the mill was leased to Michael Collins in 1876. About the time that Mr. Collins bought the mill, the village proper contained a dozen houses including a large boarding house. Mr. Collins ran the place for about three years when he purchased it. Up to this time, the village had been known as Dracut, but after Mr. Collins bought the mills and started to improve the village it was named Collinsville after that gentleman.

The mill at that time contained six sets of cards and twenty-two looms. Additions were made at various times until the mill contained seven sets of cards and thirty-nine looms.

In the spring of 1864, ground was first broken by Mr. Collins for the new plant, which consisted of a three-story main mill 212 feet by 58 feet and another building for weaving, 165 feet by 70 feet. The first fire was started in the boilers in the new mill October 2, 1865. Most of the machinery was moved from the old mill into the new one and it started to run in 1865. The plant at this time contained 72 looms and 10 sets of cards.

In the year 1893, three stories were added to the main mill, making the structure six stories in height. After building the addition, thirty-two new looms were put in and 9 sets of cards, making a total of 104 looms and 10 sets of cards. In 1895 a new weave shed 125 feet by 94 feet, a boiler room and dye house were added to the plant. In addition to the big extensions that Mr. Collins had been making at the mill he had about fifty tenements erected during his proprietorship.

In May, 1899, the property was sold to the American Woolen company, which has made extensive improvements and more than doubled the capacity of the mill until today it is one of the largest woolen mills in the country. At the present time it contains 39 sets of cards; 16,518 spindles; 168 looms and the corporation owns 82 tenements. There has been no material change in the product of the mills since Mr. Collins first started as it has consisted chiefly of weaves and kerseys.

There are 620 operatives employed in the Beaver Brook mills at the present time, the majority of them residing in Collinsville. The present superintendent of the mills is Mr. John Allen, who was formerly connected with the Washington mills in Lawrence.

It will be remembered that on the 18th of April of this year, the mill on the opposite side of the road from the new one, and which was used as a storehouse was destroyed by fire, the loss amounting to about $60,000. Men are now at work clearing away the debris and a new storehouse is to be built on the site of the old one. It is not known yet whether it will be built of stone or brick.

A great many houses have been built in this village during the late years. A short time ago the corporation built about twenty double tenement houses and they are now at work building twelve more of these houses.

Besides the mill, the other buildings of interest that the village can boast of are two churches and a school house. The Catholic church, which is situated on the left side of the road before reaching the mills immediately attracts the attention of a visitor to this village. The church is a small one-story wooden structure and has a slanting roof with a small wooden spire. It is painted red, and one would think that it had been recently erected; but it is about fifteen years old. It was built in the early part of 1885 by Mr. Collins for the Catholic people of the village, so that they would not have to travel to Lowell to attend church, and it was dedicated August 15, 1885. At the dedicatory services Rev. Martin O'Brien, now deceased, was the celebrant of the mass and the sermon was delivered by Rev. M. T. McManus, who is now at St. Mary's church in Brookline, Mass. This church belongs to St. Michael's parish in this city and the priests of that parish hold services at the little church at 8.30 every Sunday morning.

Of late years a Protestant church has been erected near the suburbs of the village known as the Mission Chapel, and it is presided over by a local clergyman. The schoolhouse is on the cross roads above the mill and the primary and grammar studies are taught in this place. Miss Vina Newman is the principal. Scholars after graduating from this school attend the Lowell High school.

The postmaster of the village is Mr. Michael Collins and is in the provision and grocery store of Charles E. McCarthy. Two mails are received daily and two are sent into this city. The mail is brought back and forth on the electric cars and persons wanting mail have to call at the post office for it.

The water supply at the present time is from wells, but water pipes are to be laid in a very short time and the village is to receive their water from Long Pond. The water pipes have been delivered and it is expected that the ground will be broken and pipes laid at once.

The electric cars have made travel very easy to and from this city, and it is a ride of but thirty minutes from this city to Collinsville.

The cars run every half hour at this time of the year, but oftener during the warm weather.

BASE BALL

Think of Jessie Burkett, Jack O'Connor and Mugsey McGraw in one team.

Allentown has three Delehantys on the team, brothers of the famous Philadelphia player of that name.

Horace Keith of Brockton would like to buy the New York club from the present owners.

Dalrymple, the old Chicago player, who first came to the front in 1878, is now playing center for the Pueblo, Col., team.

Kitson is not holding his end up with Brooklyn and Howell will take his regular turn at the slab hereafter.

Mike Tiernan, the old New York player, has signed with Jerry Denny's Derby, Conn., team.

The Cincinnati Enquirer figures out that the general average speed of the left-handed batsmen in covering the 90 feet from the plate to first was 19.15 feet per second. The right-handers, penalized by having to first cross the plate, averaged 18.23 feet per second. The difference in favor of the left-handed batsmen is 92 feet, or just eight inches more per second. Their positions on the near side of the plate, in other words, gives them the same advantage that would result from a longer stride. They gain eight inches in every second of running time over the right-handed players.

Charley Bennett was a much stronger catcher than Mike Kelley but not Kelley's equal as a ball player.

The Cincinnati commercial man is trying to make out that Williams of Pittsburg is superior to James Collins, both as a fielder and a hitter. The fact is that Williams is not as good a third baseman as Leach, Cross Wallace and one or two more, while Collins has the bunch skinned a mile in the field, and not far from it with the stick, as the season will prove. Williams' wild throwing lets him out.

Manager Dooley of Montreal has released Clancy, pitcher, and Richter, utility infielder. The latter will go to Hartford. Cross, the pitcher of Indianapolis has been signed by Montreal.

David Murphy of Adams, who has been playing shortstop on the North Adams nine, has signed for the same position in the New London, Conn., league team.

Gene O'Connor will play centrefield for New Haven.

Shortstop Ely of the Pittsburgs is on the sick list.

Pitcher Hughes picks the Bostons to win the pennant.

Pitcher Joe Corbett is the father of a 12-pound daughter.

Fleldrick is expected to be able to join St. Louis next week.

There are seven inclosed ball parks on the south side in Chicago.

Only two balls were used in the game in Pittsburg last Monday.

Frank Robison will scarcely give Dave Cross to New York as a gift.

The Chicagoes left eight men behind on the trip to Pittsburg.

Of the batsmen who have played in a dozen games or more, Jajoie leads the list.

One of the New Haven pitchers registers in the genuinely Teutonic name of Adolph Vollendorf.

Buck Freeman's stick work is so good that Duffy will have a hard time making good with the crowd if he displaces Buck and goes back to left field again himself.

Jimmy Cooney, formerly of Providence, is playing with the Bristol club of the Connecticut league.

Ewing says he would not be surprised if Rusie did not pitch at all this season on account of his marital troubles.

First Baseman Kelly of the Indianapolis club is financially interested in the Youngstown (O.) club with Mike Flinn.

The Philadelphia club offered to take Robinson and McGraw off Frank Robison's hands for $15,000, but the latter would not have it.

Montreal has released Clancy, pitcher, and Richter, utility infielder. The latter will go to Hartford.

Never in the history of the game have there been lost to any new team such a galaxy of pitchers as Brooklyn lost in Joe Corbett, Hughes and McJames.

The Newarks and Athletics played a game in 1h., 30m., Tuesday. Newark won, 4 to 0. Scranton lost its first game to Elmira on Tuesday 3 to 2. Kennedy pitched for Scranton.

The make-up of the Attleboro nine is announced as follows: Maloney, catcher; Boyd and Woodworth, pitchers, Lauder, shortstop, Crollus left field, Hazleton, first base, Fleming, second base, Hefford, third, Williams centre, Newman right.

Says Tom Loftus: "The Cincinnati boys are playing a hustling game at the present time. Manager Allen is always in an alert position on the line coaching, and everybody in the team is playing in a manner to give the happiest impression. President Soden says that games will be played on the South end grounds this season unless the weather conditions absolutely prevent them. No games will be called off on account of the small attendance. Ewing did not want to play on Tuesday because there were so few people on the ground, but the Boston management insisted on going on with the game.

Jim Hart has practically promised the Chicago players a new clubhouse, to be built within a year or two. It will be a fancy affair, with the showers in the basement, lockers on the first floor and living room of the ground keeper above. There are two houses out there now and they were originally built to accommodate the home and visiting teams. Now they are not large enough to accommodate one team.

GRANGE MEETING

Attended by Many Patrons in Tewksbury

Magnificent Drill by Young Ladies

There was a very large attendance at the meeting of Tewksbury Grange last evening in Grange hall, Centre village. State Deputy J. E. Goodell of West Boylston was present as inspector of the degree work, the third and fourth degrees being conferred on Candidates Harold Patten and Charles A. Livingston. There were also many patrons present from Andover, Dracut and Billerica granges. Following the degree work, there was an entertainment which for uniqueness and originality is without precedent in grange entertainments, and the promotors are worthy of the greatest credit for carrying out the many details with such skill and ability. There was a drill given by sixteen ladies under the immediate supervision of Miss S. C. Whittemore, consisting of arches formed with wreaths and garlands and the scene presented was not only spectacular but beautiful to behold. A feature of the drill was a star within a handsome circle which was received with such enthusiasm that the rafters in the hall fairly shook. It was a pretty venture for the one in charge, and the ladies looked handsome performing the various evolutions, intricate in their make-up. The sixteen taking part in the drill were as follows: Miss Bertha Lee, Mrs. Marcellus A. Patten, Miss Lillian Carley, Miss Lottie Williams, Miss Edith Davis, Miss Theresa Small, Mrs. C. W. French, Miss Susie C. Whittemore, Miss Ida Johnson, Miss M. Nellie French, Miss Stella Merrill, Mrs. Mary Ruffel, Miss Mabelle Parsons, Miss Olive Haines, Miss A. Jeanette Carley, Miss Leona Fitzgerald. But the drill was not all the grangers enjoyed. There was a fine supper served at the close and it was one of those excellent menus such as the Tewksbury ladies know how to get up for visitors when they have the opportunity, and the choice viands were relished by all. The ladies received the highest encomiums for the untiring labor spent in arranging for the entertainment and supper. The committee composed Mr. George D. Forristall, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Patrons, Mrs. Clara Fitzgerald. The visiting grangers left the scene of festivities at a late hour thoroughly refreshed with their evening's diversion, and it was said by many that the drill was such a success that it ought to be repeated at the presentation of the coming operetta, of "The Merry Milkmaids" when the public might better allowed the privilege of enjoying it. The grange is in a fine condition for carrying out the work for which it was originally intended and the zealous members are feeling elated over the prospects of the coming season, when several entertainments for the members will be given and being planned by those in charge of this feature of sociability which has characterized all their progress since the grange was organized.

A WAY TO SOLVE A VEXING PROBLEM.

That ever difficult question, "Where to go for a vacation?" again confronts us, and a most perplexing problem it is. Northern New England, without a doubt, offers a greater variety of vacation places including lake, mountain and seashore resorts than any other section of the country.

The hotels of this region have no equal. The methods for amusement and recreation include everything that is desired and the easiness by which the tourist can reach his abiding place is a feature which alone speaks for itself.

A perusal of the "New Summer Resort & Tour Book" just issued by the Boston & Maine railroad will help amazingly in selecting your summer outing place. The book has a list of a thousand summer hotels and boarding houses, together with maps, routes, rates and stage connections and is sent to any address, free upon application to the General Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine railroad, Boston. Be sure you get it before you talk vacation.

NORMAL SCHOOL

EASILY DEFEATS ROGERS HALL BY A SCORE OF 7 TO 9.

In the Normal school gymnasium the Normal school basket ball team tried conclusions with an aggregation of basket ball tossers from the Rogers Hall school yesterday afternoon. A good crowd was in attendance and the game resulted in a victory for the normal colored team by a score of 9 to 7. The feature of the game was the exceptionally clever work of the Misses Crowley and Corkhill of the Normal school team.

YOUNG PEOPLE

OF FREE BAPTIST CHURCHES LISTEN TO ADDRESS.

At the Paige Street church last evening, Mr. Harry Myers, the field secretary of the Baptist Young People's societies addressed a good sized audience. His subject was the "Work of Young People's Societies." He showed in a very interesting way the progress made in the field of late years, and made some suggestions and predictions in regard to future labors. Mr. Myers' words showed what a vast amount of good is done by these societies and the young people connected with them and also how widespread the benefits are. His position as field secretary enables him to speak with certainty on the subject and his address showed that the societies are in a very encouraging and thriving condition.

The Young People's societies of the Mount Vernon, the Chelmsford Street and the Middlesex Village churches united with the Paige Street society at this meeting and were well represented.

After the address, a social time was in order and refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Leon Brown and Mrs. W. H. Upham.

MONTHLY MEETING

OF LOWELL MINISTERS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Lowell ministers held a monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. hall. A good attendance of the clergymen was present, Rev. C. W. Huntington presiding. The matter of the mass meeting to be held in all of the sufferers from the India famine was discussed. There is much enthusiasm manifested in regard to the meeting, and without a doubt there will be a generous response to the appeals for assistance from the unfortunate natives of India.

Rev. George H. Clarke, the new pastor at the Centralville M. E. church, and Rev. Mr. Dexter of Middlesex village chapel were introduced to the clergymen and received a cordial welcome.

The meeting adjourned to meet again the second Friday in September, as there will be no session during the summer months.

ENJOYABLE BOX PARTY.

In Pythian hall, last evening, a very enjoyable and largely attended box party was held under the auspices of the A. M. and D. L. club. A program was given including vocal solos, Mrs. Nettie Roberts and Gertrude Felch; recitations, Bertha Bond, Faith Doty; violin and piano duet, Miss Loretta and Thomas Hannaford; cake walks, Misses Edith May Baldwin and Blanche Bates, Elsie Grant, and Daisy Morgan, and violin solos by Joseph F. Morrill. George L. Hubbard auctioned the boxes off. The affair was successful both pecuniarily and socially.

Sales for the Week Ending May 19th, 1900.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON,

ASSIGNEES' SALE.

Immediately following the sale of the plant of the Atherton Machine company on Thursday afternoon the 17th day of May, 1900, the outlying lands belonging to the company will be sold without limit or reserve to the highest bidders, at absolute auction, as below.

AT 3.30 O'CLOCK.

The Red Village—In Three Lots.

First. The five most easterly houses and 6¾ acres of land, possessing a frontage of 197 feet on Rogers street. Of the five houses, two are double ones and face the street; three are two-tenement and extend in a northerly line in rear of the front houses.

Second. The middle row of five houses, and 2 acres of land, carrying a frontage of 86 feet on Rogers street. The large boarding house fronting on the street is in this lot, also four two-tenement houses stretched out in a line in the rear.

Third. The four most westerly houses and 2 2-3 acres of land, having a frontage of 150 feet on Rogers street and 1000 feet on Village street running at right angles from Rogers street. Each house has two tenements.

AT 4 O'CLOCK.

16 acres of land, between Village street and the Allen estate at the corner of Butman road, about equally divided into two lots. The first lot has a frontage of 196 feet on Rogers street; 1600 feet on Village street; is known as the "Base Ball Field;" is level, dry, and as high any land in the neighborhood. It wont be long before it is needed for building lots. The second lot has a frontage of 168 feet on Rogers street, and is the nearest Lowell of the two lots. On the lot is an old barn and a large sand bank of the most merchantable sand.

AT 4.20 O'CLOCK.

The Dickey estate, partly in Lowell and partly in Tewksbury, divided into five lots, and sold as follows: The homestead at the corner of Rogers street and Phoenix avenue:—Double house, stable and 1¾ acres of land; the land has a frontage of 150 feet on Rogers street and 288 feet on Phoenix avenue, and lays well; two lots of land on Rogers street, just west of the homestead, containing areas of about 1½ acres each, and frontages of 230 feet and 373 feet. Two large lots of land on Phoenix avenue, adjoining the corner lot, containing over 5 acres of land each and having frontages of over 300 feet each.

AT 5 O'CLOCK.

About 4½ acres of land not far beyond the Red Village, and adjoining the first house on the right.

The sale offers a large quantity of real estate to whomsoever will bid the most for it. It will all bear investigation. It is just such unnoticed opportunities as this sale affords that often prove very profitable. The Nesmith street line of electric cars take you within from 3 to 8 minutes' walk of the several premises. You can see a plan of the premises at the office of the auctioneers where all inquiries must be made.

The purchasers of each section of the Red Village must each deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $500 as soon as each section is struck off; the purchasers of each lot of land must each do the same with $250 as soon as each lot is struck off; and the purchaser of the Dickey homestead lot must do the same with $350, other terms at sale.

JAMES SCOTT,
DANIEL M. RICHARDSON,
PRESCOTT KEYES,
Assignees in Insolvency.

The sale will take place rain or shine.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

TRUSTEES' SALE.

As trustees under the will of the late Sheriff Henry G. Cushing we have had issued to us a license by the probate court of the county of Middlesex to sell at public auction the herewith described real estate on Friday afternoon, the 18th day of May, 1900, regardless of weather, and without limit or reserve, to the highest bidders we shall in pursuance of the aforesaid license sell at absolute auction:

AT 3 O'CLOCK.

26 acres of land extending from Varnum avenue to the Merrimack river, less that which was taken for the state highway. The property is known as the Cushing Farm, all this land on the west belonging to the Phineas Whiting estate, and on the east land of Messrs. Howe, Caddell and Pinkham; or about 1-2 mile up Varnum avenue, beyond the point where the Boulevard comes out on same. It is little more than 1-3 of a mile up the state highway, beyond the end of the Boulevard.

On the land is a new and modern three-story stable; batters up for residence, granite for foundation of same, and excavation for cellar already begun. The land about the site for residence has been laid out by Tarbell, the landscape gardener, is down to a extensive lawn and surrounded by an extensive grove of attractive and thrifty trees from 20 to 30 years growth. Between Varnum avenue and the buildings the land is covered with a growth of pine, some of which is very heavy, has been partially trimmed and cleared up and was destined to make a beautiful wooded park. The land between the buildings and the state high way is cleared, is under a high state of cultivation, has an abundance of fruit trees, etc. Leading from the stable is a fine driveway with granite bank wall. The land as a whole is the most elevated in the immediate vicinity south of Varnum avenue, has long frontages on Varnum avenue, the state highway and the river, and the view from the premises is superb. Had the late Sheriff Cushing lived and carried to completion the improvement he designed for the premises he would have had one of the most delightful city-country residences in or about Lowell.

AT 5 O'CLOCK.

36,293 square feet of land on Hale street between numbers 26 and 40 or close to the corner of Hale and Thorndike streets. The land has a frontage of 100 feet on Hale street and extends back to Hale's brook, where the frontage is the same; it lies well for many improvements in a business way or for renting property; it is practically even width; adjoins land of the B. & M. R. R. There have been many tempting offers for it but until now it was not for sale; it can be purchased in one or two lots; it is very accessible, perfectly adapted to a coal business, and equally good for manufacturing industry or wholesale concern.

The purchaser of the "Cushing Farm" must deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $500 as soon as the property is struck off; the purchaser of the Hale street land must do the same with $300; other terms at sale.

You must make all inquiries relating to property or sale at the office of the auctioneers.

JOHN R. FAIRBAIRN,
WM. H. ANDERSON,
Trustees under the will of Henry G. Cushing.

THE FORESTERS

Preparing for the Annual State Convention

TO BE HELD IN THIS CITY

Opening Session Will be Held Tuesday

The annual state convention of the Foresters of America will be held in this city beginning on Tuesday next and judging from the demand already made for hotel accommodations the city will be crowded with strangers.

The visitors are expected here on Monday night.

The convention is scheduled to open at 9 o'clock but it is probable that it will be an hour later before all the delegates come together in Foresters' hall where the business of the convention will be transacted.

William A. Hogan, Esq., chairman of the convention committee will open the proceedings by introducing Mayor Crowley who will extend the freedom of the city to the delegates in a speech of welcome. His Honor's remarks will be responded to by Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger B. H. Flaherty of Fitchburg.

The business session will then be opened by Grand Chief Ranger Daniel F. Fitzgerald of Worcester. He will read his report, after which will be read the reports of the committees on credentials, order of business, laws, state or orders, mileage and preclims, goods and effects, acts and decisions, appeals and grievances, officers, finance and resolutions. The report of the auditors, P. B. Banayne of Worcester, John E. Maguire of Lowell and Patrick Delaney of Fall River will be read, also the reports of the grand treasurer, William H. Barlington of Lowell, the grand secretary, James J. Gallagher, also of Lowell, the grand recording secretary, J. S. Anderson of Fall River, and the report of the trustees. That will complete the business of the first day's session.

For Tuesday evening a grand ball has been arranged for new Huntington hall and it promises to be an elaborate affair. William A. Hogan, Esq., will be general manager and William E. Dwyer, floor director. Hibbard's orchestra will furnish music during the evening and among the features will be a grand march which promises to rival anything of its kind ever held in this city. The convention will close Wednesday and a banquet will be enjoyed that evening.

Found It Out

Many a Lowell Citizen is Finding it Out.

Had the backache a good many years.
And a little worse every year.
Finally could not work at all.
My back took up all my time.
(May sound strange, but it will do it.)
Found out it was kidney trouble talking.
Always talks through the back.
Found out that Doan's Kidney Pills was the remedy.
They always talk through their cures.
They tell Lowell people through Lowell people.
A backache always means kidney trouble.
The beginning is always backache.
The ending may be Bright's disease.
Read the following case of a Lowell citizen who found the remedy in time:

Mr. L. C. Hill of 246 Aiken avenue, says: "I suffered quite a little from pains in my back, aggravated, doubtless, by my work, that of delivery clerk for Mr. H. W. Lock, grocer. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store. Its use soon ended the pains, and I have had no return of them since. Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be of great value in my case."

Doan's Kidney Pills, 50 cents per box. For sale by all dealers. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

GIVEN RECEPTION

Molly Varnum Chapter, Daughters of Am. Revolution

AT HOME OF MRS. SOLON W. STEVENS

Out of Town Guests Also Received

Members of Molly Varnum Chapter, D. A. R., were delightfully entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Solon W. Stevens in Tyler Park. The reception was given by Mrs. Stevens in honor of her guests, Mrs. Grace LeBaron Upham of Boston, an honorary member of Molly Varnum chapter, and Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, also of Boston. The officers of the chapter assisted in receiving, and the following ladies poured: Mrs. Thomas Nesmith, Mrs. E. M. Burke, Mrs. O. B. Ranlett, Mrs. Franklin Nourse. The young ladies who assisted in the dining room were the Misses Merrill, Miss Lancaster Miss Earle, Miss Lambert, and Miss Farrington. Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Day and Miss Mae Stevens served frappe.

The decoration of the dining room was a beautiful bit of brightness and artistic arrangement. In the centre of the table was a large dish of red and white carnations, heaped in mound-shape, giving the keynote of color. The candelabra were red, and on one side of the table, draped in the centre, was a silken flag, the blue field rising in pyramid shape above the table and giving just the right suggestion of patriotism, in the midst of the red and white table decorations. The effect was beautiful.

Among the invited guests were the officers of Old Middlesex Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution.

After greetings had been exchanged and all had partaken of refreshments, Mrs. Upham was introduced by the host, Mr. Solon W. Stevens, and made a brief address. Mrs. Upham was a Lowell girl, and she does her native city the honor to be proud of her birthplace. "I was born," she said, "in a little old-fashioned cottage in Wamesit street, and was christened in the old Unitarian church, while held in the arms of good old Dr. Miles. I did not stay long enough here to have any school companions, but I still consider myself a Lowell girl, because there is no home like that first home, our birthplace."

Mrs. Upham made reference, in her remarks, to her mother, who was at one time known as Lowell's poet, Mrs. Jane Ermina Locke. She had with her some clippings from the Vox Populi, printed in 1841. There were several poems written by Mrs. Locke for special occasions, and reference was made to a presentation of colors, on the Fourth of July, when Mrs. Locke made the presentation speech, to which Capt. J. M. Varnum responded. Mrs. Upham gracefully disclaimed the credit of the honor done to herself by the chapter, saying that she was honored because of the memory of her gifted and patriotic mother.

Mrs. Titus also addressed the guests briefly, referring to the work which has been taken up by patriotic women, of rebuilding the old frigate "Constitution." She said that the society has received great encouragement in the work. The public call for subscriptions has not yet been issued, but already over $10,000 has been pledged. Mrs. Titus also invited the members of the chapter to visit the old John Adams house in Quincy, which is in possession of the Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution.

Mrs. Upham, by special request, recity an original poem, entitled "Roses, Lilies and Forget-me-Nots." The poem was written on the subject of the Spanish war, and the names of the flowers are indicative of the national colors. One of the ladies present had a brother in the Spanish war, who has recently died. The poem was such a favorite with him that he recited it just before his death, and his sister, remembering that Mrs. Upham was the author, made the request that she should recite it. This touching little incident closed the very pleasant program.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Lowell Co-operative bank, held last night in the board of trade rooms, was a lengthy one, owing to a consideration, by sections, of the amended by-laws. The most important change was in an amendment giving the bank the right to loan money at five instead of six per cent. A large amount of money has been accumulating and the directors have found it a difficult matter to compete with other banks on the rate.

KILLED HIMSELF

Love Undid an 18-Year-Old Boy

Committed Deed Without Any Warning

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON May 12.—With hope gone from his life and a dreary future stretching before his mental vision, Frank Foush, an 18-year-old boy, living at 17 Mansur street, Roxbury, put a pistol to his head and ended his life at his sweetheart's door in Chelsea last evening.

But little is known by the Chelsea police relative to the boy. At 9.30 last evening a telephone message was received by the police to the effect that a lad had shot himself on Carroll street and requesting that they come and make arrangements to care for the body. Two officers were sent to the scene and found the remains of young Foush lying outside the gate at No. 14. He was dead and the mark of a pistol bullet was to be seen in his left temple.

The story told the police was to the effect that during the early evening the young man had been walking with Miss Nellie Dunkirk of 11 Carroll street and Miss Julia Minnahan of 37 Carroll street. They had not noticed anything peculiar about the young fellow or his actions, and on returning to Miss Dunkirk's gate about 9.30, Miss Minnahan went to her home, leaving the other two talking at the gate. Miss Jennie Dunkirk, a sister of Nellie, and John Tatten came along at this time and all four stood talking at the gate.

Young Foush said he would have to leave them, and suddenly, without another word, so far as the police knew, he drew a pistol from his hip pocket and fired a shot into the fence and a second into his own forehead. He dropped dead where he had been standing.

The other young people were horrified at the act but Mr. Tatten stooped over the lad to see if he could render him any aid. He spoke to him but obtained no response, as the unfortunate young man had died instantly. This was certified to by a physician, who later viewed the remains.

The police took the body to the warerooms of an undertaker on Broadway, where it will be viewed by the medical examiner this morning, and will then be turned over to the relatives of the deceased.

The Dunkirk family declined to talk about the matter last evening, but from a friend of the young woman it was learned that Foush had been keeping company with her for some time. Recently she told him they were both too young to be going about together, and practically declined to receive his attentions any longer.

The girl in question is employed in Chelsea, and last evening when she left her work the young man was waiting for her near her place of business. He accompanied her home to her residence, but declined an invitation to supper on the ground that he was not hungry. He left her and later in the evening called for her to go walking.

Miss Dunkirk took with her for the walk her friend, Miss Minnahan, and they strolled about the pleasanter streets of the city till 9.30, when they arrived at her home, and Miss Minnahan left them standing at the gate.

Just what was said between the two young people before Nellie's sister and her escort came along is not known, but it is supposed it was regarding the words of the girl given to Foush previously.

The conversation after the arrival of the other two young people was general, and the desperate act of the young man was the first intimation the others had of anything unusual.

The scene of the shooting is very near the stables of the Boston elevated railway on Broadway, and it was from there that the call to the police for assistance came. The two pistol reports coming so close together attracted considerable attention, and a large crowd soon gathered and the affair created a good deal of excitement. The pistol used by young Foush was a very cheap weapon of 32 calibre.

FRIGHTENED WOMAN

CREATED A SENSATION IN BROADWAY LAST EVENING.

A large crowd was attracted on Broadway about 8 o'clock last evening by a woman running excitedly up that thoroughfare. Many followed after her and when she ran toward one of the canals they became certain that she was going to jump in, and held her until an officer arrived. She was sent to the police station, where she told Captain Kew that she had no intention of jumping into the canal, but had run from her house near Willie street, to escape from her husband with whom she had serious trouble. She was released after receiving some sound advice from Captain Kew.

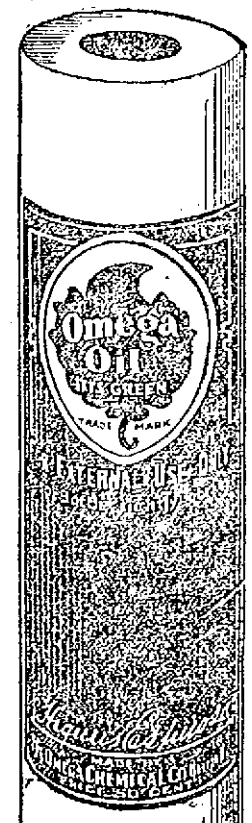
Omega Oil



What It Looks Like
